

Complete, accurate coverage of stock exchange activities is given Post readers by Associated Press and special writers.

The Washington Post

Fair and warmer.

NO. 21,126

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER, POSTOFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

WASHINGTON: THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1934

COPYRIGHT, 1934, BY THE WASHINGTON POST PUBLISHING CO.

THREE CENTS

European War Peril Revealed By British Note

Major Powers' Threats of Preparations for Strife Told.

Disarmament Hope Doomed by French

Problem of Halting Race for Military Control Is Put Up to Geneva.

(Copyright, 1934, by the United Press.) London, April 18.—The British government tonight issued a "white paper" revealing the inside history of futile disarmament efforts and giving sensational disclosures on the rising danger of war.

The document revealed increasingly impatient threats by the major European powers to proceed with huge armament projects as protection against attack and the only certain assurance for peace.

The "white paper" followed publication in Paris of the latest French arms note to Great Britain, regarded here as ending hopes of an armament treaty, controlling arms of all nations and looking toward eventual arms limitation if not disarmament.

French Ultimatum. A foreign office spokesman in Paris said that the French regarded the gravity of their act, but added: "Henceforward, France will not disarm a single gun as long as Germany continues to rearm. The government consulted the parliamentary commissions and is convinced that our entire country stands behind that note."

A spokesman at the Quai d'Orsay said that France had the support of the Little Entente—Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia—in the settlements expressed in the note to the British.

The "white paper" included a record of the disarmament efforts of recent weeks, starting with the recent continental tour of Anthony Eden, long privy seal, and one of Britain's leading disarmament experts, leading disarmament experts, made at the end of February and early March.

Put Up to Geneva. Publication of this document was regarded as shifting the arms efforts back to Geneva.

The twirling swordsmen of an arms treaty, coupled with Germany's alleged rapid rearmament plans, have plunged Europe into a period of extreme political stress, observers agreed. Germany's budget provides for a big

Continued on Page 6, Column 1.

'Jafsie' Asked To View Photo

Lindbergh Kidnap Case May Be Held in Boston; Marshal Silent.

Boston, April 18 (AP).—Relentless search by the Federal Government for the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby brought forth today the request of U. S. Marshal John J. Murphy that Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, intermediary in the case, come here to view a photograph of a suspect believed to have received the $50,000 ransom money.

Murphy would divulge no information beyond the fact that he had asked the U. S. marshal at New York to communicate his wish to Dr. Condon. The latter frequently has said he would never give up the search for "John," who took the money from him in a New York cemetery on promise to return the child.

Department of Justice agents were active with Murphy in his investigation of the latest "Jafsie" Murphy's office said the agents were engaged in checking the activities of a gang which reportedly was involved in Washington, Philadelphia and New York holdups.

John Carroll, sought for a Washington bank holdup a year ago, now is held at the East Cambridge Jail in $20,000 bail. The Federal officials did not know whether Dr. Condon would try to identify Carroll.

Texas Plane Crash Kills Two Couples

4 Burned to Death After Gay Night Flight.

Lewisville, Tex., April 18 (AP). Death in the wreckage of a plane ended a gay night flight by a veteran pilot, his young fiancée and another couple.

The charred bodies were recovered near here early today from the debris of the ship, which crashed in a muddy field, exploded and caught fire. The cause of the crash has not been determined.

The dead, all residents of Dallas, were Harry Fowler, 36, employed by an oil company as private pilot; Miss Lillian Rose, 17, fiancée of Fowler; Jack Pool, 40, owner of a printing business, and Mrs. Jewell Morgan, beauty parlor operator.

Nazis Fling A Challenge At Invaders

"Will Fight to Last Man," Storm Troop Chief Declares.

Berlin, April 18 (AP).—A defiant declaration that Nazi Germany stands ready to defend herself to the last man against foreign invasion was made by Ernst Roehm, head of the Nazi military units, in an address tonight.

Roehm, speaking at a reception of diplomats and foreign correspondents at the propaganda ministry, declared that any attack from the other side of the frontier would find not only the army, but the whole German people ready to fight for the fatherland.

"In this sense alone," he said, "the very existence of the Nazi storm troops will make any further illegal attacks on the new Germany such a risk that any aggressor will seriously consider whether such an attack and its possible gains are worth the risk. The German people are resolute in their will to defend themselves."

Roehm denied that the storm

Continued on Page 6, Column 1.

Chinese Fear "Protectorate" Of Japanese

Officials, Press Silent, but Citizens Express Shock at Tokyo's Edict.

Shanghai, April 18 (AP).—A Japanese protectorate over China was a vision looming before many Chinese citizens today as a result of the Japanese foreign office statement that Tokyo considers herself solely responsible for maintenance of peace in Eastern Asia.

Although many private citizens were shocked by the Japanese declaration, which objected to measures of other powers likely to disturb peace in this area, officials of the National government at Nanking and elsewhere declined to comment.

Vernacular newspapers, under government censorship on the subject made no reference to it.

Almed at U. S. Belief. Tokyo's statement that Japan objects to other nations supplying China with military airplanes and instructors was accepted here as aimed at American aircraft manufacturers, who are selling many planes to the national government.

This portion of the statement also was considered to hit American aeronautical instructors of the National government's aviation school at Hangchow, who are conducting the government's efforts to provide itself with a corps of trained flyers.

Hangchow instructors are under the leadership of John H. Jouett, of San Francisco, formerly a colonel in the United States Army Air Service. The group numbers 20, including pilots, mechanics and doctors.

Japan has long admitted that she objected to the stream of American planes and instructors pouring into China.

Feeling among the Chinese now is

Continued on Page 6, Column 2.

Statehood Resolution Passed in Puerto Rico

San Juan, Puerto Rico, April 18 (AP).—The Puerto Rican Legislature today passed a resolution urging Statehood for the island.

The House passed the measure without a discussion.

San Juan, Puerto Rico, April 18 (AP).—Rebellion against the dictatorship of Wilbur

Voliva, who has ruled with an iron hand since his seizure of power in 1927, broke from smoldering embers today with an intensity seldom equaled in the religious community's stormy history.

The act of open revolt was the reopening of the public schools, despite Voliva's closing edict, following defeat of his candidates for the school board.

But Onias W. Farley, who was elected president of the board last week over Voliva's candidate, declared that was only the beginning of the end for Voliva's famous over-

Legal Boxing In District Up To President

Norton-King Battle for Sport Won; Congress Approves Measure.

Commission Provided of Three Members to Serve Two Years.

Amateur and professional boxing is made legal in the District under a bill sent to the President for signature by the House and Senate yesterday.

Approval of the conference report on the bill was given by the House at the request of Representative Mary T. Norton (Democrat), of New Jersey, chairman of the House District Committee, and Senate approval of the measure was accorded a short time later when Senator William H. King (Democrat), of Utah, chairman of the Senate District Committee, had the Senate also concur.

The bill creates a special boxing commission of three members for the District. The boxing commissioners are to be appointed for two-year terms by the District Commissioners and are to serve without pay. One of the three boxing commissioners must be a member of the District Police Department. Commissioners must have been legal residents of the District for at least three years immediately preceding appointment. Office space, clerical and other assistance are to be furnished the boxing body by the District Commissioners.

Purposes Outlined. Subject to approval of the Commissioners the boxing board shall have power: (1) to cooperate with organizations engaged in the promotion and control of amateur boxing; (2) to supervise and regulate boxing within the District of Columbia; and (3) to make such orders, rules and regulations as the commission deems necessary for carrying out the powers herein conferred upon it.

Both boxers and promoters will be required to take out licenses and permits from the commission. Each permit for an exhibition will be limited to a single day, except in the case of an inter-school or similar tournament, when a permit may be issued for the meet.

No round shall exceed three minutes and there shall be an interval of one minute between each round. Eight ounces will be the minimum weight of gloves.

Other Provisions. To defray necessary expenses, the commission will be allowed to fix license and permit fees. The bill also provides that "(g) any person who (1) holds any boxing exhibition in the District of Columbia without a permit valid and effective at the time, or (2) engages in any boxing exhibition in the District of Columbia without a license valid and effective at the time, shall be fined not more than $100."

Continued on Page 17, Column 4.

6 Prisoners Saw Bars And Escape From Jail

Statesville, N. C., April 18 (AP). Six prisoners escaped from the Federal County Jail today after sawing cell bars and the grating protecting an outside window with hacksaws.

Three were white and three were Negroes. All were held awaiting trial at the next term of court.

Girl Who Broke Neck March 18 Ends Coma

Coldwater, Mich., April 18 (AP). Rosalie Swagler, 17-year-old Peru (Ind.) girl, regained consciousness today for the first time since she suffered a neck fracture in an automobile accident March 18.

Physicians believe she will recover.

Heimwehr Chief Sees Duo.

Rome, April 18 (AP).—Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, commander of the Heimwehr of Austria, came to Italy today to study fascist methods. He was received by Premier Benito Mussolini.

Revolts Flare Against Voliva, Dictator of Zion; Schools Open

Zion, Ill., April 18 (AP).—Rebellion against the dictatorship of Wilbur

Voliva, who has ruled with an iron hand since his seizure of power in 1927, broke from smoldering embers today with an intensity seldom equaled in the religious community's stormy history.

The act of open revolt was the reopening of the public schools, despite Voliva's closing edict, following defeat of his candidates for the school board.

But Onias W. Farley, who was elected president of the board last week over Voliva's candidate, declared that was only the beginning of the end for Voliva's famous over-

"Voliva is through, though he won't admit it," said Farley, a mild appearing, bespectacled man of 68 years.

The people of Zion are fed up with his dominance and insolence. He's losing his hold. He's been too rough and he has been steadily getting worse. His own followers are turning against him. It won't be long before he loses those he has Farley was still burning from a scorching letter he received Saturday dismissing him from the church and from his position as a deacon. Voliva asserted Farley's given name should be changed from Onias to Ananias and termed his supporters "the beer guzzlers and cigarette fiends" of the community. Smoking in Zion is punishable by fine or jail sentence.

Though the public schools opened today they cared for only 300 pupils. The parochial schools, which taught 1,050 pupils, were closed by Voliva as a rebuke for the "lack of appreciation" of his townsmen. The parochial pupils, he said, must be cared for in the public schools.

Election Races Split D. A. R. Into 11 Camps

Dr. Thomas E. Healy, assistant dean of the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University, who addressed the D. A. R. session yesterday on National defense, and Mrs. William A. Becker, chairman of the National defense committee, who delivered her report.

By Elizabeth E. Poe. The forty-third Continental Congress of the D. A. R., which acted as a unit when important committee reports were heard earlier yesterday, divided into several camps last night when 11 women were nominated for 7 vacant posts as vice president general.

Further splitting into political bands came when Mrs. William A. Becker, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Flora Myers Gillette, of Tennessee, gave out their platforms as candidates to succeed Mrs. Russell

William Magna as president general in 1935.

More combinations of political factions and subfactions were created when five women were placed in nomination for the one open place as honorary vice president general of the society at the Constitution Hall session.

Politics and the trading and alignment of votes will take the full stage today when nominees for both the honorary and active vice

Continued on Page 6, Column 2.

House Plans For Revision Of Mail Bill

Roosevelt's Request to Limit Contracts to Be Incorporated.

By Felix Bruner. The House Postoffice Committee yesterday decided against attempting any permanent air-mail legislation and began the task of rewriting its bill to conform with President Roosevelt's requests.

The new bill would authorize one-year mail contracts, establish a commission to make recommendations for a permanent policy, and fix a new basis for pay.

Other air-mail developments included: Filing of a suit in the District Supreme Court by four operating subsidiaries of United Aircraft & Transportation Corporation asking that Postmaster General Farley be restrained from enforcing the contract cancellation order issued yesterday when the Budget Committee, which is

Continued on Page 6, Column 2.

Budget Bureau Aids Slum Bill

Douglas Drops Objection to Using $500,000 of Housing Funds.

The main obstacle blocking the enactment of the Capper-Norton bill to clean out District slums was overcome yesterday when the Budget Bureau approved use of $500,000 of Federal Emergency Housing Corporation funds to start the program.

As originally drafted, the bill provided that $500,000 will be transferred from the old United States Housing Corporation. It was passed by the House and Senate, but struck a snag when the Budget Bureau objected to the diversion.

The amendment endorsed yesterday by Budget Director Lewis Douglas empowers the President to transfer the $500,000 to whatever agency may be set up to administer the program. It was previously approved by Secretary Ickes.

The bill reverts to the House District Committee, which is expected to endorse the changes. The substitute plan was drafted by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Thomas S. Settle, commission secretary, said the $500,000 will be used as a revolving fund for razing dilapidated alley dwellings and reconstructing blighted areas.

Edgar B. McDonald Dies. St. Louis, April 18 (AP).—Edgar Baird McDonald, retired vice president of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., died on a suburban golf course here today. Death was attributed to a paralytic stroke.

Alabama Mob Rushes Mine After Killing

Troops Await Strikers; 3 Shot in Non-Union, Union Clashes.

3 Shot in Outbreaks; Sheriff Asks Aid to Save Water Lines.

Birmingham, Ala., April 18 (AP).—Steel-helmeted National Guardsmen tonight kept watch at Porter, where they were rushed late today when reports were received here that a mob was marching on the mine, a trouble center for the past ten days.

The threat to Porter mine, operated by the Adams, Rowe & Norman Corporation, diverted attention from the Red Diamond Co.'s mine near Leeds, where earlier today a picket was killed, one miner seriously wounded and another peppered with birdshot from ambush.

It was the second time within two months that National Guardsmen have mounted guard over the Porter mine, and only this morning Sheriff James F. Hawkins and his picked, capitolized several hundred striking miners there to disperse.

Court Blocks NRA. The mine has been in partial production until today, since Federal Judge C. B. Kennamer granted a temporary stay against enforcement of the NRA amendment to the bituminous coal code, raising wages from $3.40 to $4.60 per day. The injunction expires tomorrow, but an extension until Monday has been asked.

Carson Adams, member of the firm operating the Porter mine, said today when the group dispersed they shouted "we'll be back with 12,000 men tomorrow and enough artillery to keep this mine from running."

Two groups, union and nonunion, exchanged 25 or 30 shots near the Porter shaft this morning, but none was injured. A total of 31,000 miners are idle in the State.

A approximately 150 other troops of the National Guard were under arms all the morning here tonight, waiting for an emergency that would send them into the field to strengthen the force of 250 special deputy sheriffs now seeking to maintain order.

Fear Plot to Cut Off Water. The troops were mobilized at the request of Sheriff Hawkins, who was informed of a sabotage plot against the water mains of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co., industrial system at Edgewater.

Disruption of the water system would result in a complete shutdown of the company's steel plants at Fairfield and Ensley with probable loss of life and extensive damage.

Continued on Page 3, Column 6.

Convicts Replace Mules On Farm, Paper Charges

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 18 (AP). The Pine Bluff Commercial says it has learned from reliable sources today that convicts are being used instead of mules to draw corn planters at Tucker Prison Farm.

Four men are "hitched" to each planter to pull it and one convict drives them as he would a team of mules. The reason, the paper explains, is the shortage of feed for live stock.

500 Cultists Battle Police; 16 Are Injured

Detroit, April 18 (AP).—Reverend over the closing of a colored people's "University of Islam" flared into violence today as 500 men and women, some of them with babies in their arms, battled police with knives, bricks and slugs outside the Central Police Station. Five policemen and 11 of their adversaries were injured.

The rioters, police said, were followers of a strange cult which teaches that colored people are descendants of a Moslem race anathematized by thousands of years of the white civilization. Thirty-five were arrested.

Yugoslavia Ministry Quits, Then Re-Forms

Belgrade, April 18 (AP).—Premier Nikola Uzunovic unexpectedly handed his cabinet's resignation to King Alexander I today, and then accepted an offer to form a new government.

Only a few changes were made, including the war ministry. Gen. Milan Milovanovic, former chief of services to Dillingham, but was ambushed by Federal operatives here, killed last week. In bulleting induced by his wounds he said his chief had been shot.

Although Minnesota law requires reporting all cases of gunshot wounds by attending physicians, no such report was made by Dr. May, authorities said.

Oklahoma to Sterilize Girl, 23, as First Case

Norman, Okla., April 18 (AP).—A 23-year-old woman inmate of the Central State Hospital for the Insane here today was ordered under the knife in the first move for enforcement of Oklahoma's sterilization law.

The operation will be performed within 30 days by the hospital surgeon. The girl then will be released. The young woman agreed to the operation with the consent of her parents, officials said.

Roosevelt Faces Leadership Test As House Balks

Freedom Cry Heard Again At Lexington

Delegation Coming Here to Protest Congress' "Interference."

Lexington, Mass., April 18 (AP).—On the eve of the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Lexington and its observance by the townfolk, a delegation of Lexington citizens left for Washington tonight to submit to Congress tomorrow a protest against "unreasonable interference by the Federal Government" in the affairs of a "free people."

As a part of the ceremonies on the Battle Green commemorating the anniversary tomorrow, the resolutions of protest will be read before the tomb of the Minute Men who were killed in the skirmish with the British redcoats on April 19, 1775.

The petition—or "declaration" as it appears in the form in which it was drawn for presentation to Congress—bore the signatures of more than 1,500 citizens of the town. It followed the general form used by Lexington citizens of colonial days in their protests to the provincial and State governing bodies, including:

Continued on Page 2, Column 6.

Cannon Takes Witness Stand In Trial Today

Miss Burroughs Is Also to Testify; Tinkham Letters an Issue.

By Frank Getty. Asserting that a "personal, malicious, political attack" was responsible for the four-year chain of investigations and litigation, interspersed with $500,000 libel suits, which has brought Bishop James Cannon, Jr., at last to trial on a conspiracy charge, defense counsel today will try to get into the record letters of Representative William Holden Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts.

The letters are those written by the vigorous "wet" exponent to former Attorney General Mitchell and former United States Attorney Rover, demanding that Cannon be tried for violation of the corrupt practices act.

In addition to the battle over their introduction, to which the Government will object strenuously, the trial will be climaxed this afternoon by the appearance on the witness stand of Bishop Cannon and his confidant, Miss Ada Burroughs.

Two Other Witnesses. "Both defendants will testify, after two more witnesses have been heard," Robert H. McNeill, chief of the defense counsel, announced. He indicated less interest in his client's testimony than in the success of his surprise stroke to introduce the Tinkham letters.

Subpoenas for letters and speeches made in 1930 by the fiery Massachusetts Representative against Cannon

Continued on Page 3, Column 1.

French Police Hunt Luxembourg Girl Spy

Paris, April 18 (AP).—Louise Duval, a native of Luxembourg, was sought by police today as the twenty-first member of an international espionage band. She disappeared from Paris a year ago.

Judge Andre Benoit issued a warrant for her arrest after talking to Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Swift, of East Orange, N. J., and others held in jail on spy charges.

Sunrise Ceremonial Opens Cherry Blossom Fete Today

An unclouded sun today will inaugurate Washington's first annual Cherry Blossom Festival.

Led by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the staff of the Japanese Embassy and the Queen of the Cherry Blossoms, Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, daughter of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, hundreds of distinguished Washingtonians and persons from all walks of life will assemble at the Tidal Basin for the sunrise ceremonial at 6 a. m.

The special rites to the blossoms, now at the height of their bloom, will be held just west of the Tidal Basin boathouse, between the two famous cherry trees planted in 1912 by Mrs. William Howard Taft when she was the Nation's First Lady.

The services, which will be featured by a special concert by the Marine Band and a program of dances, appropriate to sunrise in Japan and the world over, will be held beneath clear skies, the Weather Bureau predicted last night.

Fair weather and a moderate temperature was forecast for today, although a slight rain may fall tonight, and possibly tomorrow. Saturday, the final day of the fete, will be fair, with the temperature perhaps a few degrees below normal for the time of year.

Overriding the wishes of Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballo and other school officials, the Board of Education yesterday decided to close schools at 1 p. m. tomorrow for the Cherry Blossom Festival parade.

The board made the decision by a vote of 4 to 3 after hearing appeals "to let children and teachers see one of the finest educational displays ever given in Washington" from Mrs. Amos A. Fries and Sylvia King.

Continued on Page 3, Column 2.

President's Request for Amended Home Loan Bill Refused.

Bank Pay-off Act Put on Blacklist

Administration Requests Wagner Labor Plan Be Enacted.

By Robert C. Albright. Legislative leadership of President Roosevelt last night appeared to be heading for a test, with the White House quite confident of the outcome.

The developments in the haphazard Congressional legislative situation included the blacklisting by the Administration of the McLeod banking bill, providing for closed-bank deposits pay-off up to $25,000, and action by the House in adopting a conference report on the home loan guarantee bill, minus the Norris amendment specifically requested by Mr. Roosevelt.

The bill officially frowned on yesterday by Mr. Roosevelt was the McLeod measure now pending on the House calendar, providing closed-bank deposit pay-offs up to $25,000, and RFC advances on up to 85 per cent of remaining assets.

Added to his legislative agenda for this session was the Wagner bill for settlement of labor disputes now under cross-fire from business interests. While taking no stand on the bill as such, the President came out flatly in favor of a permanent arrangement for labor mediation, the principle embodied in the Wagner plan.

Conferences Set Today. At a conference today Mr. Roosevelt will attempt to arrive at a modus vivendi understanding with Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, Secretary of Labor Perkins and representatives of the NRA. Later he will tackle a situation even more delicate, when Senator King (Democrat), Utah, leads a delegation of seven Senate Democrats on the downtown citadel of silver legislation opposition.

As the President moved to relieve the unsettled legislative picture, stifling the chaff from what he regards as the wheat, Democratic leaders exerted every influence to carry out instructions and get Congress adjourned reasonably early with a minimum of Administration casualties.

Yesterday in defining the picture of the black-balled McLeod bank pay-off bill into two factions, the one advocating a modified measure introduced by Representative Prentiss M. Brown (Democrat), Michigan, the other supporting the original full-payment bill of Representative

Continued on Page 3, Column 1.

Divorced Wife, Employer Slain

St. Louis Man Wounds Self Probably Fatally; Note Tells Plan.

St. Louis, April 18 (AP).—George Brown today shot and killed his divorced wife, Mrs. Genevieve Brown, her employer, Christian Hasenpflug, Jr., and then probably fatally shot himself.

A note in the slayer's pocket declared his intention to kill Hasenpflug and to end his own life. The note also said he had read Hasenpflug for alleged alienation of Mrs. Brown's affections, and was dissatisfied with efforts of his attorneys to settle the suit.

Hasenpflug, 41 years old, was divorced recently. The Browns were divorced last February. They had a 3-year-old daughter.

CWA Supervisors Indicted in Graft

Pair Accused of Taking "Fees" to Save Jobs.

Alleged to have received money from six different CWA employees, Thomas E. Archer and J. George McAlwae, were indicted by the District grand jury yesterday on charges of conspiracy to commit petit larceny.

The men, both CWA supervisors, are charged with having taken $33 from six workers after McAlwae, now out of the city, addressed a group of workers and told them he could "fix" it so those who paid would not be laid off.

Detectives gave marked money to three men. This is said to have been paid to Archer, who implicated McAlwae after his arrest.

Grand Jury Indicted. New Orleans, April 18 (AP).—The Japanese motorship Rio de Janeiro Maru, which went aground on a sandbar Friday night at the mouth of the Mississippi River, was floated shortly before noon today, its New Orleans agents announced.

House Revolt Heralds Test Of Leadership

Roosevelt Demand for Home Loan Amendment Is Ignored.

Continued from Page 1.

Clarence J. McLeod, Michigan Republican.

At a conference of Michigan Democrats, Speaker Rainey and House Leader Byrns listened sympathetically to his arguments for the Brown bill, but gave no encouragement. At close of the conference, the delegation went ahead with plans to petition the amended McLeod bill to a forced House vote. The petition, requiring 145 signatures, will be circulated next week. Despite White House opposition, and divided support of the McLeod bill, it was apparent all factions favoring bank pay-off legislation will unite behind the first measure embodying the principle that is brought to a test.

The White House upset yesterday on the Home Loan guarantee bill was presaged last week, when the House refused to instruct conferees for the Norris amendment, prohibiting political appointments in the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

President Is Ignored.

Although the President flatly told the House Banking Committee and the press that he wanted the amendment adopted, the conferees threw it out, and the House yesterday ratified their action. Though no major legislative issue, the White House reversal was as clear cut and premeditated as any that has occurred this session.

This served as a barometer of what might happen if one of the many bills of the McLeod variety, popular with a broad cross-section of the people, and counted on to produce votes at election time, ever come to a vote.

By dint of constant missionary work, leaders have been able to keep other legislation of inflationary character, opposed by the White House, well in the background, though a showdown may yet be forced on the Frazier-Lemke bill, authorizing issuance of greenbacks against farm mortgages. Signatures on the Frazier-Lemke petition last night stood at 131, just 14 short of the number needed. Leaders persuaded 12 signers to withdraw their names, but two of the 12 put them back on.

A test on silver legislation is still imminent. Much will depend on the President's ability to convert Senator King and other members of the Senate silver bloc to his plan to work out silver monetization on the basis of international agreements proposed at the London economic conference, without further authorization from Congress.

Although Speaker Rainey appeared to have been won over, other members of the House silver bloc were restless yesterday, contemplating further pressure on the House Rules Committee to bring out the Frazier-Lemke bill, authorizing a broad program of silver purchasing.

Dies Bill Up to Senate.

The next move rests with the Senate, where the House Dies bill, broadly amended to provide for purchase with foreign silver of American agricultural products and nationalization of domestic silver stocks, awaits action on the calendar.

Bills the President has definitely thrown his influence behind were making satisfactory progress yesterday. A sub-committee favorably reported to the House Interstate Commerce Committee a redrafted bill for stock exchange control, with many of its "teeth" still intact. Full committees in both House and Senate today will begin consideration of different drafts of the bill.

Diogenes Hunt Ended, Who Wants Honest Man

Atlanta, Ga., April 18 (AP).—George Eckford, Fulton County representative in the State Legislature, today gave three reasons why he will not seek reelection this year.

"1. I do not believe I can be re-elected."

"2. I haven't the money to pay the entrance fee."

"3. The lack of profitable employment makes it imperative that I endeavor to find work."

Charged With 33 Murders.

Angora (U.P.).—A message from Teheran states that the police of that city have arrested a man claimed to be responsible for 33 murders.

Smooth, Bland...

... it BLENDS

There is no friendlier drink than GRAVES Superior Dry GIN. It blends with oranges, limes, vermouth, soda, ginger ale. Whatever you have on hand becomes "the making" when GRAVES GIN is on your shelf.

Wholesale Distributors: Austin, Nichols & Co., Inc. 600 E. St. N.W., Washington, D. C. Phone NA. 1981-2

Float Makers, Children Prepare for Fete

Beautiful floats for the Cherry Blossom Festival parades are being constructed in various parts of the city, and children are showing as much zeal as grownups in the preparations. The children (below) are making cherry blossoms for the procession. Left to right, Ruth Elizabeth Root, Frances Roberta Riddle, Miss Katherine Fisher, the teacher; Buddy Henderson and Jack Remson. They are at the Happy Hollow Playground.

Sunrise Rite Opens Cherry Fete Today

Continued from Page 1.

Thousands of automobiles bearing "foreign" license tags jammed the downtown districts of the city and the thoroughfares leading to the Basin and the blossoms. Out-of-town shoppers and sight-seers thronged the sidewalks, and police had their hands full handling traffic. The Traffic Bureau reported yesterday that all leaves had been canceled for the festival, and that every available man was being used in handling the carnival crush.

Pageantry will mark the coronation of Miss Roosevelt as Queen of the Blossoms at 2 p. m. today on the old Polo Grounds, between Constitution avenue and Fourteenth street.

Miss Roosevelt and her attendants, train bearers, and little Betsy Baker, 9, the crown bearer, will have a military escort, and music will be furnished by the Third Cavalry Mounted Band.

As soon as the Queen has ascended her throne the Horse Show, in charge of Col. C. L. Scott, will be in session.

Queen's Coronation.

Thousands of automobiles bearing "foreign" license tags jammed the downtown districts of the city and the thoroughfares leading to the Basin and the blossoms. Out-of-town shoppers and sight-seers thronged the sidewalks, and police had their hands full handling traffic. The Traffic Bureau reported yesterday that all leaves had been canceled for the festival, and that every available man was being used in handling the carnival crush.

Pageantry will mark the coronation of Miss Roosevelt as Queen of the Blossoms at 2 p. m. today on the old Polo Grounds, between Constitution avenue and Fourteenth street.

Miss Roosevelt and her attendants, train bearers, and little Betsy Baker, 9, the crown bearer, will have a military escort, and music will be furnished by the Third Cavalry Mounted Band.

As soon as the Queen has ascended her throne the Horse Show, in charge of Col. C. L. Scott, will be in session.

SPECIAL NOTICES

SPECIAL RETURN-LOAD RATES ON FULL and part loads, to all points within 1,000 miles, padded vans, guaranteed. Local moving also. Phone NA. 1460. NAT'L DEL. ASSN., INC., 1217 N. E. Ave.

IN THE MATTER OF THE CONSERVATION OF FRANKLIN NATIONAL BANK, Washington, D. C. To all whom it may concern: Notice is hereby given that by order of the Comptroller of the Currency the conservatorship of Franklin National Bank, located in Washington, District of Columbia, will be terminated on the 19TH DAY OF APRIL, 1934, at 12 O'CLOCK NOON and that on said day and at said time the assets and the control of the affairs of said bank will be returned to its board of directors for the purpose of carrying out the plan of reorganization of said bank including the transfer of certain of its assets to the City Bank of Washington, said City Bank of Washington thereupon to assume and pay on demand in full to the extent provided in said plan of reorganization the liabilities of Franklin National Bank outstanding after giving legal effect to certain waivers executed by depositors and creditors pursuant to the provisions of section 307 of the bank conservation act of March 9, 1933, said City Bank of Washington also to take over and hold segregated and pay on demand, as contemplated by sections 206 and 208 of said act of Congress all deposits made in said Franklin National Bank while in conservatorship. Notice is also given that after fifteen days after said 19th day of April, 1934, the provisions of section 306 of the act of Congress of March 9, 1933, with respect to the segregation and use of deposits received during the conservatorship of said bank will no longer be effective, and that after fifteen days after said 19th day of April, 1934, all deposits made in said Franklin National Bank while in conservatorship and there over as aforesaid by the City Bank of Washington which have not been withdrawn by depositors during said period of fifteen days, will thereafter be carried on the books of said City Bank of Washington in checking account subject to withdrawal by depositors on demand. THOMAS F. HICKMAN, Conservator.

PRIVATE SECRETARIES
Fast and efficient service in demand

Beginners' and Review Course in Direct and Indirect shorthand, new formulae; all secretarial subjects. Service speed dictation classes. Free placement in graduate, evening hours. Inquire: BOYD BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, 1514 17th Street, N.E., Wash. 2, D.C.

FLYING ANTS (Termites)
Cause $10,000.00 damage annually to woodwork in homes and buildings. BONDED TERMITE INSULATION. Free Inspection.

Tune in—Terminix Program every Thursday evening 10:30 WCAO—Baltimore—WABC—New York. TERMINIX CO. OF WASHINGTON 431 Bond Bldg. National 2954

President Sees Rail Operators On Wage Fight

Withholds Opinion Until He Hears Workers in Next Two Days.

Resuming his leadership in wage negotiations between the railroads and their employees, President Roosevelt yesterday conferred with a group of railway presidents and Joseph B. Eastman, Federal Coordinator of Transportation. He will meet with the labor executives today or tomorrow.

Until both sides have further opportunity to present their cases, it was indicated, the President is deferring any opinion. Attempts by Eastman to mediate the dispute during the President's vacation were unavailing. It was said, largely because an appeal was possible to a higher authority.

While there was an admission of the "possibility" that the controversy may result in the appointment of a fact-finding body by the President, under terms of the railroad labor act, Eastman said other steps for mediation remained. He said there is no question of a strike.

The "official position" of the labor executives is still for an increase of 10 per cent in the basic wage rate, or 20 per cent above existing pay, while the railroad managers have agreed to defer their notice of a 5 per cent cut below the present level in accordance with the recommendation of the President.

Declining to indicate whether either side had receded, the railroad presidents said they had reported "the general railroad situation is improving" in their conference with Mr. Roosevelt. Those attending were Carl Gray, Union Pacific; F. E. Williamson, New York Central; J. J. Peley, New York, New Haven & Hartford; L. W. Baldwin, Missouri-Pacific; C. E. Denny, Erie; W. R. Cole, Louisville & Nashville.

Meantime, modification of the Dill bill, amending the railway labor act to provide for compulsory boards of arbitration in labor disputes, was urged by railroad representatives in a hearing before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. Louis R. Gwyn, vice president of the Railway Express Agency, gave the opinion disputes should be settled "across the table in a man-to-man fashion," instead of by boards with a third party, ignorant of the problem.

Fisherman Pulls Body From River

Robert R. Knowles, Victim, Leaves Note to Wife.

The body of Robert R. Knowles, 37, of Maryland Park, Md., was recovered from the Anacostia River yesterday by a colored fisherman, near the old Benning race track. Gene Williams, of the 1000 block of Whittingham place northeast.

Early yesterday Mrs. Dorothy Knowles found a note from her husband, police said, stating: "You'll find my body back of the old race track."

The recovery was effected several hours later when Williams threw a line across the body and pulled it to shore before notifying police. Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said an inquest would be held Saturday.

Lexingtonians Cry Again for Freedom

Continued from Page 1.

ing a preamble, the protests and resolution.

The resolution with which it concluded said: "We are resolved that the individual's rights of private enterprise and its rewards must continue, free from unreasonable interference by the Federal Government and we demand their preservation at your hands."

Addressed to the members of Congress from Massachusetts, the petition said: "When a free people choose duly elected representatives they invest them with the responsibility for preserving their constitutional rights to own property and to exercise freedom of individual enterprise."

"When a free people feel that their rights are being trespassed upon and that the guidance of government is being unduly influenced by advisors not chosen by the people, it is a duty as well as a right of the people to express determined disapproval."

"Such disapproval must be voiced decisively when legislation is enacted giving into Federal control the right to regulate individual and National activity for ends which the people feel are open to grave question."

"Interference" Protested.

The "protests" followed in this form:

"We protest against Federal interference in business under the guise of promoting social reform and economic recovery."

"We protest against the indefinite extension of legislation originally designed solely for emergency purposes."

"We protest against the passage of legislation without more careful consideration by Congress."

"We protest against the increase of bureaus, boards and commissions and the delegation of arbitrary powers to such Governmental agencies."

"We protest extravagant and wasteful expenditure of public funds on unneeded and unproductive projects, thereby creating a constantly mounting National debt."

The committee which carried the resolutions to Washington was headed by Robert Holt, town moderator of Lexington. It will meet Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Representative from the district of which the town is a part, on arrival in the Capitol. Robert Trask, chairman of the Lexington Board of Selectmen, will read the resolution at the ceremonies here today.

Couple Lose Mothers.

Cartersville, Ga., April 18 (AP).—Death claimed the mothers of both Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Erwin within two hours yesterday. Mrs. Kittie P. Larey, 86, mother of Mrs. Erwin, died here after the death in Dalton of Dr. Erwin's mother, Mrs. H. C. Erwin, 80.

FLYING ANTS (TERMITES)

Do serious damage to woodwork in homes and buildings. Have treated many of the best homes and buildings in Washington, including the Pan-American Union. Free Inspection—Guaranteed Treatment. TERMITE CONTROL CO., 307 Nat'l Press Bldg. NA. 8711.

Warrington Motor Car Co.

Show Me Week
APRIL 14 to 21

We are holding "Open House" and are proud to welcome all Washington to "SHOW ME WEEK."

We have specially arranged to have a New Auburn ready for you to drive, any time of the day or evening this week.

Every demonstration made with the famous AMOCO GAS. We were one of the first dealers in Washington to handle Amoco Gas, and for seven years have made it Amoco all the way! WARRINGTON MOTOR CAR CO.

2035 Seventeenth St. N. W.

SQUIBB'S ASPIRIN

is genuine aspirin, swiftly effective . . . and you can be certain of its safety

SQUIBB'S Aspirin is quick in its effect. Before aspirin becomes thoroughly effective it must pass through the stomach and enter the intestine. Squibb's Aspirin disintegrates instantly after reaching the stomach. It is promptly effective. And it does not crumble, or leave particles in the mouth.

The control number on every container of Squibb's

Aspirin is proof of the utmost purity and safety which scientific tests can guarantee. Being a Squibb Product, Squibb's Aspirin is genuine. Ask for it by name. At all good drug stores. In bottles of 50 and 100 tablets, and handy metal containers holding 12 tablets.

LOOK FOR SQUIBB CONTROL NUMBER

Each new lot bears its own serial number—actual evidence of 62 safety tests, made during manufacture. Squibb control is your guarantee of the reliability, purity and safety of Squibb's Aspirin.

PURE DEPENDABLE SAFE

Hickey-Freeman CUSTOMIZED CLOTHES

ATTRACTIVE? . . . OF COURSE!

The new colours in suits we are offering serve a double purpose. Attractive? . . . Of course! And these livelier shades make the jackets ideal for wearing with flannels later. Customized by HICKEY-FREEMAN.

$55 and More

Goldheim's

Apparel for Gentlemen . . . Established 1875

1409 H Street N.W. National 1409

Buy Now! Prices Are Down

Fill your coal bin NOW. Prices of Marlow's Famous Reading Anthracite have been reduced to last Spring's low levels for a short time so that you can fill your bins and enjoy clean, dependable heat all next Winter at low cost. Don't delay, because we expect prices to go up May 1st and you save more by buying NOW. Call NA. 0311 TODAY.

75 Years of Good Coal Service

Marlow Coal Co.

811 E St. N.W. National 0311

MORE and MORE are going American One Class to Europe

—sailing from Baltimore

One crossing on a Baltimore Mail liner or a visit of inspection tells you why. And you'll wonder why you ever thought that a truly luxurious ocean crossing need be expensive. Here is every comfort, spotless cleanliness; more room, more freedom, the entire ship yours to enjoy. Broad decks, spacious lounges. Large state-rooms all outside on upper decks. 60% with private baths. Fine food, choice wines and liquors. Congenial companions. See for yourself. Inspect one of these liners in Baltimore.

Sailing from Baltimore:

Apr. 25. City of Newport
May 2. City of Norfolk
May 9. City of Havre
May 16. City of Hamburg
May 23. City of Baltimore

WEEKLY SAILINGS—Baltimore • Norfolk • Havre • Hamburg

BALTIMORE MAIL LINE

Rates as Low as $90 • $171 One Way Round Trip Slightly Higher in Season

See your travel agent or the International Mercantile Marine Company, 743 14th St., N.W., Ask for illustrated booklet.

Cannon Takes Witness Stand In Trial Today

Miss Burroughs Is Also to Testify; Tinkham Letters an Issue.

Continued from Page 1.

non were obtained yesterday. It was in June, 1930, that Tinkham, dared by the bishop to repeat his charges off the floor of the House, did so, publicly denouncing the churchman as "a shameless violator of the Federal corrupt practices act."

Cannon sued for $500,000, and the case is pending in this same court. The defense had its innings yesterday, producing the map who spent a large part of the so-called "Jameson money" in Virginia during the campaign against Al Smith in 1928. As the defense's case rests upon the bishop's contention that $48,000 of the contributions of E. C. Jameson went to an anti-Smith committee in that State, the testimony of Frank P. Dunford, employee of a meat packing firm, provided the high spot of the defense thus far.

Accounts for $32,650.

Dunford, a lifelong Republican, accounted for $32,650 of the $48,000 which the bishop must prove was expended through a State committee and need not have been reported to Congress, under the corrupt practices law.

As a climax to a day devoted to character witnesses for Miss Burroughs and old line Virginia Democrats who deserted their party to work against Smith in 1928, the accountant's testimony drew smiles of approval from Cannon. As for Miss Burroughs, she has worn a "poker face" since the trial started. "Now," said McNeill, as Dunford took the stand, "we will get the real truth and the inside facts."

Dunford told of a conference early in October, 1928, in which he arranged with Cannon and the late Dr. Sidney Peters to handle the funds for the anti-Smith campaign in Virginia.

Recounting various sums received from the bishop, mostly in cash, the witness said that from October 2 to December 12 he totaled $32,650. Of this total, he said, $5,000 went back to Cannon from time to time, and $7,000 was turned over to Dr. Peters.

Accounts for Balance.

Dunford accounted for the balance as having gone to district chairmen and for other campaign expenses. He insisted all the money was spent as though for a Virginia State committee.

Declaring he had felt under a "sense of honor" not to reveal the names of those to whom the money went, the witness said he did so now "because I got a subpoena." He told of the headquarters suite of the anti-Smith Democrats in Murphy's Hotel, Richmond, and insisted there were separate rooms for the State and general committees.

"Were there any signs on the doors?" he was asked.

"Now and then there were," Dunford said with a reminiscent grin. "But we couldn't keep them up."

The defense was not entirely successful in drawing from all its own witnesses definite assertion that there were two committees functioning in Virginia in the 1928 campaign. The Rev. John G. Scott, of Richmond, so testified at first, but later became confused. A deposition of George N. Conrad, whom the defense has sought to portray as chairman of the State committee, indicated Conrad himself knew of no such committee. His version of it was "a group of gentlemen."

J. Calvin Moss, a Lynchburg insurance man, however, identified himself positively as a member of the "State committee" and said he had attended one or more meetings. Several other witnesses testified there were two committees, and to receiving money for campaign work within the State.

All Ardent Dries.

All the witnesses were ardent dries, and obviously proud of having deserted the Democratic party to defeat its nominee in 1928.

Dr. S. C. Hatcher, secretary of Randolph-Macon College, declared he had been "born with a Democratic spoon in my mouth and taught that the Methodist religion and the Democratic party was the way to get to Heaven." He ventured the opinion, however, that Dr. Peters, another deserter, undoubtedly was "in Heaven" now. Dunford, the lone Republican, was asked by counsel:

"You don't mean to say you're still a Republican?"

"I am!" snapped the witness emphatically.

In an effort to show that Bishop Cannon had other resources than those described to the jury by the State, the defense called William W. Miller, well-known Washington attorney, yesterday. Miller testified to the bishop getting $4,211.60 in condemnation proceedings in May, 1929, for his share of property formerly occupying the site of the new U. S. Supreme Court house.

Girl Long Blind Sees Again After Doctors Lost Hope

New York, April 18 (AP).—Stricken blind when she had infantile paralysis at the age of 2, Gertrude Musier, 21, told today how she gradually recovered her sight after physicians gave her no hope for regaining her vision.

"Maybe it doesn't mean a thing," she said, "but it seemed to me that my sight improved very much after a fall I had in the gymnasium about two years ago. I fell off a ladder, about 15 feet."

Four years ago Miss Musier could see the actors in a theater only if she sat in the front row.

"I can sit anywhere in the theater now and see," she said.

She refuses to be fitted with glasses, saying it might tempt her to overwork her eyes, and that it is best to let them develop strength in their own way.

Melita II Sets Pace at Middleburg

Melita II, with Jack Skinner in the irons, pictured as he lead all the way yesterday to win the Glenwood Race, second-day feature of the Middleburg (Va.) Hunt Race Meeting. R. K. Mellon's Comea, which placed behind the Flying Horse Farm's colorbearer, has been caught in mid-air by the camera.

Glenwood Race Feature Won By Melita 2d

5,000 See Steeplechase, Enjoy Thrills of Middleburg.

Middleburg, Va., April 18 (Sp.). Melita 2d, strong-going bay gelding of Flying Horse Farms, and well-riden throughout the race by Jack Skinner, his trainer, of Middleburg, won the feature race, a 3-mile timber steeplechase, on the Glenwood race course, Sands estate, this afternoon. Melita, backed by his record winnings of the Virginia Gold Cup at Warrenton, in 1932, and a timber race at West Hills, also in '32, was a favorite in the betting.

Skinner's horse finished at the flag pole at least 30 lengths ahead of R. K. Mellon's Comea, ridden by J. Ryan. Comea seemed exhausted at the finish from his effort to keep up with the fast pace set by Melita. Behind Mellon's horse came Kasha, belonging to Miss Isabella Grandin, and ridden by J. McCormick.

The crowd on this, the second and closing day of the Middleburg races, was around 5,000. The weather was ideal in contrast to the chilly day Saturday when wintry winds and gray clouds made the place seem dreary. Spring sunshine today, the verdant course and the mounds of gay-colored jockeys, scattered near the natural rock grand stand, added to the keen enjoyment.

Repeats Victories.

The Wanquepin 1 1/4-mile turf race, was captured by Starwink, sturdy chestnut gelding belonging to Mrs. T. E. Proctor, of Boston, and ridden by Noel Laing. Starwink easily repeated his victories this season, the Sunnyside at Middleburg last Saturday and the Curles Neck at Richmond on April 7, when he took the lead at the start and never lost first place. He came in four lengths ahead of Mrs. Hunneman's Fluttermug, Aughrin Boy, with J. Ryan in the saddle, came in third.

The Panther Skin, a two-mile brush race, furnished one of the best thrills of the afternoon. Hard fought from barrier to finish, the contest lay between Noel Laing's Fairy Lore, a favorite and consistent winner, and Miss Dorothy Neyhart's Iolan, Fairy Lore, easily ridden by Laing and jumping well, kept ahead of the field and finished two lengths ahead of Iolan, although the latter's rider, S. Hirst, urged the mount on with a whip. Greatorex, of the Durwood Stables, ridden by J. V. H. Davis, another favorite, came in third. There were four scratches in this race.

Rider Thrown.

The Little River Race, a 2-mile brush race, was won by Henry W. Frost's Brash, ridden by Frost, who kept his mount well ahead of the bunch and easily won. Hagner's Swamp Fox out of the bunch and came in several lengths behind Frost's horse, with Frederick Alexander's Weezy, ridden by S. Hirst, third. There was one spill in this race, when Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Chick March fell at a jump near the end of the race, throwing his rider, J. McCormick, who was only slightly hurt.

The Groveton, another 3-mile timber race, was won by the favorite, Soldiers Fate, owned by Campbell Weir and well ridden by J. Ryan, in 4-5 of a second better time than the first 3-mile timber race. At the start of this race, Mrs. Somerville's Silver Pay took the lead, but soon lost it to Starlite, who kept in until the sixth jump. Then Soldiers Fate moved up from fourth place and took command of the race. Bill Street, on Mrs. Vadim Makaroff's Portrait, rapidly came up second, and from there on it was a real horse race between Port-

BECKERS EXPANSION SALE Reductions in every dept.
1314 F STREET N.W.

Mrs. John Hay Whitney shown adding a personal touch to yesterday's steeplechase at Middleburg, Va., by helping saddle her Coq Gris, entered in the Little River Purse, 2-mile event over brush.

trait and Soldier's Fate, both well handled.

Although Street used his crop he was unable to get his mount to overtake the pace set by Soldiers Fate, who finished three lengths ahead. Starlite finished third. R. Duffey, riding his Caporal 3rd, won the Covert, 1 1/4 miles brush race, last on the program. Northern Light 2d, owned by Allison Stern, and ridden by J. Ryan, came in second, with Inception of the Lone Star Syndicate taking third place.

Summaries.
The Wanquepin: for 3-year-olds and upward one and one-quarter miles over turf course—First, Starwink, Mrs. T. E. Proctor, ridden by Noel Laing; second, Fluttermug, Mrs. Hunneman, ridden by J. Ryan; third, Aughrin Boy, with J. Ryan in the saddle, came in third.

The Panther Skin: 2-mile brush race; for 4-year-olds and upward—First, Fairy Lore, ridden by Noel Laing; second, Iolan, Miss Dorothy Neyhart, ridden by J. V. H. Davis; third, Greatorex, Dorwood Stables, ridden by J. V. H. Davis. Lorenzo, Baselle, Hamptonian, Kings Navy and Lancer also ran. Time, 4:50 4-5.

The Groveton: 3-mile timber race; for 4-year-olds and upward—First, Melita II, ridden by Jack Skinner; second, Comea, R. K. Mellon, ridden by J. Ryan; third, Kasha, Miss Isabella Grandin, ridden by J. McCormick. Louisa Kennel also ran. Time, 6:44 4-5.

The Little River: 2-mile brush race; for 4-year-olds and upward—First, Brash, Henry W. Frost, ridden by Frost; second, Swamp Fox, Alexander B. Hagner, ridden by W. Street; third, Weezy, Frederick J. Alexander, ridden by S. Hirst. Coq Gris, Quick Marsh also ran. Time, 4:18 4-5.

The Groveton: 3-mile timber race; for 4-year-olds and upward—First, Campbell Weir, ridden by J. Ryan; second, Portrait, Mrs. Vadim Makaroff, ridden by W. Street; third, Starlite, Mrs. Frank Gouss, ridden by S. Hirst. Brown Ruler and Silver Pay also ran. Time, 6:44.

The Covert: 1 1/4-mile turf race—First, Corporal 3rd, owned by Allison Stern, ridden by J. Ryan; second, Northern Light, ridden by J. Ryan; third, Inception, Lone Star Syndicate, Last Tas also ran. Time, 2:36 2-5.

Flr Seedlings Planted.
Port Angeles, Wash. (AP).—The great Sol Duc burn in the Olympic Mountains, extending over thousands of acres, will be covered partially by 232,000 Douglas fir seedlings being planted by CCC workers.

War on Gambling.
Marshfield, Ore. (AP).—War has been declared by Coos County law officers in an effort to eradicate slot machines, vending machines, punch boards and other gambling devices subject to prosecution under Oregon law.

Junior salesmen WANTED!
Industrious young men, between the ages of 18 and 24, of good appearance and pleasing personality for introductory sales work opportunity, to become identified thoroughly established project sponsored by one of America's leading industrial organizations; permanent employment year around; income protected territories; splendid chance for ultimate advancement. Reply, giving complete information, including education and reference. Our own organization knows of this ad.

Address Box 89, The Washington Post.

COINTREAU
NOT for Amateurs
America's smartest cocktail mix
1/2 genuine COINTREAU, 1/4 E. Rémy Martin Brandy, 1/4 lemon juice, ice, shake, serve. "Side-Car" . . . what a drink!
Inlet on real Cointreau and Rémy Martin Brandy.
1314 F STREET N.W.

A.T.&T. Heads Mob Rushes Repulse Attack Alabama Mine After Killing

Demand of Stockholders for Scaling Down Is Overridden.

New York, April 18 (AP).—Directors of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. overrode a stockholder's demand for a statement of executive salaries today with the assertion that the Bell System should be maintained as "an institution of opportunity for the best brains and ability in the land."

A resolution drafted by the board in anticipation of stockholders' questions, added that were it possible to "get better men by paying more money it would be wise to do so."

The question of how much Walter S. Gifford, president, and other high executives of the $5,000,000,000 communications system are paid was raised by one of the 400 stockholders attending the annual meeting. In reply, Gifford ordered the resolution read.

The resolution, it was explained, was adopted by the board at a meeting preceding the stockholders' session, in response to letters of inquiry from about 40 stockholders. The company's stock is held by approximately 680,000 persons, Gifford said.

Gifford was engaged in the salary debate by Julian I. Pierce, of Washington, who later was identified as a member of the American Federation of Labor. A registered holder of 11 shares of stock, Pierce offered a resolution instructing the management to publish a list of all salaries and later moved that the President's salary be reduced to $75,000 and that all other officers be cut to not more than $22,500. Both motions were defeated.

Complaint on salaries was looked for at the meeting because of manifestations of dissatisfaction on the part of certain stockholders at recent annual meetings of other big industrial companies, and also in view of the disclosure of telephone company salaries in the lately published report of Dr. Walter M. Splawn, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, to the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

This showed that Gifford was paid $122,000 in 1933. Salaries of vice presidents and other high executive officers, as listed in the Splawn report, ranged from $74,250 down to $20,000, as of the end of 1932.

Extortion Plotter Trapped in Phone Booth by Woman

New York, April 18 (AP).—By keeping a would-be extortionist on the telephone line for ten minutes, Mrs. Barron G. Collier, Jr., obtained the man's arrest.

Mrs. Collier is the daughter-in-law of Barron G. Collier, advertising man and special deputy police commissioner.

Police traced the call to a telephone booth and arrested Frederick Potter, 19, exconvict. How Mrs. Collier negotiated with the telephone caller for a week, and finally led to his arrest, was revealed today. The youth had been asking her to "redeem some papers" for $300.

HANAN SHOES
America's Finest
SEVERAL generations of well-groomed men have found HANAN SHOES to be all that good shoes should be.
HANAN'S SHOES have the smartness, the indescribable "something" which characterizes the individuality of the master maker's handicraft.
$10.50
Some Styles $12.50
Charge Accounts Invited
RALEIGH HABERDASHER
1310 F Street

CAVALIER
DISTILLED DRY GIN
$1.10
Four-fifths quart
CAVALIER
NOT for Amateurs
America's smartest cocktail mix
1/2 genuine COINTREAU, 1/4 E. Rémy Martin Brandy, 1/4 lemon juice, ice, shake, serve. "Side-Car" . . . what a drink!
Inlet on real Cointreau and Rémy Martin Brandy.
1314 F STREET N.W.

Troops Await Strikers' Raid; Fear Attack on Water Supply.

Continued from Page 1.

struction of blast and open hearth furnaces. The troopers, 75 strong, were sent to Edgewater, but after dispersing a group of pickets were sent back to the army to remain under arms.

Brig. Gen. John C. Persons, commanding the Alabama National Guard, later at the request of Gov. O. M. Miller ordered two additional companies, one at Gadsden and the other at Jacksonville, to move here to await orders.

The clash in which a colored picket, Ed England, was killed occurred at the Red Diamond Coal Co. mine near Leeds, where striking Negro workers gathered to prevent others from entering the shaft.

Slain by Officers.

England was killed as he stood in the road drawing a gun on Deputy N. E. Kirkland and Chief of Police L. H. Mason, the latter said. Both officers fired, England having made threatening gestures, they said, when Kirkland had sought to disperse a group of pickets.

Officers could not explain the manner in which Gordy Bice, 20, a miner, was shot through the abdomen near the Red Diamond mine. They were unable to say whether bullets fired at England struck him, or he had been shot by some one else. Bice had only a fighting chance to live.

D. Clisby, colored miner, was wounded slightly by a load of bird-shot fired from ambush near the mine.

Suspect Admits Part In Student Robbery

Colorado Springs, Colo., April 18 (AP).—Chief of Police H. D. Harper announced today George Williams, colored, had confessed a part in beating and robbing two Colorado College students Sunday night, implicating William Drew, also colored.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

Williams and Drew are two of five colored men held in the State Prison at Canon City, where they were taken when threatening crowds gathered about the jail here after their arrest.

JULIUS GARFINCKEL & Co.

F STREET AT FOURTEENTH

Visitors to Washington Turn Quite Naturally to Garfinckel's

This famous store has always attracted those who appreciate the best and whose experience has taught them to seek out only the shops where shopping facilities and service are to be found in the fullest measure, and where the goods are perfect and in the smartest styles . . .

We should like to invite the many people of good taste who are now visiting Washington to share with our customers first sight of the extraordinary new goods we are now showing in special displays . . .

YOU WILL FIND CHARMING THINGS TO WEAR . . . BOTH FASHIONS AND ACCESSORIES . . . FOR WOMEN, MISSES, JUNIORS, CHILDREN AND INFANTS . . .

CHOICE CLOTHING FOR MEN, BOYS.

AND UNUSUAL ASSORTMENTS OF GIFTS GATHERED FROM THE WORLD'S BEST SOURCES.

FREEDOM of the press includes choice of a newspaper. Every morning hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers choose the Herald Tribune because its intelligence matches theirs. They prefer vivid, interesting presentation of the news to sensationalism, F. P. A. to key-holders, wit to slap-stick comedy. If the kind of people who choose the Herald Tribune are the kind who buy what you make, the Herald Tribune is the place for your advertising.

NEW YORK Herald Tribune

POST WANT ADS PAY

ACCEPTED

by the

A. M. A.

CHESTNUT FARMS-CHEVY CHASE

VITAMIN-D MILK

Containing 400 U. S. P. (150 Steenbock) units per quart

The seal of acceptance of the American Medical Association has been given to Chest

Virginia Free Shipping Zone Studied Today

State Port Authority Is Expected to Act on Proposal.

Norfolk, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—The Virginia State port authority, meeting here tomorrow, will consider a proposal from W. A. Cox, port director, favoring the establishment of a free shipping zone in Virginia. The body is expected to go on record as urging Congress to authorize such zones here and in other parts of the country.

This will be the first meeting at which J. Scott Parrish, of Richmond, new chairman of the body, will preside.

The New York maritime body is expected to favor the plan for a free port zone at Staten Island, but Cox says briefs have been filed in behalf of Hampton Roads by the State port authority not only with the House Ways and Means Committee but with the Senate Commerce Committee.

NRA Will Guide Virginia Purchases

Peery Declares Only Firms Obeying Act Can Bid.

Richmond, April 18 (AP).—Gov. George C. Peery today outlined a policy by which the State of Virginia will buy supplies only from firms operating under the National Recovery Act.

The division of purchases threw out one bid for the sale of sheet metal to be manufactured into automobile registration plates at the State penitentiary. The bid was supposed to be at a price constituting a code violation.

Ten other firms bid at the "code rate" and lots were drawn in making the award. The purchase involves $15,000.

Farm Agents Meet In Charlottesville

Two-Day Session Held to Map Program.

Charlottesville, April 18 (Sp.).—County home demonstration agents from northern Virginia and the valley opened a two-day meeting here today, discussing plans for the remainder of the year.

Miss Miriam Bidskey, nutrition specialist for the United States Department of Agriculture, spoke on scientific feeding of rural children. Other speakers were Miss Maude Wallace, of Blacksburg, Virginia home demonstration agent, and Miss Hallie Hughes, of Blacksburg, State girls' club agent.

New Radford Plant Will Employ 150

Hosiery Mills to Produce 1,000 Dozen Pair Daily.

Radford, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—The Roberts Hosiery Mills, Inc., with a capital of $25,000, is a new industry here. Officers: H. T. Roberts, president and treasurer; G. M. Roberts, vice president; William Ingles, secretary.

The company will install equipment this week.

The plant will employ 150 with daily capacity of 1,000 dozen pairs of hose.

Richmond Bidders On Museum Low

Richmond, April 18 (AP).—Doyle and Russell, of Richmond, were low bidders today on Virginia's new Museum of Fine Arts.

They offered to construct the brick-faced edifice for $219,486. Other bids ranged as high as $236,746. The bids were received on revised plans.

Drunken Driver Fined $200, License Revoked

Leesburg, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—T. M. Darnell, of Middleburg, was fined $200 and given six months in jail by Judge W. A. Metzger yesterday on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor, resisting arrest and operating an automobile without proper lights.

The court ordered the sentence suspended if Darnell pays the fine in ten days. He was arrested April 14. The judge ordered Darnell's license revoked for a year.

Franklin County Man Shot During Quarrel

Roanoke, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—George Hartman, of Franklin County, is in a local hospital with a bullet wound in the hip, said by officers to have been inflicted in an altercation with Euzell Graham, 20, near Hartman's home.

Graham surrendered to Roanoke authorities shortly afterward, and was released on his own recognizance. Officers quoted him as saying he fired to defend his father. No charge has been placed against him.

Aids Children's Home Drive.

Spotsylvania Courthouse, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Mrs. L. R. Colbert, of Fredericksburg, has accepted the post of chairman for Spotsylvania County in the annual State-wide campaign for funds for the Children's Home Society of Virginia.

It's Real Cash

Mortgage Bonds Holders to Get $6,000,000.

Baltimore, April 18 (Sp.).—More than 6,000 Marylanders, who own mortgage bonds secured by mortgages guaranteed by either the Maryland Casualty Co. or the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., will receive about $6,000,000 in cash next week.

Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has announced that the plan for refunding these mortgage bonds has been formally ratified by the RFC.

A sum equal to that to be paid out in the State is to be deposited in the First National Bank and the Maryland Trust Co. here as a loan from the RFC to the mortgage companies. Payments to bondholders will begin almost immediately, it is expected.

Virginia Towns Ballot June 12

Saltville, Chilhowie and Marion Name Mayor and Councilmen.

Marion, Va., April 18 (Sp.). Citizens of Marion, Saltville and Chilhowie will vote June 12 for mayor, councilman and recorder.

Mayor Wilson W. Scott of Marion is opposed by Robert Gray and Gordon A. Shavely. Mayor A. C. Beattie of Chilhowie is opposed by M. L. Vestel, but Mayor Henry Chapman of Saltville is unopposed.

Marion councilmen who have filed for reelection are Ralph Killinger, Kenneth Snider, J. R. Young, W. B. Todd, Walter E. Johnson, A. G. Groseclose and J. Willard Horne. Others are Leon D. Beville, R. G. Witt, Edwin Seaver, J. E. York, and T. H. Rider.

Chilhowie councilmen who have filed are S. A. Cole, W. H. Copenhaver, J. B. Rector, R. F. Rector, J. W. Heninger and Q. A. Eller. Saltville councilmen seeking reelection are Charles E. Wiley, J. L. Mullins, J. M. Archer, M. L. Buntis, P. A. Coverston and J. H. Scott.

Retail Merchants Elect Board at Waynesboro

Waynesboro, Va., April 18 (Sp.). Election of a board of directors and an address by W. T. Wade, chairman of the State Retail Merchants' legislative committee, featured the fourth annual banquet of the Waynesboro Retail Merchants' Association last night.

New directors: Guy W. Hamilton, W. D. Queensberry, H. N. Cloutier, Louis Spilman, E. L. Keiser, J. W. Mohler, C. M. Meadows, G. M. Ken-fawer, W. M. Lewis and R. V. Chew. The welcoming address was by Mayor W. H. Gardner.

Relief Work Rolls Increase In Maryland

22,696 on Jobs, 1,900 More Than Under CWA Regime.

Baltimore, April 18 (Sp.).—Nineteen hundred more persons are on Maryland relief jobs now than during the final week of the CWA, the State Emergency Relief Administration disclosed today.

The total was placed by relief workers at 22,696, while the total during the last week of the CWA, in March, was 20,794. Figures released by the relief officials showed that 18,749 men and women are at work on 383 approved projects and 3,947 on CWA tasks that were continued as local enterprises.

A tabulation shows the allocation as follows:

Baltimore, 10,253; Allegany, 1,045; Anne Arundel, 1,057; Baltimore County, 792; Calvert, 88; Caroline, 87; Cecil, 305; Charles, 119; Dorchester, 255; Frederick, 851; Garrett, 320; Howard, 121; Kent, 168; Montgomery, 606; Prince Georges, 399; Queen Anne, 186; St. Marys, 193; Somerset, 161; Talbot, 204; Washington, 734; Wicomico, 744; and Worcester, 194.

While more workers are employed now than during the CWA regime, they are not receiving as much pay, officials said. Numerous additional jobs, including 30 in Baltimore, are being planned for the spring.

Fredericksburg Plants Japanese Cherry Tree

Fredericksburg, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—The Women's Civic Committee for Park Improvement announced receipt of two memorial donations to the city park.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney S. Kaufman donated a flowering Japanese cherry tree as a memorial to Mr. Kaufman's mother. Two crepe myrtles in memory of their mother were donated by Misses Sue and Tallie Gordon.

Killer in Fish Row To Serve 30 Years

Norfolk, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Joe Bell was sentenced to 30 years in prison today by Judge James Goode because he killed James Smith in a quarrel over fish.

Bell caught a big bunch of fish last summer. He gave some to Smith and Mrs. Smith. Bell asked Smith to lend him some grease so he could cook his own fish. Mr. Smith refused to part with the grease and an argument followed. Smith ordered Bell out of his house. Bell pulled out a pistol and shot Smith through the head; it was testified.

Owner of Bootleg Liquor Fined $10

Two Pints in Pockets Draw Virginia Penalty.

Fredericksburg, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—The first local case involving illegal possession of liquor since Virginia became wet was heard before Police Justice Henry Dannehl, who fined W. C. Kuypers $10 and costs.

Kuypers, 67, who recently came here from West Virginia, arrested Sunday morning on a charge of intoxication, was found to have two pints of illegal liquor on his person.

Commonwealth's Attorney W. B. F. Cole moved a small fine in this case because "the public in general has not fully acquired the knowledge that possession of bootleg whiskey is illegal in the eyes of the law." Under the new Virginia law Kuypers was subject to a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and 12 months in jail, or both.

Stanley High Graduates To Hear Ashton Dovell

Luray, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Ashton Dovell, floor leader in the Virginia House of Delegates, will deliver the commencement address before the Stanley High School May 18. Commencement will be the first held in the Stanley High School Building, recently built at a cost of $40,000.

Speed on Danville School Loan Asked

Byrd's Aid on $332,000 Project Requested.

Danville, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Superintendent of Schools G. L. H. Johnson has written to Senator Harry Flood Byrd asking if there is any way of obtaining tentative approval to Danville's application for a loan of $332,000 to build city schools.

In his letter he referred to "unbearable congestion" in the present schools and stressed urgency of an early start on the school building program.

Two hundred Danville children will have to go to school in the county next session and the city will have to pay a per capita tax for them owing to congestion in city schools.

One school is accommodating 200 children more than it was built to hold and there are many classes of 35 children.

Albemarle County Seeks Relief Funds

Charlottesville, April 18 (Sp.). Applications for $61,000 Federal Emergency Relief funds for direct and work aid in Albemarle for three months have been filed by Miss Dora Beck, welfare superintendent.

Of this, $28,000 is asked to assist 500 Charlottesville residents, and $33,000 for 800 in Albemarle County.

Georgia Seizes Virginia Truck

Driver Compelled to Buy Tags in State, Owner Says in Protest.

Charlottesville, April 18 (Sp.).—Herbert Collins, local freight truck operator, has filed a complaint against Georgia to the Governor of that State and to John Q. Rhodes, motor vehicle commissioner of Virginia, alleging that one of his trucks, bearing Virginia license plates and en route to Miami, Fla., was seized recently by Georgia officers in plain clothes as it entered Savannah.

Two officers informed the driver, Floyd Bagby, he must buy a Georgia license at a cost of $26.25. He was not allowed to move the truck until this had been arranged, the police even refusing the driver's request that he be allowed to turn around and quit the State, Bagby said.

Roanoke's Budget Increased $9,216

County Supervisors Fix Sum at $68,487.

Roanoke, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—An increase of $9,216.01 in general county expenditures in the next fiscal year compared with this year has been approved by the Roanoke County Board of Supervisors in adopting a budget of $68,487.70 for the year ending June 30, 1935.

The levies are $1 per $100 valuation for schools and 25 cents for the general county levy.

While the general expenditures will exceed those of last year, the school appropriation is $9,723.25 under this year's.

Two File Bankruptcy Papers at Lynchburg

Lynchburg, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Robert V. Crockett, a Bluefield electrician, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the District Court here, stating his liabilities to be $7,453 and assets, $204. He lists creditors in Bluefield.

Fred L. McMillen, Covington, a rayon worker, has filed a similar petition with $434 liabilities and $9 assets. His creditors are located in Covington.

C. B. Short to Manage Hospital at Roanoke

Roanoke, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—C. B. Short, former manager of the Roanoke Railway & Electric Co. and Safety Motor Transit Corporation and recently manager of the Pacific Northwest Public Service Co. of Portland, Ore., will return to Roanoke as business manager of the Jefferson Hospital.

He succeeds Dr. K. T. Redfield, who resigned to accept a similar position with the Protestant hospital in Norfolk.

Venue, Venire Change Denied

Bausells Must Stand Trial in Wythe Court on Slaying Count.

Bristol, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Motions for a change of venue and venire in the Bausell case were denied yesterday by Judge Horace Southernland in Wythe County Circuit Court at Wytheville, Va.

Henry Bausell and his son, Bernice, are charged with shooting to death T. E. Cornett, Wythe County farmer, and his daughter, Mrs. Virginia Cornett Bausell, in an altercation at the Cornett home in January. The cases are set for trial April 23.

Four witnesses were heard by the court yesterday in connection with the request to change the venue and venire. S. R. Hufford, Repass Umbarger, Dr. A. B. Grubb and Mr. Hill, supported the contention of the Bausells' attorneys that a fair trial would not be possible in Wythe County.

Student Pay Roll Errors Are Cited

Richmond, April 18 (AP).—Colleges in Virginia have made "every type of error possible" in pay rolls submitted under the student work plan, J. Gordon Bennett, auditor for the Virginia emergency relief administration, said today.

He said that in future the proper forms should be filled out in their entirety and that no smaller fraction of an hour than one-fourth should be counted.

Allen Benz Alienation Suit Waits Until June

Danville, Va., April 18 (Sp.). Trial of the $200,000 alienation suit instituted by Allen Benz, of Paterson, N. J., against W. H. Fey, of Radford, N. C., which was to have come up yesterday before Judge Felix Alley in the Rockingham County Superior Court at Wentworth, N. C., has been continued to the June term by consent of both sides.

Dies in Guard Rail Crash

Danville, Va., April 18 (Sp.). Charles Wilson, colored, of Raleigh, W. Va., was killed instantly north of here yesterday evening when a car driven by Smiley Jackson, also colored, struck a guard rail at Cherrystone Creek and turned over. Jackson and two others were slightly hurt.

Colored Man, Fifty Years on Railroad Duty, Given Jewel

Norfolk, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—James Griffin, colored, for 50 years an employee of the Norfolk & Western Railroad, yesterday received a diamond pin, bearing the insignia of the railroad, as a gift of esteem from officials of the road.

Griffin entered the employ of the railroad in 1884 when he was 18 years old. He started as water boy at Petersburg, became a brakeman and lost his right arm in an accident. He was then made messenger and later a switchman. For 25 years he has been a porter at the water terminal of the Norfolk & Western here.

He has a record of never having being late for work, drunk or reprimanded for any infraction of rules. He has a life-time position and if old age ever prevents him from performing the duties assigned him, he can remain at home and receive his full salary, the railroad has promised.

Griffin, now 68, in accepting the pin said he expected to be with the railroad another 50 years.

Rabbi Wise Will Speak At Roanoke Graduation

Salem, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free Synagogue in New York, has accepted an invitation to speak at the Roanoke College commencement exercises June 4. Dr. Charles J. Smith, president of the college, announced today.

Dr. Wise has long been recognized as an important figure in religious, charitable, and political circles in America.

Best Seller!
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT'S new book ON OUR WAY
"A book which citizens who take their citizenship seriously cannot afford to be without."
New York Herald Tribune
$2.50 a JOHN DAY book

WOODWARD & LOTHROP
1011 11th F and G Streets Phone District 5300

Infinitely Wearable These Newer Coats Without Fur

They bring us that soft, "dressmaking" sort of coat that carries one right through the season. They introduce butterfly collars of crisp taffeta—jabots, that button high if you like—grosgrain—buckles and buttons that make "staccato notes of brightness"—and have withal a certain distinction of manner that you expect usually in much more expensive coats.

Navy, black runko brown $29.75
MISSES' AND WOMEN'S COATS, THIRD FLOOR

WOODWARD & LOTHROP
1011 11th F and G Streets Phone District 5300

what is Crepe Suzette is ARTCRAFT'S name for its new crepey texture in STOCKINGS

A silk stocking with a dull, tweedy look, is Artcraft's way of filling a long felt want in your wardrobe. Their crepey texture—which has cleverly been dubbed "Crepe Suzette"—not only makes them perfect to wear with tweeds, but snag-resistant, too. Other important features are the smart new colors, including string, run-guards at toe and garter lines, the flattering narrow heel, and fine French seams. Sizes 8½ to 10½. Other Chic Spring Colors include: Gambol—a deep suntan. Madcap—neutral. Como—a greyed beige.

$1.35 pair

HOSIERY, AISLE 19, FIRST FLOOR

WOODWARD & LOTHROP
1011 11th F and G Streets Phone District 5300

Annual Spring Selling of

James Wandell

SILK STOCKINGS

Regularly $1.15 pair 95c

A very interesting opportunity to buy these well-known stockings at a substantial saving—every pair with French heels, cradle foot, and especially reinforced toe and heel seal. In Spring's smart new shades.

They include all-silk chiffons, clear sheer, ringless—Paris-clois chiffons of clear, fine quality, semi-sheer chiffons, in a fine gauge—and service weights, lisle reinforced. Sizes 8½ to 10½. Also, outsize stockings in chiffon and semi-sheer. Sizes, 9 to 11.

3 pairs, $2.75
6 pairs, $5.45
12 pairs, $10.75

HOSIERY, AISLE 19, FIRST FLOOR

ART MATERIALS MUTH 710 13th NAT. 6386

Britain Reveals Rising Menace Of War in Note

Major Powers' Threats of Preparations for Strife Told.

Continued from Page 1.

Increase in appropriations for the Reich's navy and at least 40 per cent increase in expenditures on her army, while tripling outlays for air service, as compared with 1933. The text of the French note was included in the "white paper." It cites Germany's military budget increase and declares this move by the Nazi regime has rendered impossible the present negotiations among the various powers singly rather than at a general parley at Geneva—a parley from which the Germans abruptly withdrew last fall.

"This fact dictates France's reply," the note sets forth. "Before seeking to learn if an accord can be reached, including a system of guarantees and legalizing important rearmaments in Germany, France must place in the first rank her preoccupations with her own security, which, however, she does not separate from the security of the other powers."

Demands Return to League.

The note emphasized that France considers Germany's return to the League of Nations an essential condition to any convention, but adds there is no indication that such a move will occur. It continues:

"France cannot assume the responsibility for such a dangerous renunciation at a moment when German rearmament reveals itself as being prepared and developed without taking any account of negotiations of execution of a disarmament convention and regrets that foreign initiative suddenly has rendered vain the negotiations followed by these two countries with equal good will and good faith."

The note concludes with a declaration that the World Disarmament Conference should resume where it left off months ago, adding:

"The French government does not doubt that a future reunion will provide the always precious collaboration with the British government to fortify peace by guarantees which general security demands."

Treaty Violations Charged.

The French further denounced the alleged violations of the treaties by Germany's construction of air-dromes in demilitarized zones, and expressed fears over Germany's intentions "to increase immediately in strong proportions not only her army strength, but navy and air forces."

In addition to publishing this boldly worded note, the British White Paper publishes for the first time a record of Eden's talk in Rome, embodying the Italian arms views.

Other numerous exchanges between Britain and Germany, Britain and France, and a memorandum dated April 14 from Spain, Holland, Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries addressed to the British government, head of the general arms commission, were published to show in detail the efforts the British government has made to solve the deadlock and salvage something from the last two years of world disarmament efforts.

Nazis Hurl Defy To All Invaders

Continued from Page 1.

troopers were superfluous. He said even if Germany is finally allowed to increase her present army, the Brown Shirts have become and will remain the German national garb. "Our storm troops guard the peace of central Europe," Roehm declared.

He explained that the storm troops also were sworn to defend the Reich from internal disorders and carry on the Nazi revolution. Roehm warned that "any open resistance to young Germany on the part of enemies of the state would be a 100 per cent certainty as not only an original but effective way to commit suicide."

He outlined the traditional Nazi program for uprooting Jews and other alien elements to the Nazi German state and called for support to the unification of the Reich.

Rail Official Hurt In Auto Crash Dies

Danville, Va., April 18 (Sp.). Theodore Spieden, 50, office engineer of Southern Railway divisional headquarters here, died at Petersburg last night from injuries suffered yesterday in a motor accident near Grundy. He will be buried Friday in Louisville, Ky., his former home.

He left here yesterday in a new car with his wife for Washington. Reports here were that a truck forced the car off the road.

Mr. Spieden had been with the Southern Railway here for ten years. He began railroading in 1890. He held executive posts on the Baltimore & Ohio and the Louisville & Nashville roads, and also with the Washington Terminal Co.

He leaves no children. Mrs. Spieden was reported not gravely hurt but in serious state of shock in a Petersburg hospital. She is a sister-in-law of Judge Benjamin L. Spieden, of the United States Court of Appeals, Washington.

Sherando CCC Quota Filled.

Waynesboro, Va., April 18 (Sp.). Several young men who have been in temporary training at Fort Monroe arrived here today and were transported to the Sand Spring CCC camp near Sherando. This contingent, composed of Virginia recruits, brings the Sand Spring company to its full quota of 100.

Pages From Far Corners of Country Meet at D. A. R. Congress

One reason Washington always looks forward to the D. A. R. conventions is given here. Beautiful pages from various sections of the country go for a stroll between sessions. They are left to right, Gertrude Lammer, Evanston, Ill.; Martha F. Grisby, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Cynthia Woodward, Boston, Mass.; Eloise Whitlock, Brunswick, N. J.; Mrs. Lionel K. Anderson, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Alice M. Maynard, Burlington, Vt., and Jean Sellers, Los Angeles, Calif.

Historic Trees To Be Planted

Washington and Johnson Kin to Take Part on Saturday.

Descendants of George Washington and Andrew Johnson will join with the D. A. R., Boy Scouts, various State societies and the National Nut Tree Planting Council in the Parade of States, which will feature tree-planting ceremonies in the National Historic Grove, in Anacostia Park, Saturday at 4 p. m. Mrs. Eleanor Washington Howard, last member of the Washington family born at Mount Vernon; Mrs. Augustine J. Todd, descendant of Samuel Johnson Patterson, of Greenville, Tenn., great-granddaughter of President Johnson, will present Mrs. Russell William Magna, president general of the D. A. R., with trees from ground associated with their illustrious ancestors. They will participate in the parade, following their State banners. Later, donors from 24 States will present 50 trees from historic grounds as permanent markers, to the National Historic Grove. Two centuries of American history will be preserved in this manner.

Auto Rifleman Gets 6 Months

Marylander Admits Firing on Machine Occupied by Three Women.

Pleading guilty to shooting through an automobile occupied by three women, Thomas W. Smith, Millersville, Md., yesterday, in the Hyattsville Police Court, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. The shooting occurred on the Crain highway near Priest Bridge, Md. Mrs. Clara B. Cook, of Curtis Bay, Md., told Policeman Claude Reese she was riding down the highway, accompanied by Miss Pearl Wallace and Miss Margaret Pfeffer, both of Baltimore, when Smith began to follow them in another automobile. The car, which started following them near Millersville, continued to pass and pass her, creating considerable annoyance. Mrs. Cook said this continued for 15 miles. When near Priest Bridge a bullet whistled through Mrs. Cook's car. Four more shots also were said to have been fired before the women escaped and called police. Smith was arrested a short distance from the bridge. A 22 caliber rifle and five shells were confiscated.

Kentucky Farmer Dies While Milking Cow

Big Laurel, Va., April 18 (Sp.).—When Thomas Lane, 60, living across the State line in Kentucky, failed to return from his chores his sister went in search. She found him seated on his milking stool, a pall half full of milk between his knees, and his head against the cow's flank. He had been dead for 30 minutes, doctors said.

Five Women 'Real D. A. R.'s,' Fathers Fought in Revolution

Convention to Hear Report Today on This Group of Members.

Five very old women, known as the "real Daughters of the American Revolution," will be the subject of a report at the D. A. R. sessions today.

These women are "real daughters" because their fathers actually fought in the War for Independence.

11 Camps in D. A. R. Office Battle

Seven Are to Be Chosen in Ballot Today for Vice Presidents.

Continued from Page 1.

presidential posts will be voted upon by the delegates.

The women who were nominated and seconded for the active vice presidential posts were: Mrs. Frank J. Bowman, Illinois; Mrs. Minnie M. Dilley, Minnesota; Mrs. Frederick F. Gundrum, California; Mrs. Bessie Carroll Higgins, Iowa; Mrs. Zebulon Judd, Alabama; Mrs. Julian Benson McCurry, Georgia; Mrs. William P. H. McFadden, Texas; Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne, Indiana; Mrs. Sydney Cooper, North Carolina; Mrs. John Y. Richardson, Oregon, and Mrs. Henry Zoller, Jr., Maryland.

There was a short election for the single vacancy as honorary vice president general: Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins, District of Columbia; Mrs. Charles B. Lettison, Nebraska; Mrs. Edmond P. Moody, Delaware; Mrs. Everest George Sewell, Georgia, and Mrs. W. E. Stanley, Kansas.

Winners Forecast.

Following nominations, campaign managers increased their activities. Several conferences were held to discuss the campaign. Mrs. Cook predicted that the seven successful candidates for the active posts would be Mrs. Dilley, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Gundrum, Mrs. Zoller, Mrs. McCurry and Mrs. McFadden. The Washington delegation is giving strong support to Mrs. Hodgkins for the honorary post. Unless some last-minute shift is engineered, it is believed she has an excellent chance for election. The office of president-general is not open until 1935, but the election today will have an important bearing upon it, as it will be a factor in the swapping of votes for the vice presidential candidates.

There was a short boom for Prince Cantacuzene, granddaughter of President U. S. Grant and wife of a Russian prince, who is a member of the Florida delegation to the Congress. Although not an American citizen, the princess would be eligible for the post.

Refuses to Run.

However, she spiked the movement by announcing that she would not run for the office and said she would give her support to Mrs. Gillettine.

The princess expressed dissatisfaction with the policies of Mrs. Magna on National defense. She is against the so-called nonaggressive and nonparticipation policies of the president-general. She resigned from the National defense committee shortly after Mrs. Magna took office. Mrs. Gillettine's platform, which was circulated among the delegates, was completely opposed to Mrs. Magna's policy of not permitting the organization to cooperate with other organizations on National defense program. She said:

"I favor the cooperation of the D. A. R. with all other National patriotic societies in fighting subversive movements."

Platforms Announced.

The platform announced by her rival, Mrs. Becker, was apparently in support of the policy of Mrs. Magna.

Each of these women is given a comfortable pension by the D. A. R. The roll of the pensioners has been reduced by death to its present number.

The women are Mrs. Angelica Loring Avery, of Williamstown, Conn.; Mrs. Annie Knight Gregory, of Williamsport, Pa.; Mrs. Caroline E. Randall, of Greenfield, Mass.; Mrs. Mary Pool Newton and her sister, Miss Sara Pool, of Gibson, Ga.

Magna, although it made no direct reference to it. The two platforms follow:

Mrs. Becker—"I believe in developing a well-rounded balanced program of the memorial, historical, educational and defense activities to which the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, is committed."

"I believe it is our duty, as a society and as good citizens, to maintain a vigilant regard for education in American ideals, assuring ourselves against repeating errors of the past and inroads of influences inimical to the Constitution of the United States."

"I believe unequivocally in the maintenance of an efficient Army, Navy and air force, so capable and sufficient as to render us free from the fear of foreign invasion. In a word, I stand wholeheartedly for adequate National defense in all its ramifications."

Education of Youth.

"I believe the future welfare and security of our Nation depends upon the education of our youth in American principles and ideals and to that end we should, as a society, develop more intensive patriotic education in schools and colleges."

"I stand firmly for the objects of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, as expressed in its constitution, and for the resolutions as passed by the Continental Congresses."

Mrs. Gillettine—"That the Daughters of the American Revolution declare that the principles pertaining to the rights of the citizens and the form of government controlling the citizens, as set forth in the Declaration of Independence and defined in the Constitution of the United States of America, are and should be the principles upon which our Nation is based, and that every attempt to void these principles should be resisted."

"That the Daughters of the American Revolution stand for a strong program of National defense, for an army and navy sufficiently manned and adequately armed to protect the citizens and maintain the prestige of the Nation; that the society should resist any movements by persons, organizations, or institutions to overthrow or abolish the established form of government of the United States. In order to achieve these purposes I favor the cooperation of the Daughters of the American Revolution with all other National patriotic societies in fighting subversive movements."

That the Daughters of the American Revolution should further educational work now being done in our approved schools and should expand the program of training fostered in the C. A. R. and the clubs of the Sons and Daughters of the U. S. A. in order to combat the pernicious influences of socialism and unpatriotic organizations that are attempting to undermine the vital principles of Americanism upon which the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution is founded.

Care of Soldiers, Sailors.

That the Daughters of the American Revolution support all movements seeking adequate care for soldiers and sailors permanently disabled in the service of their country.

That the Daughters of the American Revolution continue to advocate a strict enforcement of the immigration laws, and also the passage of laws excluding all immigrants until the present economic emergency is passed. I favor a more rigid enforcement of laws providing for the deportation of undesirable aliens now in America.

Report of the tellers—Mrs. Frank L. Nason, chairman.

Address, "New Opportunities for Women"—Hon. Daniel C. Roper, the Secretary of Commerce.

Music—Alice Mock, soprano, Chicago Civic Opera Company; Mrs. James Shera Montgomery, accompanist. (a) "Phyllis Has Such Charming Graces" (Lane Wilson); (b) "My Lovely Celia" (Lane Wilson); (c) "The Maid of Cadiz" (Delibes).

Address, "Crime as a National Problem"—Hon. Homer Cummings, the Attorney General.

Music—Alice Mock, soprano, Chicago Civic Opera Company; Mrs. James Shera Montgomery, accompanist. (a) "In the Luxembourg Gardens" (Manning); (b) "My Little House" (Seneca Pierce); (c) "In the Vienna Woods" (Strauss).

The retiring of the colors.

Exit march—The United States Navy Band Orchestra.

"Falls open at 8 a. m. Voting in Memorial Continental Hall.

Further Split Is Caused as Two Enter Contest for '35 Leader.

and would urge the enactment of laws providing for the registration of all aliens in the United States.

"That the Daughters of the American Revolution favor legislation to aid in the curbing of crime and in bringing criminals to swifter justice. Since the use of the automobile, the radio, and other inventions have facilitated escape from justice, I therefore recommend that the National Society urge the enactment of such uniform laws as will aid in the apprehension and punishment of violators of the law."

"That the Daughters of the American Revolution seek to develop the patriotism, loyalty and civic virtues of our people by a further extension of facts of American history among all classes of our citizens; by collecting, compiling and organizing historical data for use of ministers, teachers and others; and by encouraging the writing of American history to set forth clearly, concisely and vigorously the principles of our country upon which our country is based."

"That the Daughters of the American Revolution should establish a committee on school histories used in the schools of the land in order to pass upon their truthful presentation of American history. This committee on school histories should consist of persons whose knowledge of history is sound, and whose scientific attitude toward truth and fact is unquestionable. The society seeks to advance right, justice and truth."

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Hunter Brown, of Winchester, Va., arrested here Saturday on a bad check charge after he is alleged to have fleeced Martinsburg merchants out of $75 in merchandise and money, waived a preliminary hearing and was ordered held for action of the May grand jury following arraignment yesterday.

Brown denied being author of five checks for $15 each tendered Martinsburg merchants on Friday for small purchases of merchandise, insisting that he could not read or write.

D. A. R. Program for Today

9:30 A. M.

Organ, 9:15 until 9:30 o'clock—Mrs. John G. Klein. Assembly call.

Entrance of the president general, escorted by the pages. Congress called to order—The president general. Scripture and prayer—The chaplain general.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag—The assemblage. The National Anthem—The assemblage.

Reading of the minutes—The record secretary general. Report of the resolutions committee—Mrs. Robert J. Johnston, chairman.

Supplemental report of committee on credentials—Mrs. Henry M. Robert, Jr., chairman.

Reports of National committees continued: Inspira—Mrs. Charles H. Bissell, chairman. Publicity—Mrs. William Louis Dunne, chairman. Radio—Mrs. Gordon Newman, chairman. Real Daughters—Mrs. Benjamin L. Purcell, chairman.

State and chapter by-laws—Mrs. Robert J. Reed, chairman. Transportation—Mrs. Charles J. Bullock, chairman.

Yorktown tablets (final)—Mrs. James M. Morris, permanent chairman. Preservation of historic spots, including National old trails—Mrs. John C. Follett, chairman.

Address: "Restoration of Colonial Williamsburg"—The Rev. Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, D.D., LL.D., rector, Bruton Parish Church, Williamsburg, Va. Announcements.

Assembly call—Frank Gerchow, Boy Scout bugler. Entrance march—Mrs. John G. Klein at the organ. Entrance of the pages.

Report of National committees continued. Daughters of the American Revolution student loan fund—Mrs. Walter L. Tobey, chairman.

Sons and Daughters of the U. S. A.—Mrs. Robert Bagnell, chairman. Program by officers and members of the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia Sons and Daughters of the U. S. A. Clubs.

Approved schools—Mrs. William H. Pouch, chairman. Program by representatives from 6 of our 17 approved schools. Americanism—Miss Mary C. Welch, chairman.

Program by the following groups: Americanization School, District of Columbia; Italian, German, Community Center, Philadelphia; Ukrainians, Ukrainian Institute, Philadelphia; pledge and song by citizens groups; "America" by citizens groups and assemblage.

8:30 P. M.

Concert from 8 until 8:30 o'clock—The United States Navy Band Orchestra, Lieut. Charles Benter, leader.

Assembly call.

Entrance march—The United States Navy Band Orchestra. Entrance of the president general escorted by the pages.

Invocation—Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain, United States House of Representatives.

Report of the tellers—Mrs. Frank L. Nason, chairman.

Address, "New Opportunities for Women"—Hon. Daniel C. Roper, the Secretary of Commerce.

Music—Alice Mock, soprano, Chicago Civic Opera Company; Mrs. James Shera Montgomery, accompanist. (a) "Phyllis Has Such Charming Graces" (Lane Wilson); (b) "My Lovely Celia" (Lane Wilson); (c) "The Maid of Cadiz" (Delibes).

Address, "Crime as a National Problem"—Hon. Homer Cummings, the Attorney General.

Music—Alice Mock, soprano, Chicago Civic Opera Company; Mrs. James Shera Montgomery, accompanist. (a) "In the Luxembourg Gardens" (Manning); (b) "My Little House" (Seneca Pierce); (c) "In the Vienna Woods" (Strauss).

The retiring of the colors.

Exit march—The United States Navy Band Orchestra.

"Falls open at 8 a. m. Voting in Memorial Continental Hall.

State Regents Give Reports On Activities

District, Virginia and Maryland Heads Tell Accomplishments.

Applauded sweep Constitution Hall last night as the State regents for the District, Virginia and Maryland gave reports at the Forty-third Continental Congress of the D. A. R. Mrs. Harry Colfax Grove, District State regent, who received a bouquet from the local delegates as she took the platform, declared Washington chapters were in a healthy state of progress.

She reported the activity of the Americanism committee, which, she said, had expended a total of $1,673 in scholarships, relief, and support of night classes at the Americanization School.

For the conservation and thrift committee she reported that 50 trees had been planted and two chapters have given trees to be planted in the Maryland D. A. R. Centenary Grove. Through the penny-a-day fund, she said, Washington chapters have given $1,906 toward Constitution Hall.

Mrs. Grove reported a plaque has been presented Gordon Junior High School for the winning essay of Mary Truscott on "What the American Flag Means to a Junior High School Boy or Girl."

At present the student loan fund in the District amounts to $3,921, Mrs. Grove reported. The interest during the year was loaned to a junior at George Washington University, she said.

Mrs. Grove reported several acquisitions by the State library. She also announced several gifts for the District room in Memorial Continental Hall. She reported $2,428 has been added to the fund for the District Chapter House.

The Virginia organization is concentrating upon the restoration and preservation of historic records, Mrs. Charles B. Keesee, State regent of Virginia, told the assemblage.

"Virginia," she said "is one of the original preserves where comes from all over the United States their ancestry."

"Also of special interest is Virginia's restoration of famous historic buildings, the marking of historic spots and Revolutionary graves."

The interest of Maryland Daughters, Mrs. Henry Zoller, Jr., State regent, reported, has been centered on the celebration of the State's Centenary.

The State organization will have two paintings done in oil, by a leading Maryland artist, hung in the Old State House which has been repaired at St. Marys City. It also has fostered the planting of a historic grove at College Park.

Approved school contributions amounted to $2,511, Mrs. Zoller said. Of this District Chapter gave $1,500 for a library at Washington College. Maryland has given $3,500 toward the Constitution Hall debt, she said.

'I Can't Write,' Defense To Bad Check Charge

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Hunter Brown, of Winchester, Va., arrested here Saturday on a bad check charge after he is alleged to have fleeced Martinsburg merchants out of $75 in merchandise and money, waived a preliminary hearing and was ordered held for action of the May grand jury following arraignment yesterday.

Brown denied being author of five checks for $15 each tendered Martinsburg merchants on Friday for small purchases of merchandise, insisting that he could not read or write.

Requa Testifies

Republican National Committee from California, testifying before the Senate Air-Mail Committee here yesterday.

Wide World Photo.

House Agrees Air Mail Bill To Be Revised

Roosevelt's Request to Limit Contracts to Be Incorporated.

Continued from Page 1.

The Postoffice Department in 1931 to grant a contract to Century Airlines.

Preparations by the Postoffice Department to receive bids for three-month all-mail contracts, to be opened at noon Friday.

Sub-committee Is Named.

The new air-mail bill will be drafted by a sub-committee consisting of Chairman James M. Mead (Democrat), New York; Representative D. C. Dobbins (Democrat), Illinois; and Representative Clyde Kelly (Republican), Pennsylvania.

The bill would leave all matters of permanent policy to the recommendation of the commission it creates and will thus postpone action until the next session of Congress.

Mead said the new bill would be very brief.

The Postmaster General, he said, "will be authorized to make one-year contracts and a commission will be set up to study the general field of aviation, including civil, military, experimental and all other phases of the subject."

All permanent features of the bill the committee has been studying will be referred to the commission.

Mead said he expected the commission will be ready to report before the proposed one-year contracts expire. He said that should the Senate pass the present air-mail bill, the House committee will substitute its own proposal for the Senate measure.

"The President will surely accept the House recommendations," he said.

The present air-mail bill, among other provisions, contains a section that would abolish interlocking directorates among transportation and manufacturing companies. The new measure would eliminate nearly all the controversial provisions of the present bill.

Crowley Belittles Suit.

The suits filed in District Supreme Court for the purpose of forcing restoration of the old air-mail contracts were brought by Boeing Air Transport, Inc., Pacific Air Transport, Inc., National Air Transport, Inc., National Air Transport and Varney Air Lines, Inc. The suits were brought against the Government as an individual.

The manner in which the suits were brought was declared by Karl A. Crowley, solicitor of the Postoffice Department, a "weak effort to evade the law which prohibits any one from suing the Government without its permission."

Crowley said the suits should have been filed in the Court of Claims. He pointed out that the order was signed by Farley as Postmaster General, and that he was acting for the Government, and not as an individual.

At the Postoffice Department it was said the suits would not interfere in any way with present plans for letting temporary contracts. Answer to the court action must be filed within 20 days.

All bids for temporary air-mail contracts must be in the hands of the Department by 4 p. m. today. They will be opened tomorrow and contracts awarded within 30 days, if the bids are satisfactory. The proposals are expected to include 21 routes. Although the contracts will be for a period of only three months, they may be extended for two additional periods of three months each.

Requa Denies "Influence."

Requa was the first witness before the Senate committee as the investigation was resumed. He denied that he had attempted to bring pressure to obtain the Century contract. He said he had merely introduced Century representatives to former Postmaster General Walter Brown. On his present trip East, he said, he had been active in a luncheon in New York, but that air mail was not discussed.

Requa's activities were brought before the committee by a letter written by Lyndol Young, Century Airline official, indicating Requa had been active in behalf of the Century contract.

Requa said any activity and denied he had criticized Brown's conduct in connection with air mail.

Requa, a close friend of Herbert Hoover, denied in answer to a question that he had "made any statement that the Postmaster General was embarrassing the National Administration by his method of handling the air-mail situation."

Questioned by Chairman Black (Democrat), Alabama, about the object of the New York luncheon, Requa said the conference was for the purpose of discussing Republican finances and the coming election.

Requa was excused temporarily and T. E. Braniff, Oklahoma City, president of Braniff Airways, was questioned by Senator Austin (Republican), Vermont. Austin, a critic of the Administration air mail policy, attempted to show that cancellation of contracts was discussed with operators before it was ordered, that there was a movement to obtain contracts for independent lines, and that officials of these lines were investigating the committee.

Braniff told of a loosely organized group of independent operators working together to obtain contracts. He said that he believed the unless the air line had a contract it could not continue to definitely in business. Braniff headed the organization.

Requa was excused temporarily and T. E. Braniff, Oklahoma City, president of Braniff Airways, was questioned by Senator Austin (Republican), Vermont. Austin, a critic of the Administration air mail policy, attempted to show that cancellation of contracts was discussed with operators before it was ordered, that there was a movement to obtain contracts for independent lines, and that officials of these lines were investigating the committee.

Braniff told of a loosely organized group of independent operators working together to obtain contracts. He said that he believed the unless the air line had a contract it could not continue to definitely in business. Braniff headed the organization.

Requa was excused temporarily and T. E. Braniff, Oklahoma City, president of Braniff Airways, was questioned by Senator Austin (Republican), Vermont. Austin, a critic of the Administration air mail policy, attempted to show that cancellation of contracts was discussed with operators before it was ordered, that there was a movement to obtain contracts for independent lines, and that officials of these lines were investigating the committee.

Braniff told of a loosely organized group of independent operators working together to obtain contracts. He said that he believed the unless the air line had a contract it could not continue to definitely in business. Braniff headed the organization.

Requa was excused temporarily and T. E. Braniff, Oklahoma City, president of Braniff Airways, was questioned by Senator Austin (Republican), Vermont. Austin, a critic of the Administration air mail policy, attempted to show that cancellation of contracts was discussed with operators before it was ordered, that there was a movement to obtain contracts for independent lines, and that officials of these lines were investigating the committee.

Braniff told of a loosely organized group of independent operators working together to obtain contracts. He said that he believed the unless the air line had a contract it could not continue to definitely in business. Braniff headed the organization.

Requa was excused temporarily and T. E. Braniff, Oklahoma City, president of Braniff Airways, was questioned by Senator Austin (Republican), Vermont. Austin, a critic of the Administration air mail policy, attempted to show that cancellation of contracts was discussed with operators before it was ordered, that there was a movement to obtain contracts for independent lines, and that officials of these lines were investigating the committee.

Braniff told of a loosely organized group of independent operators working together to obtain contracts. He said that he believed the unless the air line had a contract it could not continue to definitely in business. Braniff headed the organization.

Sen. Hatfield Wins Support From Hallanan

Republican Leader Will Not Seek Nomination in August Vote.

Charleston, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—Walter S. Hallanan, Republican National committeeman, in a formal statement today removed himself from the United States Senatorial race in the August primary and endorsed Senator H. D. Hatfield, of Huntington, the incumbent.

Dr. Hatfield should be renominated, Hallanan said, "on his record of accomplishment in the Senate." Hatfield has been silent, but it is generally understood that he will stand for reelection.

Hallanan stated that he will support Hatfield regardless of other possible candidates, and added his belief that T. C. Townsend, former State tax commissioner and party nominee for Governor in the last election, would not contend for the Senatorial nomination.

Herbert E. Hannis, of Martinsburg, is expected to seek the Republican nomination in the Second Congressional District, now represented by Jennings Randolph, Democrat, of Elkins, and Walter S. Sugden, of Sistersville, is expected to be a candidate for the Republican nomination in the Fourth District, now represented by George W. Johnson, of Parkersburg, a Democrat.

Relief to Cease As Jobs Open Up

Maryland Officer Plans Close in Two Weeks.

Chestertown, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—Following a conference here yesterday with Mrs. Thomas Massey, director of the Kent County Welfare Board and other relief officials, Harry Greenstein, of Baltimore, State relief administrator, has decided to close all relief cases within two weeks if possible.

Though all efforts will be made, it is said, to prevent suffering and distress in the Shore counties and preparations will be made to relieve distress next winter, it is believed the opening of the agricultural and fishing seasons in eastern Maryland will go far toward absorbing much of the unemployment in the nine counties.

With the crabbing season due to start in two weeks and the berry season about to open, basket factories and fish and crab packing houses are starting operations and hundreds hitherto unemployed are going to work once more.

Cumberland's Charity Goal Set at $50,470

Cumberland, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—Frank E. Smith has been selected chairman for the 1934 Community Chest drive, scheduled May 10-18. The Welfare Federation seeks $50,470 for the Community Chest next year. The Government aid under various relief projects has relieved the burden on local charities.

Marietta Company Gets Contract for Dredges

Point Pleasant, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—Contract for the construction of two 34-inch suction dredges has been awarded by Army engineers to the Marietta Manufacturing Co. here, on its low bid of $1,016,500. Four hundred men have started work on the two boats to be used to maintain channels in the Missouri River.

Gretna Schools Close When Principal Dies

Danville, Va., April 18 (Spl.).—The Gretna public schools closed today as a tribute to Carroll Shelton, 45, principal of the high school for 15 years, who died at Lynchburg yesterday and was buried at Gretna today.

Mr. Shelton held a B. A. of the University of Virginia, served in the Navy during the war, and was unmarried. His mother, Mrs. E. W. Shelton, survives.

S. S. Convention May 1

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—The fifty-fourth annual State Sunday School convention will meet in Clarksburg, May 1, 2 and 3, in the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

AS A "PICK-UP" . . .

HOLLYWOOD
1/2 Lemon Juice; 1/2 Laird's Apple Jack
1 egg (white only); a dash of Grenadine; ice, shake and serve.

LAIRD'S APPLE JACK

By Hosts of the Hollywood Restaurant
Served 100 for Alternative Recipe Book Containing Over 80 Famous Apple Jack Drinks LAIRD & CO., Scotchville, New Jersey
Distributorship 2,320

Rollfast Bicycles

SIDE-WALK BIKES, VELOCIPEDS and ROLLER SKATES
Only good wheels. Your old wheels taken as part payment on a new one.

Hastings Bicycle & Sporting Goods Co.
424 Ninth St. N.W.

HOTEL FRANCIS SCOTT KEY FREDERICK, MARYLAND

Coffee and Dining Room
In the scenic and historic heart of Maryland, only 45 miles from Washington

Maryland Asks Bigger Coin Issue to Outsmart Collectors

Baltimore, April 18 (Spl.).—Fears that coin collectors will absorb most of the proposed issue of 10,000 Maryland tercentenary commemorative half-dollars has led the Maryland delegation in Congress to consider asking for an issue of 25,000 of the silver pieces.

The Maryland coin would be a prize for any numismatist, it is believed, and there are easily 10,000 collectors of old coins in the United States who would pay a premium to have one or more of the pieces.

Representatives Stephen Gambrill and William P. Cole, Jr., of the Maryland delegation, are planning to ask an amendment to the bill providing for the special coin issue. The bill has passed the Senate and is under consideration by a House committee.

Thousands of the Maryland tercentenary postage stamps, issued on March 25 and now on sale throughout the Nation, have been sold to collectors and now repose in albums. The Maryland Historical Society here has a number of the stamps in its vaults to be preserved as historical relics.

West Virginia School Terms Are Extended

Charleston, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—County school superintendents have been notified by W. W. Trent, State superintendent, to continue the elementary schools beyond the eight months' period. Uncertainty has marked the present school term because of indeterminate revenue.

Salaries have been guaranteed for eight months by legislative action. Trent says some way will be found to complete the nine months' term.

Minor Must Tell Who Sold Liquor

One Who Shielded Seller Given 5 Days in Jail.

Hagerstown, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—Local magistrates have declared war on persons selling liquor to minors, as well as on the minors themselves. Maximum sentences were promised for all minors appearing who refuse to reveal the source of intoxicants.

Frank Williams, 20, who refused to tell Magistrate Richard H. Sweeney where he had obtained whisky, was given a five-day jail term. More severe penalties were promised.

University Women Meet May 5

Parkersburg, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—State officers announce completed plans for holding the twelfth annual convention of the West Virginia division of the American Association of University Women, May 5, here.

Missing Farmer Found Shot Dead in Woods

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—Missing since early yesterday, Charles Scranage, 60, a farmer, of Booths Creek, Taylor County, was found dead today in a thicket half a mile from his home. A shotgun charge had blown away part of his head. The weapon was found nearby.

While Scranage is believed to have committed suicide as the result of worry over the sale of his farm for taxes, Taylor County authorities this afternoon began an investigation.

Roanoke Records 44 March Auto Crashes

Roanoke, Va., April 18 (Spl.).—Forty-four accidents were reported here in March, 12 of them involving personal injuries and 32 property damage only, according to J. L. Manning, superintendent of police.

Justices $80,000 Short in Accounts

Charleston, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—Edgar B. Sims, State auditor, has begun a drive for the collection of $80,000 due the State from justices of the peace who are short in their accounts. Sims says the State has collected $1,000 and it has been difficult to collect on their bonds.

$18,500 Bid Rejected For $23,000 Bond Sale

Princess Anne, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—Clarence W. Phillips, president of the town commissioners, yesterday refused a bid of $18,500 for an issue of $23,000 in Princess Anne refunding bonds.

The bidder was Harry T. Phoenix, banker and automobile dealer and Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland. Persons to whom the town is indebted have expressed willingness to accept the bonds at par to apply on account.

Good "Medicine" For All Roofs

Give your roof a coat or two of our tough, weather resisting paint. It is PREVENTION . . . which is better and cheaper than CURE. Easy to apply. Used in time, it is practically insurance against costly repairs. Ask for prices in any quantity.

E. J. Murphy Co.
INCORPORATED

710 12th St. N.W.

National 2477

Post Want Ads Pay

LUCKIES

are All-Ways kind to your throat so round, so firm, so fully packed—no loose ends that's why you'll find Luckies do not dry out

"It's toasted"

✓ Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat

We think you'd be impressed if you saw Luckies being made. You'd see those clean, silky center leaves—and you really wouldn't have to be a tobacco expert to know why farmers get higher prices for them. They are the mildest leaves—they taste better.

You'd be impressed by Lucky Strike's famous process—"It's toasted"—designed for your throat protection.

And we know that you'll be truly fascinated when you see how Luckies are rolled round and firm, and fully packed with long golden strands of choice tobaccos. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker. And you'll get the full meaning of our statement that Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

Only the Center Leaves—these are the Mildest Leaves

They Taste Better

Copyright, 1934, The American Tobacco Company.

The Washington Post

THE WASHINGTON POST PUBLISHING CO.
 Eugene Meyer, President and Publisher.
 Eugene Maclean, General Manager.
 F. R. Harrison, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to use the publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and local news of spontaneous origin published herein. Rights of reproduction of all other matter herein are also reserved.

OFFICES OF THE WASHINGTON POST.
 New York, N. Y., 370 Madison Avenue.
 Chicago, Ill., 300 North Michigan Avenue.
 Detroit, Mich., 241 General Motors Building.
 St. Louis, Mo., 205 Globe-Democrat Building.
 San Francisco, Calif., 742 Market Street.

DELIVERED IN WASHINGTON
 Daily, Sunday, 1 yr., $7.50; 6 months, $4.50.
 Daily only, 1 yr., $5.00; 6 months, $3.00.
 Sunday only, 1 yr., $2.00; 6 months, $1.00.

By MAIL—MARYLAND, VIRGINIA, WEST VIRGINIA AND NORTH CAROLINA.
 Daily, Sunday, 1 yr., $8.00; 6 months, $5.00.
 Daily only, 1 yr., $5.50; 6 months, $3.50.
 Sunday only, 1 yr., $2.50; 6 months, $1.25.

OTHER STATES, MEXICO AND CANADA
 Daily, Sunday, 1 yr., $10.00; 6 months, $6.00.
 Daily only, 1 yr., $7.00; 6 months, $4.00.
 Sunday only, 1 yr., $3.00; 6 months, $1.50.

Entered at the Postoffice, Washington, D. C., as second-class mail matter.
 TELEPHONE NATIONAL 4205.

Thursday, April 19, 1934.

The Call Of The Waves.

Soon after the first robin pecks at the last snowflake, Washington's boating season begins and a goodly proportion of the city's masculine population is seized with water fever.

Right now along the waterfront, from the Three Sisters down the Potomac around Hains Point, up the Washington Channel and along the Eastern Branch to Benning's Road, small craft of all varieties are being groomed for the season. It is dirty, arduous work, but young men and old who would scorn putting up rose trellises or cleaning cellars are now scraping and caulking, pumping and painting, patching and cleaning—and having the time of their lives.

With such a splendid river, and the bay to beckon on beyond, Washington is a fine center of boating activities. Whether the vehicle be canoe, motorboat or the crowning glory of sail, the sport does for free spirits what golf endeavors to provide for the more urbane. And the fever is as recurrent as the honking of wild geese overhead.

One of the peculiar things about motor-boating, which not even the owners understand, is that one can have great fun fixing up a boat; making her ship-shape; tinkering over a long period—yet do a minimum of actual cruising. That is what boating fever does to one. There are other queer effects. Wives know that.

Unanimous Approval.

Overwhelming indorsement has been given to the old-age pension bills for the District at the hearings conducted by Senator Reynolds' sub-committee. Some differences of opinion are evident as to the proper age limit, the flexibility of pension rates and other features of the Copeland and Capper bills, but approval of the general principles of these measures seems to be unanimous. Civic, public welfare and labor groups join with many others in appealing to Congress for enactment of an old-age pensions law at this session.

Arguments in favor of the bill are clear-cut and forceful. Long ago organized communities accepted the responsibility of caring for aged citizens who are unable to support themselves. Old-age pensions do not involve a new venture in the field of social legislation. They merely afford a more scientific, economical and humanitarian method of discharging an obligation that has long been recognized.

The fact that more than half of the States have adopted this method of supporting indigent old folks suggests that it is an improvement over the obsolete "poorhouse system." In the first place, it is more satisfactory to the majority of aged citizens who are in need of help. A small pension which permits them to go on living in their own way tends to preserve their self-respect and their contact with friends and those associations which are of particular importance in old age. In the second place, the experience of the States indicates that it costs less to care for indigents of this type in their homes than in institutions, unless they are in need of special treatment.

A flexible arrangement under which pensions could be adjusted to actual needs seems to be preferred. To guard against abuse it doubtless would be well to fix a maximum beyond which no payments could be made. But this is a mere detail which can be worked out without difficulty. The important thing is that no sound argument has been advanced against the projected legislation, and that cogent reasoning has been brought to its support from many different sources. Prompt action by the Senate District Committee would be especially helpful in centering attention on this measure before it is caught in the legislative jam which invariably characterizes the last few weeks of a Congressional session.

Facing Debt Realities.

Failure of the British Government to make budgetary provision for payments on the war debt owing to this country causes no surprise. Last year small "token" payments were transferred, although they were not included in the regular budgetary estimates. President Roosevelt accepted these payments, and those of other countries that followed the British example, and indicated that the governments tendering them would not be considered to be in default.

However, the new Johnson Act has operated to destroy any incentive that may have existed to continue the system of token payments. This law forbids financial transactions with any foreign government "in default in payment of its obligations or any part thereof." As Finland is the only debtor who has paid in full, all others are officially and indiscriminately classified as defaulters.

This tech denunciation of the system of token payments has at least stripped away the polite pretenses that have to some extent obscured the realities of the situation. Its passage may, therefore, hasten reconsideration of the war debt problems. Prohibitions upon loans floated in the United States for account of defaulting governments have already created embarrassments in commercial negotiations with Russia and seem certain to lead to further complications in the near future. Creditor, defaulters and partial defaulters are alike in need of a really final adjustment which will permit normal financial intercourse to be resumed on a friendly basis.

Revision Without Prejudice.

The Administration's essential problem with regard to the Securities Act is to make it workable, which it is not at present. Neither the advertised purpose of the legislation, nor the published observations of its advocates, support the argument that it is really designed to cripple the investment market and make the recovery of industry more difficult. Yet from those competent to judge there is complete unanimity to the effect that this, rather than the protection of investors against fraud or slipshod financing, is its effect.

There are several reasons why the country as a whole has been slow to react against continuation of the measure in its present form. To begin with, the subject is technical and there has been a natural and proper disposition to disbelieve that legislation with many desirable features is in its sum socially undesirable. Further, there is little general realization that the act was passed, during the emergency session, without any real consideration or criticism of its merits. Finally the criticism of the measure as unworkable has naturally emanated in the first instance from those associated with the investment market, who are not disinterested adversaries.

It is now being realized, however, that indictment of critics of the securities act as "tools of Wall Street" is very shortsighted. As the inquiry recently made by The Post has shown, testimony as to the blocking of industrial development by this law is unanimous among business men with no speculative interests. The protest of business, of course, is directed equally to the interests of labor. Private industry can not be expected to give employment when unable to finance itself. Again, as pointed out by a contributor elsewhere on this page today, the stagnation which has set in is one which intimately affects the prospects of agricultural recovery.

Under the circumstances it is clear that revision of the securities act, now promised, should be done with the foresight and economic understanding which were noticeable by their absence in the original drafting of the measure. To entrust revisions to the sole control of those who approved the present act is obviously unpromising. It was drawn with emphasis on punishment. Unless unprejudiced viewpoints are obtained in the work of rewriting, the mischief which has been done will continue and will, of course, be augmented with the passage of time.

Let The Courts Decide.

A second attempt is being made to secure legal adjudication of the dispute resulting from cancellation of the air-mail contracts. Several weeks ago a suit designed to compel the Government to abide by the terms of an air-mail contract was dismissed in New York. The law does not permit an individual to sue the Government without its consent. In the present case the suits are filed against Postmaster General Farley as an individual, on the ground that he acted contrary to law in ordering annulment of the contracts and thereby inflicted damages upon the complaining transport companies.

The chief significance of these suits is that they tend to bring to a head the imbroglio resulting from cancellation of the air-mail contracts. At least some of the companies that were condemned without trial are coming forth to demand their rights. It is not certain that the controversy can be aired in open court by this means. The Administration may once more hide behind its legal immunity to suit. But if it does so, and if the court rules that the action against Mr. Farley is really a suit aimed at the Government, the effect will only be to emphasize the tyrannical manner in which the whole air-mail issue has been handled.

After cancelling these contracts in an arbitrary manner, Mr. Farley denied the victimized companies a legal hearing. After the Army had failed as a mail carrier, Mr. Farley advertised for bids on a basis that would exclude the former contractors. Now that some of the transport companies have taken the initiative in bringing the controversy again before the courts, the Administration can scarcely cling to these high-handed policies.

Administration leaders in the Senate finally agreed to permit the air-mail companies to file claims arising out of the cancellation order, after an attempt to penalize companies prosecuting such claims had been vigorously condemned throughout the country. But suits of this kind are contingent upon enactment of the McKellar-Black bill, which is buried in a fog of controversy. By the time this bill is enacted, if it is enacted, new contracts may have been let. The suits filed yesterday place squarely before the Administration the question of whether the injured companies will be permitted to have a day in court before a new set-up in the air-mail field is created.

The Stalin Of Zion City.

Vulgarly known as "Flat-Earth Wilbur," because he will not tolerate the spherical conception of our world, W. Glenn Voliva, of Zion City, Ill., had, through long and painful years, been cultivating these ideals of dictatorship bequeathed him by Elijah Dowie. There were murmurs; he silenced them. Was there an incipient revolt? He would crush it. Then came an election to the school board. Overseer Voliva announced that, if his candidates were not elected, he would "crack the town wide open." His candidates were not elected. Voliva simply closed the schools.

A local preacher belonging to some sect independent of the overseer's following, telegraphed a protest to the State superintendent of schools, the State superintendent replied—probably collect—that, since the schools in question belonged to the Overseer's sect, only that sect's overseer could reopen them. In this opinion the county superintendent concurred, and Wilbur Glenn Voliva certainly concurred in it. So the State is powerless, and the county is powerless, and Zion City is schoolless—and its boys and girls are happy.

A promising candidate for the Stalin of the Writ Revolution would seem to be Wilbur Glenn Voliva.

Not Frozen But Lost.

The McLeod bill, which authorizes the R. F. C. to purchase the assets of closed banks and pay depositors in full, is meeting with strong opposition. President Roosevelt has shown good judgment and political courage by definitely rejecting the proposal, while Secretary Morgenthau has recently been unsparing in his attacks.

The Secretary of the Treasury has emphasized the large and uncertain costs of the plan, the dangerous political precedent which its passage would establish, and the legal complications which it would create. Chairman Jones of the R. F. C. has been more terse but quite as vigorous in his criticisms. Following a conference with the President at which Representative McLeod was present, he said: "I have repeatedly declared I did not see how this legislation could be justified. A great many of the assets are not, as popularly supposed, frozen. They are lost." Mr. Jones has good reason to realize this. He himself adds that the R. F. C. has loaned $750,000,000 to free deposits and in many instances loans have been made not on present-day values but on prospective values.

This frank admission by the Chairman of the R. F. C. ought to rout those who glibly assert that the Government has been ultra-conservative in its loan policies, and further maintain that it would lose little by taking over the assets of closed banks for gradual liquidation. Secretary Morgenthau's testimony on this point supports that of Mr. Jones. He points to the experience of a representative group of 100 closed national banks as of December 31, 1933. Investigation disclosed an average deficiency of 44 per cent in their assets against deposit liabilities alone. It is a safe guess that the unliquidated assets of the National banks and the state banks now closed would contain a percentage of total losses that would greatly exceed this average.

No future business recovery, however extensive it may be, can restore value to assets based on worthless property, goods no longer in demand, and liabilities contracted for enterprises forever vanished. The debris left from a great depression can not be neatly salvaged. It represents many heavy and permanent losses. There is not the slightest justification for forcing the Federal Government, through the R. F. C., to assume a large part of the irrecoverable banking losses of recent years for the sake of a small percentage of the population. Depositors in closed banks have no more right than their fellow citizens to demand compensation for their special losses at the expense of taxpayers already overburdened.

A New Employment Index.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor has revised its indices of factory employment and pay rolls for the period from January 1, 1919, to March, 1934. The changes, which follow the recommendations of a committee appointed by the American Statistical Association, enlarge the scope of the reporting service. They also enable it to reflect long-time trends more accurately by shifting the base period from a single year, 1926, to the three-year period—1923-25.

The changes, together with the addition of more than 100,000 reporting firms to the bureau's list, enable the indices to reflect with greater fidelity the trend of employment and pay rolls. The modifications should be welcomed in the interests of greater accuracy and more comprehensive reporting of employment conditions in a country which has scandalously little exact knowledge on these fundamental matters.

It is extremely unfortunate that improvements in methods of compiling and presenting data made with the advice of statistical experts, are being criticized because the revisions result in a somewhat more favorable picture of employment and pay roll conditions. Since the changes and the reasons for them have both been publicly announced, innuendo is misplaced as well as unfair. As the revised indices present a truer picture of actual conditions than the old ones, congratulations instead of criticism would be more seemly. The change initiated by Secretary Perkins and Dr. Lubin, the able Commissioner of Labor Statistics, is properly to be taken as an important step in the effort to develop dependable statistical information on major industrial problems.

Mile Posts

A Parade of the Past From the Files of The Post.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

GEN. HUERTA openly defied President Wilson's ultimatum to salute the American flag, which brought about a tense situation and a possibility of war with Mexico. The flower of the American Army was concentrated at Galveston, ready to invade Mexico. Transports stood by to convey troops to Vera Cruz and the entire Atlantic Fleet was assembling off Tampico.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

THE SENATE Foreign Relations Committee delegated a sub-committee of five, headed by Senator Pepper (Republican), Pennsylvania, to conduct hearings and report on the proposed United States participation in the World Court.

INSTRUCTIONS TO "fight if any attempt was made to reduce wages or lengthen working hours" was ordered by the United Textile Workers of America in Boston.

The Experimenter.

The Securities Act and Agriculture

By Axel B. Gravem.

THE Securities Act of 1933 has received critical comment from bankers, industrialists and lawyers, but scant attention has been paid to its possible effects upon the agricultural phase of our national economy. It has been pointed out that bankers have refused to underwrite capital flotations in view of the undue and unfair risks imposed upon them by the restrictions of that law, and the questionnaire sent throughout the country by The Washington Post has revealed that industrialists and business men have uniformly refused to finance sound and needed projects in the face of the unusual liabilities imposed on the insurers of securities. The result may fairly be stated to be that the heavy industries, the makers of "producer's goods," are at a standstill in so far as needed expansion is concerned.

One of the important distinctions between the progress being made in the United States under the "New Deal" and the economic convalescence taking place in England appears to be that in the latter country the heavy industries are enjoying prosperity which is reflected in those industries which produce "consumer's goods," while with us the heavy industries are stagnant and the enterprises which provide consumables are actually prospering due to the deflating out of CWA and agricultural bonus money.

That this is a decidedly unhealthy condition is readily apparent. As soon as the pump of public money is empty this artificial prosperity is very likely to cease, leaving a huge debt remaining to be paid and with the heavy industries still in a moribund condition. This is a dangerous condition which the country can not afford to overlook. It should be corrected at once through sound amendment of the Securities Act.

What is the condition in England which has been favorable to this economic convalescence? In the first place, there is no securities act in England in the sense that we know it here. The Companies Act, corresponding to our State incorporation statutes, is sufficiently broad to permit the flotation of all proper securities, while the common law relating to fraud is invoked to prevent the excesses which our Securities Act is designed to make impossible.

Lord Kylsant, one of the largest shipowners of the British Empire, served two years in jail for not stating in a prospectus what he should not have omitted. His offense was not punished because of the violation of a strict, regulatory enactment, but because he violated the fundamental common law of the realm.

THE above is not pertinent to the act to agriculture, but it serves to show that a strict code, such as the act is, and one which goes far beyond any law in England relating to the sale of securities, can not bring about the result so earnestly desired by our President.

The Securities Act, in common with so many of the legislative enactments of the "New Deal" does not appear to have been carefully considered in its relation to the complicated mosaic of our industrial, agricultural and financial structure. Too little attention was paid to the question of whether or not the enactment would fit into a homogeneous fabric. Perhaps this is entirely excusable in view of the short time within which all of this momentous legislation was passed. It has been said that not over 30 hours of debate was had in Congress on all of this important legislation affecting banking, agriculture and business in general. It is not surprising that an adjustment must be had, that the parts of the "New Deal" must settle to their foundations and that corrections and additions must be made here and there to form the perfect model. The necessity for these adjustments and amendments becomes more clear with intelligent reaction from the affected interests, and it is certain that the President desires that the draftsmanship of the legislation should be fitted to economic necessities.

The farmer has often been accused of being ignorant, while the truth of the matter is probably that "he knows too many things that ain't so"—in common with most of us. The poor down-trodden farmer has always let everyone else but the farmer help him by means of legislation, bonuses, plowing under, and many other means of financial uplifting. He has been told, time and again, by altruistic helpers, that he is the salt of the earth, the basis of all prosperity and the foundation upon which the good of the entire country rests.

These truisms are all accurate, but it appears that no one has attempted to show the intimate connection between the welfare of the farmer and the facility with which securities may be issued and sold for sound enterprises. This is not surprising, in view of the fact that no one has yet been able to prove to the citizen of Oshkosh that there is a definite relationship between his prosperity and happenings in London or other distant places. Even the drastic falling off in our foreign trade does not seem to have brought this question to the proper focus of understanding.

It is suggested that a workable and acceptable securities act will place approximately 4,000,000 persons in gainful employment. There are hundreds, in fact, thousands, of enterprises which are clamoring for the opportunity to issue and sell sound securities.

In order to do these things men and women are required to make the machines, draw designs, sell the goods, operate the machines and manage the projects. In turn, materials of construction will be required, such as lumber, textiles, paints, varnishes, &c. All of these materials are the product of agriculture to a greater or lesser degree. There is an intimate and close connection between the operation of factories in Pittsburgh and the production of wool in Montana and lumbering industries of Maine and elsewhere. Unless the securities to finance the capax goods creation are sold, there is no money with which to buy the raw materials of agriculture.

A CLOSER connection between the farmer and the securities law is perhaps found in another direction. If it is true that several millions of people could be given gainful employment in the heavy industries, it is likewise true that the wages earned would provide a pool of tremendous purchasing power. People who are now destitute, thousands who are now on relief rolls, and the millions who have been CWA beneficiaries would have money to spend for necessities as well as to satisfy wants which are not necessities. This means an insistent and immediate demand for the products of agriculture. There would be little necessity for plowing under corn and cotton, less demand would be heard for regimentation by economic experimentalists and the natural products of the soil would find an outlet in sound economic channels based on the purchasing power of wages paid for productive purposes.

Four million persons, now idle, on a pay roll at $5 per day means an annual pay roll of $6,000,000,000, based on 300 working days per year. Unquestionably, a substantial portion of this would be spent in the consumption of products of the soil and produce a leverage of incalculable value for the farmer. Such a means of raising purchasing power is far more sound and justified than paying a dole to the farmer or paying him rent for unused land! Furthermore, this is money in economic circulation which is not produced out of national or individual indebtedness. The resources for this purpose arise out of the accumulated savings of millions of individuals, invested in sound enterprises and made available to the farmer in the form of demand for his products.

The Securities Act does not need a great deal of amendment to make it workable and a cohesive part of our economic fabric. The teeth can still remain in it to guard against fraud and deception, but the unduly rigorous and far-reaching liability restrictions should be tempered to comply with the reasonable risks which an honest business man is willing to assume. In this the farmer can be of great help. He should advise his Representatives in Congress that he is suffering because 4,000,000 at least of his fellow citizens who buy from him are suffering that his customers are prevented from dealing with him and that those customers should be placed in a position where they can buy from him. The farmer should not let his battle be fought from Wall Street.

That section of our community appears to have lost its day in court and, no matter how sound its claim may be, it is not heard. There is a conviction in the minds and hearts of the American people that Wall Street is responsible for all of our troubles and that consequently if Wall Street asks for help it is to be laughed at. It is probably true that no attention should be paid to its demands to be allowed to continue in its former path; that situation seems to be taken care of in the proposed amendment to the act. Nevertheless, Congress, in its zeal "to spank Wall Street," has also spanked the farmer, the business man and industrialist to the great damage of the entire country.

This, of course, Congress did not intend to do, but unless the affected interests make their injury known in a definite manner there is no likelihood of a correction being made.

Congress has listened with a deaf ear to the plaint of Wall Street and the investment bankers upon whose heads the first effects of the Securities Act fell. These complaints were not heard, even though Wall Street and the bankers argued soundly against the damage being done to business in general and even though the arguments were presented in perfect form and substance. It was perhaps assumed that any arguments coming from that source should be disregarded on the theory that the spanking to Wall Street was richly deserved and that the sudden regard of that community for other interests was accompanied with the proverbial tongue in cheek. Now that the awakening has come from the substantial business interests of the country some regret is being shown at Wall Street being allowed to be the spokesman for the entire country against the unnecessary and restrictive provisions of the act, as it can not be said that the protest against the act has been handled in any wise manner by the banking fraternity.

The farmer now has the opportunity to be heard as a class definitely harmed by the operation of the act. Concerned action should be had to show that a proper securities act is a necessary part of the chain of industrial and agricultural prosperity; that no part of our economic structure can be divorced from the others and that the well-being of one section has a definite and clear relationship to the others, of which the agricultural community is one. It appears to be a clear example of the old adage: "Help thou thy brother's bark across and lo, thine own has reached the shore."

The Post Impressionist

Nude Or Natural?

Postoffice, Thursday.

Somebody is always trying to involve us in controversy! But nobody will succeed.

Today comes this letter from Mrs. Lela Kestler, of brilliantly named Argonne Place, enclosing a clipping from Our Own Newspaper about the authorities' indecision over what kind of murals ought to adorn the new Postoffice (U. S. A.) Department Building and instructing:

"The public should be allowed some voice, for, after all, the public have to look at the art! As a people, we resort to laissez faire (I found that expression in the dictionary) and, when the deed is done, complain. Could not you, my dear Mr. Impressionist, be inveigled into an expression of opinion?"

The answer is: We could not! And, upon further reflection, why should we be? For Mrs. Kestler herself seems a little more than competent to "expose" both sides of the existing debate.

The question, she points out, is whether Classicism or Realism, the partially undraped or the wholly clothed, ought to prevail, and she proceeds:

"The proper passion of an artist is to show us to ourselves as we are. It is only by knowing what he is, and of what he is capable, that a man can respect himself. Art is great according to the honesty or dishonesty which is brought to the business of interpretation between men and life. It will either make you more conscious of the world in which you live, or it will blind you with dreams and deafen you with idle song. . . .

"We are so sunk in life that we are aware only of events as they rush past us; we run away from life and, with pen and brush, glorify the past or an unreal present. The real present hardly ever exists for us. We should wrestle with it, not merely in order to expose it, but in hope of changing it to something related to the inner life. . . . All real art, like every other human activity, is the expression of a mind and a spirit—the mind which receives the experience and of the spirit which shapes it."

Well, there you are. In our ignorance, we thought there was some great art with the sole mission of pleasing, and some good people who "don't want any picture 'dreams and idle song.' However, Mrs. Kestler has the floor:

"Naturally," she writes, "Delano & Aldrich, the architects who designed the new Postoffice Department Building along classic lines, would want classicism for decorative purposes inside the building. . . . (But) it would seem that as a nation we are old enough to develop a style of our own. . . .

Mrs. Kestler appears to regret that "the medieval mind still bulks large in what is generally called the civilized modern mind." However, she admits that painted Realism is still some distance from popularity.

"It is quite true," she says, "that symbolic paintings would have a tendency to keep our minds, if not our bodies, in touch with mother earth and its fertility, since we have never seen, and rarely picture, the well-clothed statues of the real world—such as 'What We Did to the Indians' or 'What the Indians Did to Us'—'What We Did With Machines' or 'What Machines Did With Us'—wouldn't be desirable after, since the truth is the last thing the majority want."

"Men have a habit of forgetting to mail letters. What would they not forget with buxom undraped females, waving palm-leaves, scattered around those walls? I have often wondered about the significance of the well-clothed statues of men in our parks, with undraped women hovering around the bases."

It was Mr. Edward Bruce, director of the "employed artists," who said: "I don't want any picture of ladies in cheesecloth, clutching letters and postcards, to go into that building." Mrs. Kestler calls his attitude "real and American."

Says she: "We might ring in a realistic nudist camp, which after all is a revolt against our unnatural, neurotic civilization. We need the sun and light. . . . badly. Sight has been lost of everything basic. We swing around in the treetops like monkeys expecting things to right themselves at the roots—the revolt against consciousness when a new social order is in the making. The enthusiasm of mankind is for the past or the future—never for the present."

Now, we are not going to quarrel with Mr. Bruce, knowing something of his ability to put across whatever plan interests him. And we certainly aren't going to quarrel with Mrs. Kestler, because we never yet knew a man to get right save one thing out of her: that was the worst of it. We aren't even going to let Mr. Bruce know whether or not we think his realist's pictures portray the present. We aren't going to give Mrs. Kestler cause to believe that we ourselves prefer the future or the past. We are just going to quote a couple of phrases we heard passing between two ragged men on a park-bench the other day.

One said: "Bill, you don't seem very cheerful about present conditions."

And the other said: "Well, look at the damned things!"

Along the Potomac

With Carlisle Bergeron

It is usual with the critics of our theatrical performances that are all centering upon Dr. Wirt, the star of the farce just enacted, and overlooking, in my opinion, one of the cast who has all sorts of possibilities. Now, of course, one would not expect them to give much attention to the members of the chorus, Miss Barrows, Miss Kneeland, Miss Taylor and Dr. Bruere. All they did after Dr. Wirt finished his song and left the stage, was to come forward in the ensemble chanting "No, no, no."

But Mr. David Cushman Peck, in addition to his work in the chorus, had a speaking part. Frequently, you know, a particularly talented member of the chorus, is given a line or so of a speaking part for which he or she, as the case may be, receives an extra $10 or so a week.

It was only a small extra part that Mr. Coyle had, it is true, but to me it was particularly good. It was as a matter of fact, the one sparkle of the second act. Along with the rest of the chorus he stepped aside from the rest of the ensemble, he added: "I stayed awake all of the evening."

I am afraid this line was lost in the extravaganza of the play, but say what you will, it was downright clever. Nothing was better timed, or better aimed at the hero—in all of the dialogue of the first act, setting up the plot, and of the chorus of the second act tearing it down, this, I believe frankly, was the richest line.

The chorus had chanted, of course, that the good doctor did all of the talking, but Mr. Coyle's single-handed contribution that he stayed awake deserves a big hand.

I bring this out so that in the event this show is taken on the road Mr. Coyle will be given his chance to play an even greater part. He gives every appearance of having real talent. As a matter of fact, an understudy should be developed for Dr. Wirt's role. It is unusually exacting. It is as exacting, I think, as the lead role in "Strange Interlude" which, I have either been told or read in some theatrical magazine, were three women down.

You can appreciate the real worth of Mr. Coyle's line about keeping awake when you know that he is listed in "Who's Who" as an authority on wind resistance.

The fact is, of course, that he went to this show with a wealth of theatrical experience and tradition. Ever since the inception of the New Deal he has been serving with what I think is one of the most delightful presentations in town, Mr. Ickes and his PWA. Next to Crack-Down Johnson and the NRA, I readily commend it to the visiting alienist. So much rivalry exists between the two that I am reluctant in making a first choice. The best thing to do is to see both of them.

The very definite impression is that Mr. Ickes himself was just itching to get in the Wirt case. He gave out a statement saying that the good doctor had come to the PWA for funds with which to build a roller coaster in his home town. It developed that this was not the case at all, so it must have been that Mr. Ickes was simply trying to show the producers how good he was.

There is no reason, however, why he should be disappointed over not being selected because Mr. Coyle's selection and his subsequent performance do credit to the excellency of the Ickes' school. On the question of training, in fact, I feel no hesitation in recommending Mr. Ickes over Crack-Down. It seems to be Crack-Down's purpose to keep his subordinates in the chorus. At least they show no individuality.

Mr. Ickes with his $300,000,000 show, nevertheless, gives considerable time to individual instruction. On one occasion I understand he called his subordinates before him and lectured them at length against spitting in front of him. The thought was, I suppose, that the worst of the two that I am reluctant to look good in the building program.

Capital Will See
New Diesel Train

The Zephyr, America's first Diesel-powered, stream-lined train, built of stainless steel for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, will be on exhibition at the Union Station Saturday from noon until midnight.

Capable of a speed of 2 miles a minute, the new passenger carrier will be sent to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, and later placed in regular service in the Middle West. Exhibition of the train at the Union Station was first scheduled for 8 a. m. until 10 p. m. Saturday, but a change in the hours was announced yesterday.

Built by the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Co., of Philadelphia, the Zephyr was christened in ceremonies at Broad Street Station, there yesterday. It will be on exhibition there today, and then begin a tour of the Eastern Seaboard.

Deal School to Bar
New Nonresidents

Congestion Issue Brings Ballot Ruling.

Nonresident pupils will not be admitted to the Alice Deal Junior High School in Chevy Chase after July 1, the board of education decided yesterday on recommendation of Superintendent Frank W. Ballou, because of increasing congestion. Nonresidents now enrolled will not be affected.

Dr. Ballou warned that with the number of new elementary pupils who will enter the school next year, accommodations will be overtaxed. The school now has more children than it should accommodate and 200 are being cared for in six classrooms at the Murch School. The policy of not admitting nonresidents has already been enforced at the Western High School and Gordon Junior High. Nonresidents may apply for enrollment at schools not under the ban.

Standley to Watch
Fleet in Maneuvers

Admiral William H. Standley, chief of Naval Operations, will leave New York for Panama on the steamship Virginia Saturday to witness the fleet's operations in its forthcoming problem in the Caribbean. According to the Associated Press, Standley will leave the fleet at Guantanamo Bay May 14 and return to Washington by airplane.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips.

IMAGINARY INTERVIEWS.
(No. 4578—Samuel Insull, Abroad Ship.)

Q. Well, Mr. Insull, how does it feel to be sailing west for a change?
A. Oh, I've been ferrying around the Mediterranean so much I've lost all sense of direction.

Q. Are you a good sailor?
A. Oh, yes. All my life I have been accustomed to big rolls.

Q. Tell me, how does it feel to be a fugitive?
A. I'm not a fugitive. I'm a tourist being retorted by Homer Cummings.

Q. Would you mind giving us your impressions of Europe?
A. Young man, were you ever on a merry-go-round during a hurricane with nobody who could speak your language except bloodhounds?

Q. What did you think of Greece?
A. There's a country, my boy! Talk about hospitality! The high court, there ruled that I was an old Greek and not exportable.

Q. It had heard of your turning power, perhaps?
A. There you go again. Ah, the isles of Greece, the isles of Greece! Q. You were popular there, I take it?

A. Popular? I had 'em standing in the isles.
Q. Is it true you were offered the portfolio of economic adviser to the Greek government?

A. I could have had it for a song. Q. Why didn't you make the deal?
A. All my old opera singers had left me flat.

Q. Do you think yourself an expert in Greek finance?
A. Ask anybody who has tried to go over my books!

Q. What do you think of Turkey?
A. I think it's the only country that will ever catch Dillinger!

Q. Have you any regrets over your sea travels, Mr. Insull?
A. Yes, indeed; in fact, I'm sorry I took to the water at all.

Q. Why?
A. I could have covered the same distance on an iceboat on my frozen assets.

UTILITIES PROBE BEGINS.
Of all said words, these will be the cup.

"They didn't burn those letters up!"
Ima Dodo is indignant over that tax on coconut oil. She says hair tonics are too expensive as it is.

Why should Mr. Curry object to quitting that job of his? He can always get a job if he sees Tammany about it. Can't he?

(Copyright, 1934, Associated Newspapers.)
Wallace's AAA Costs Juggled, Says Dickinson

Iowa Senator Points Out Secretary Forgot Items in Recent Defense.

(Associated Press.)
Senator Dickinson (Republican), Iowa, told the Senate yesterday that Secretary Wallace failed to include expenditures in reporting that the Agriculture Adjustment Administration had collected $9,000,000 more than it cost.

Wallace, in a recent reply to a previous attack by Dickinson, quoted from the Treasury statement of March 30 that expenditures for that date amounted to $223,927,000.

"The Secretary failed to take into account the emergency expenditures found on the same page amounting to $80,762,000," Dickinson said.

The Iowa Senator said Wallace likewise failed to include additional emergency expenditures of $78,315,096.55 advanced to the Farm Credit Administration, the Commodity Credit Corporation and other similar groups, as well as a direct appropriation of $100,000,000 for administrative expenses.

"If the brain trusters are no better in formulating safe economic theories for social reform and financial planning than they are in taking into account all of the necessities in figuring out a financial statement," Dickinson said, "how long will it take the brain trusters to become the Nation's busters?"

Student Flier Leaps, Forgets 'Chute, Dies

Denver, April 18 (P).—Marion Marymoe, 23, student flier from Springfield, Colo., killed today when he fell 2,000 feet after jumping from an airplane that stalled while he was receiving instructions from Col. Carlos L. Reavis, of the Colorado National Guard Air Corps. Reavis jumped with a parachute and landed safely.

"Marymoe never pulled his ripcord," Reavis said, adding that he had put the plane into a spin so he could instruct Marymoe how to handle the craft in such an emergency.

Wirt talked for hours with only one sentence of conversation by anyone else.

"Considering the records of some of those present at that party, I submit that it is reasonable to believe that if more than one sentence had been uttered, he would have been criticized of the American form of government and society," he said.

The National Gallery

PAT (BYRON PATTON) HARRISON, Senator from Mississippi. Born 42 years ago at Crystal Springs, Miss. Educated in public schools of Crystal Springs and Louisiana State University. Began law practice, Leesville, Miss., 1902; now at Gulfport, Miss. Served as district attorney for six years, resigning to accept nomination to Sixty-second Congress. Member thereafter until Sixty-fifth Congress. Elected to U. S. Senate, 1918, for term ending 1925. Re-elected 1924, 1930, for term ending 1937. Superficial. Capable of good forensics, but doesn't say much. Fond penchant for word "proposition." Because his tax bill speech didn't contain said word, observers concluded speech was "ghosted" by tax experts. Hasn't been quite happy since sun set for Smoot of Utah. Sharp, vitriolic, dangerous in debate. Favorite sport: Sparring with Long.

Don't Attend a Church Social If Looking for a Drink

By Robert Quillen

At one of the great universities there is a building that houses students from all nations. Nordics, Asiatics and Africans live together in friendship and equality.

If a white girl gives one of the "colored" students a date, many another court her favor. If she refuses the first, thereafter she is politely ignored by all of them.

When an individual complains that fate has given him an unfavorable environment, he means uncongenial associates.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

Wherever you go, you will find the kind of people you look for.

But an adult outside of prison is seldom, if ever, constrained to associate with the kind of people he doesn't like.

William Lyon Phelps

Daily Talk About Books and Authors.

The Nineteenth of April.

On April 19, 1775, the war for American independence began at Concord and Lexington, Mass. Provisions and arms had been stored in the village of Concord, and British soldiers marched there to seize them. Shots were exchanged between the English regulars and the American minutemen. As the former retreated toward Lexington, the minutemen—who were accustomed to shoot squirrels with rifles—poured a withering fire along the road into the searier uniforms.

The place where the first British soldiers were killed is marked in Concord by a granite shaft, completed in 1837; while across the river stands a beautiful statue in bronze of the Minute-Man, the work of the late sculptor, Daniel Chester French, who was born in Concord.

On the Fourth of July 1837, at Concord, Ralph Waldo Emerson's "Concord Hymn" was sung. It is one of the very few instances where a poem written for a particular occasion displays such creative genius that it takes on immortality. It is interesting also, should be the author of a poem commemorating a bloody conflict. But the poem is really dedicated to the spirit of independence; and perhaps no individual ever had more of that spirit than Emerson.

Concord Hymn.

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,

Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,

Here once the embattled farmers stood,

And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept;

All that the conqueror silent sleeps;

And time the ruined bridge has swept

Down the dark stream which seaward creeps.

On this green bank, by this soft stream,

Wet with today's votive stone;

That memory may their dead redeem—

When, like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit, that made those heroes dare

To die and leave their children free,

Big Time and Nature gently spare

The shaft we raise to them and thee.

Tomorrow—Francis Richard Stockton.

U. S. Keeps Factor As Tough Witness

England Not to Get Him if He's Needed Here.

Secretary Hull does not intend to issue an extradition warrant for the return to England of John (Jake the Barber) Factor while there is a reasonable possibility he may be needed as a witness in a retrial of the Touhy gang in Chicago, the Associated Press reports.

R. Walton Moore, Assistant Secretary of State, said yesterday the department also would express no opinion on the contention by Factor's lawyers that he would be entitled to final release unless extradited within 60 days.

Bishop Asks Congress For Larger C. M. T. C.

Ralph C. Bishop, secretary of the Civilian Military Education Fund, yesterday urged members of the House District Committee to support an amendment to the War Department appropriations bill to provide 30 days' summer training in C. M. T. C. camps for 37,500 youths.

If the amendment is rejected, he said, only 14,000 will be given the training this summer.

McAdoo, Ill With Cold, Goes to Naval Hospital

Senator William Gibbs McAdoo (Democrat), California, was ill in the Naval Hospital yesterday after being absent from the Senate floor for several days.

At McAdoo's office, it was said his illness was not serious, but was due to a cold. It was explained that because of the Naval Hospital to receive more adequate treatment than could be obtained in his hotel.

Gag 'Em? Yes!

Need Rule Now and Then, Says McDuffie.

When it comes to gag rules Representative McDuffie (Democrat), Alabama, believes the "honors" are about even on the Democratic and Republican sides, according to the Associated Press.

Addressing the House after objection had been raised to gag rule, the Alabama said:

"Sometimes it is necessary in a body as large as this to have gag rules. The party charged with responsibility should not be embarrassed in discharging that responsibility, and often is called upon to do these things which it does not especially enjoy doing, such as operating under gag rules."

McDuffie disagreed with certain House members as to the publication in newspapers of the names of members who sign petitions to have certain measures discharged from committee and brought to the House floor.

"If it is against any rule of this House to publish names of those who sign a petition let us abandon that rule," he said.

Style Show Presented At Teachers College

A joint style show for men and women was presented at Wilson Teachers College yesterday, under the auspices of Gerald Grosner and Frank R. Jelliff.

The exhibitions, which began promptly at 4 p. m., formed a part of the course in art appreciation, and students served as models. Miss D. B. Kaib is art teacher at the college.

No End of Books

By Theodore Hall

DEAR MR. HALL: Of course I enjoy your column, although my wife reads it aloud to me every morning at breakfast. But out of the dozens of books you report on, isn't there one you don't like? Isn't there a single book you downright disapprove of? This one is "bright and tense," that one is "able and skillful." So far as I know you haven't said "powerful" yet—but I expect it any day. . . .

Sincerely yours, R. J. L.

Now that's a letter to get a man's dander up and send him looking through the office scrapbook! I find there's a certain truth in Mr. L.'s valued remarks, though it strikes me I don't speak so kindly of "Harriet" or "Kaleidoscope," or even yesterday of Mrs. Reid's biography of Wilson. But let that pass—I've a couple of powerful bad books before me which I shall now romp on, I trust, to Mr. L.'s content.

Alexander Cannon, M. D., D. P. M., Ph. D., M. A., F. R. G. S., &c., is "the head of a noted London institution" not specified. He is the author of a book on hypnotism, coauthor of books on psychology, THEO. HALL, and neurology. He is also the author of the book in hand, "The Invisible Influence" (Dutton, $1.50), which I beg to call one of the tidiest collections of guff, stuff and nonsense I have ever laid eyes on.

The book, viewed very broadly indeed, appears to be the record of a trip Dr. Cannon made to India and Tibet. He had for companions "the sage" and a "one-armed Knight Commander of the Order of the Right Hand," symbolic of the fact that he could destroy the power of the "Order of the Left Hand" or the black magician—he had long ago had his left arm removed by a means which could not be accounted for, humanly speaking. With these two rather nebulous figures he holds long talks on mystical subjects. On their way to see the Great Llama, Dr. Cannon and "the sage" came to a gulf 300 feet deep and 50 feet across. "The Knight Commander," who happened to be on the other side, told them how to cross over by the "levitation and transportation phenomena." Writes Dr. Cannon: "Within the course of a few hours we had made our bodily state of place by pure mental effort; and in another moment of time we were both landed safely on the other side." Golly!

In the presence of the Great Llama—"who had a bluish emanation of about three inches covering the surface of his body"—a coffin was brought in holding a body. "There was no pulse, no audible heart-beats; the body was stone cold, and the eyes were as one dead for more than one day. I tested the absence of breath by means of a mirror. . . . Then the Great Llama uttered words in a language which was strange and behind the eyes of the corpse opened, and then, assisted by two monks, it walked toward the Grand Llama."

Now it seems to me, when a writer comes forward under such alphabetically scientific auspices as does Dr. Cannon, that he should try to prove his case with as much regard for fact as possible. But there is in the book not a single date relative to the avowed journey; there is not a single place name of any sharper definition than Bombay, India, and Tibet; the corroborative witnesses are veiled in allegory; and collateral authorities are called "Col. X" and "Mr. Justice" of the High Court of Justice. Which makes it pretty tight indeed. My own hunch is that Dr. Cannon had a long day.

And yet it is not this fabulous journey to which I object. What raises the gorge in my throat is the endless semireligious, quasi-mystic, pseudo-scientific chatter about the "great truths" of Yoga, Black Magic, astrology, numerology, palmistry, crystal-gazing, telepathy, animal magnetism, Pythagorean vibrations, clairvoyance, and all the other pap which so delights the simple and trusting. From internal evidence alone Dr. Cannon's book is absurd. I was about to say laughable, but you can't call it laughable when ostensibly intelligent people are likely to believe him.

There is one hard and true thing to say of such beliefs. I quote from Dr. W. Bern Wolfe's "How to Be Happy Though Human":

My sole bright moment came when I found one of the illustrations printed upside down.

My other nomination for oblivion is William Joyce Cowen's "Man With Four Lives" (Farrar & Rinehart, $2). It's a tale—put in the mouth of a stock Englishman, all chop-choppy sentences, man-to-man style—about a young fellow in the war who goes mad after killing the same German three times and seeing him alive afterward. Yes, there were four German brothers.

My sole bright moment came when I found one of the illustrations printed upside down.

Code Chief to Address Better Business Parley

Rollin A. Wilbur, managing director of the investment banking code authority, will be the speaker at a mass meeting sponsored by the Better Business Bureau, at 4 p. m. Monday at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint the public with the protective features of the investment banking code, which becomes effective Monday. F. G. Addison, Jr., president of the Security Savings & Commercial Bank, and chairman of the board of the Better Business Bureau, will preside. The meeting is open to the public.

The Mode Says

You Never Dreamed of Buying

Glenbrook Suits

For $25.75

You can, if you buy right away. It's a special price for the standard Glenbrook value—but it won't continue long.

Plenty of Bi-sings, in tweeds and shetlands; also single and double breasted in new worsted patterns.

Glenbrook Suits are hand tailored—you can tell that the minute you examine them; and their famous goodness is sewed into every seam. All sizes, with personalized details of fit.

Surprise No. 2—

Glenbrook Topcoats, $21.75

There will be many an occasion between now and snow-time when you need a topcoat—and here's an opportunity to capitalize an investment for the future as well as a bargain for now. Balmacaen model, raglan and regular shoulder models—in tweeds, homespuns and the smart soft weaves.

Vent-o-Lite Hats, $2.95

They are genuine fur felt, but almost weightless, which makes them an exceptionally comfortable hat for present wear. Smart shapes; in four clever shades.

We shall be glad to have you open a charge account.

The Mode [At The Corner] F at Eleventh

Eleventh & 1st Streets

Film Observer Recalls Close Shaves on Lot

Clark Gable's First Risk; Hepburn Film Friday;
Amusement Gossip.

Reprinted from yesterday's last edition.

By Nelson B. Bell.

Mr. Hubbard Keavy, well known to readers of these dispatches as head man of this column's West Coast ear-in-the-dust department, has recently reared himself a little farther above ground than that and discovered that almost as many hair-raising adventures occur during the filming of pictures as ever are written into the scenarios.

Mr. Keavy has assembled many of these hazardous incidents that have threatened the welfare of famous players and has slid them along his own particular Associated Press wire to this desk in three installments, the first of which will be briefed here.

It is the unexpected, Mr. Keavy points out, that usually gives the stars their greatest thrills, like the time, for instance, when a U. S. Naval vessel forgot to bring along any blank cartridges when it was participating in a scene for a movie.

Real Bullets:
For the picture, "Suicide Fleet," Robert Armstrong, James Gleason and Bill Boyd were put aboard a submarine which was to be fired upon from a distance of 300 yards. Imagine the actors' surprise, when the firing started, to hear the whine of real bullets flying over them.

The commander of the subchaser had decided to use the real thing, but forgot to tell the players. He knew his guns. Messrs. Armstrong, Gleason and Boyd were required a restorative when they got ashore.

Colleen Moore experienced a painful thrill, Mr. Keavy reminds us, back in the days of the silent screen, when she was making "The Desert Flower." She was pumping away for dear life on a railway handcar when she lost her balance and fell on the sharp edge of a protruding railroad tie, injuring her spine sufficiently to compel her to endure many weeks of reclining motionless in a plaster cast.

Missed Death By Hair.
We recall this vividly, because when Miss Moore had convalesced to a point where was possible she was a visitor to Washington en route to Europe for further complete recuperation. It was our pleasure at that time to be much in her company. We viewed the complete motion picture footages recording the accident and can testify that Miss Moore missed death by no more than the proverbial eyelash.

Explosions, Mr. Keavy further suggests, have caused many accidents in picture making. The most serious occurred four years ago near Flagstaff, Ariz., during production of "The Painted Desert." Forty men were painfully injured, two of whom later died.

Clark Gable, playing his first movie role, might have been injured or even killed had it not been for the presence of mind of Bill Boyd. The side of a mountain was blown up, but the charge was too heavy and it blew bowlders as big as automobiles for hundreds of yards.

"As Good as a Mile."

Gable tried to hide behind a pile of rocks, but Boyd warned him to stay in the open. No more than seconds after Boyd's warning, a bowlder landed on the spot where Gable had been.

While working on location in the hills adjacent to Hollywood recently, Ann Dvorak, in private life Mrs. Leslie Fenton, was bitten by a rattlesnake that just happened along to see what was going on. Prompt first aid permitted her to resume her acting after an hour's rest.

Just one continuous round of pleasure, this business of being a movie star!

The box-office of the National Theater will open tomorrow morning for the advance sale of tickets for the Theater Guild's production of Dawn Powell's comedy of "Jig Saw," which will have its world premiere next Monday night, April 23.

This will be the last metropolitan production of the season, as well as the Guild's last gesture for the year. Heading the cast are Ernest Truex and Spring Byington, supported by such admirable artists as Helen Westley, Elliott Cabot, Cora Witherspoon, Gertrude Flynn and others. Phillips Moeller is directing the piece and Lee Simonson is designing the stage settings and costumes.

On Monday, April 30, the tenth annual "little season" of the National Theater Players will be inaugurated on E street.

Shopping and Cinema.

The Landsburg Department Store today will complete a unique and successful experiment. At 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. it will present for the last time a motion picture that has attracted much favorable attention since its showing was begun in the store on Monday.

The film being shown bears the title of "Cinderella and Her Cinders," and brings a vital message to women in a most engaging manner. The first part of the action is devoted to the familiar fairy tale of Cinderella, reenacted by a cast of interesting puppets. Later the Cinderella of the fairy story is brought to life in the form of a lovely modern girl. The secret of her charm is said to furnish a big surprise.

This is believed to be the first time a motion picture has been put to such use in Washington.

At last a motion picture star is coming to Washington from Baltimore that the dramatic desks will not be called upon to interview aboard one of Col. Atterbury's best trains coming down from the North and East. And her name is Mary, at that! This Mary, however, happens to be the 3,000 pounds of rhinoceros that appears with Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan in "Tarzan and His Mate," opening at the Palace on Friday.

Mary is the only one of the four rhinoceroses in this country that has ever been trained to act for the cameras. She was trained, by George Emerson, who accompanies on her tour of "personal appearances." She will be on view in this city on next Monday and Tuesday and the hint has been dropped that if the Capital might wish to make Mary a present, she is very fond of carrots!

Meet Mr. McKee.
Speaking of the National Theater Players—as we were somewhere back there—Clifford Brooke's successor as director of Panjandrum Stephen E. Cochran's celebrated company this season will be John McKee, a veteran of his craft, for many years associated in like capacity with the late Henry W. Savage, one of the most prolific producers of his day.

Mr. McKee will have under his charge Ruth Abbott, the new leading woman; Roy Roberts, the new leading man; Mary Loane, leading ingenue, whose last appearance here was in "Peter Flies High," with Glen Hunter, and a considerable group of perennial favorites.

ENVOY CLUB
BLENDED WHISKY
$1.60 Full Quart

with National Players fans, including Mrs. Adelaide Hibbard, Kathryn Givney, Freddie Sherman and a few whose names are being held back as surprises.

RKO-Keith's is having an epidemic of Catherines—or Katharines, whichever you prefer. With the eyes closed they both sound alike, at least.

In noting about for vagrant limbs to be added to these cursory notes, one learns that Katharine Hepburn will arrive on the Fifteenth street screen on Friday of this week in her latest RKO-Radio vehicle, "Spitfire," the film adaptation of Luis Vollmer's play, "Trigger." The adaptation was made by Miss Vollmer and Jane Murnin, one-time collaborator with Jane Cowl.

The announcement of Miss Hepburn's engagement, of course, the equivalent of a tacit statement of the withdrawal of "Catherine the Great," costarring Elizabeth Bergner and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., tomorrow night. This will come as a surprise to many who perceived in this subject a picture worthy of an extended run—or thought they did!

Weather Report.
It wasn't raining rain, you know, it was raining violets!

Oh, yeah?

Boy Scouts Honor Comrade at Grave

Daniel White, 13, Buried at Cumberland, Md.

Cumberland, Md., April 18 (Sp.). Honors "becoming a Boy Scout," today were paid Daniel White, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. White, who was injured fatally Sunday. Services were held in St. Paul's Lutheran Church and at the grave in St. Luke's Cemetery.

Members of Boy Scout Troop No. 11 formed a guard of honor at the church and at the grave the troop formed the broken circle as final tribute.

The pallbearers were Vincent Green, William Weht, George Simmons, Allen Thompson, Bryant Snider and Raymond Hall.

Ervine Comedy Finely Played By Columbians

"First Mrs. Fraser" Will Be Repeated Tonight in Pierce Hall.

Reprinted from yesterday's last edition.

Playing a philosophical comedy-drama, with more emphasis on the drama than the comedy, the Columbia Players last evening presented St. John Ervine's "The First Mrs. Fraser" at Pierce Hall before an enthusiastic audience.

Long a favorite with amateur companies, the Ervine opus is usually played as a marital farce—and a good one too—but the Columbia Players saw more to it than that, and promptly Director Gerald Miller went to work to emphasize the more dramatic situations without losing sight of the inherent comedy.

The result is that in "The First Mrs. Fraser" the players have produced one of the finest plays of their career, a play which, within easy recollection, is topped only by "Second-Act Curtain," and then only when the origin and development of Dorothea Lewis' comedy are considered.

To say that Aurora Poston is fine in the title role is to put it mildly—she is, indeed, the first Mrs. Fraser. Perfectly at ease, not "acting" at all, and reading her lines as though she might be conversing in her own parlor, Mrs. Poston lives the role of Janet Fraser, expounding a homely philosophy of love and marriage that raises the performance above the level of mere frothy comedy.

As James Fraser, Samuel Gray makes his bow before Washington audiences. His previous experience of some ten years in Edinburgh equips him admirably to play the Scotch husband and, though his speech is somewhat burled, he gives an excellent delineation of the husband who finds himself divorced from the right woman and married to the wrong one.

That "wrong one" is Katherine Logan. Here, indeed, is one of those paradoxical situations that can be best characterized by saying that Miss Logan overacted beautifully. The role requires over-acting for its effect. Miss Logan does it without undue exaggeration.

S. Allen Foster does a highly commendable job as "Uncle" Philip Logan, who would marry the first Mrs. Fraser—if she would say yes. Robert Miller, Wayne Bobst, Doro-

END DANDRUFF-ITCHY SCALP-FALLING HAIR

Eighty-five per cent of all cases of hair loss result from two causes—(1) lack of nourishment for the growing hair and (2) local scalp disorders.

Both of these causes of baldness can be eliminated by Thomas treatment. It stimulates the dormant sources of nourishment (increases the blood supply in the scalp) and overcomes abnormal scalp conditions, such as dandruff.

If you have any of these aggravating symptoms of approaching baldness—dry or oily hair, itchy scalp, falling hair, or thin hair—consult a Thomas specialist today. No charge will be made for the consultation or scalp examination. He'll show you how Thomas treatment is ending dandruff, stopping hair fall, and growing hair for thousands of others, and how it can produce the same results for you.

THE THOMAS
World's Leading Hair and Scalp Specialists—Forty-five Offices
Suite 1050-51 Washington Bldg.
Cor. N. Y. Avenue and 15th St., N. W.
HOURS—9 A. M. to 7 P. M. SATURDAY to 3:30 P. M.

thy White and Eileen Fowler complete the cast as other members of the Fraser menage.
"The First Mrs. Fraser" will be repeated this evening at Pierce Hall at 8:30 o'clock. W. A. W.

AMUSEMENTS.
Gayety Burlesk
BOZO SNYDER
And His GREATEST SHOW
This Statement is Modest

RKO KEITH'S
TOMORROW
HEPBURN
SPITFIRE

National 6149
Tonight and Tomorrow
Week at 8:30
Best Seats
$2.50
The Sensation that Sent London and New York into Thrills of Discussion
THE GREEN DAY TREE
By MORDAUNT SHEARER
With Exceptional Cast
NEXT WEEK
BERT LYTTLE
THE SECOND MAN
NOW

Earle
LAST DAY
FREDRIC MARCH
In Permanent
DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY.
On Stage
LANDT TRIO & WHITE
And Other Acts
25c
TO 10 P. M.

METROPOLITAN 1 DIRECT FROM EARLE
WONDER BAR
2 GREATEST STARS
3 SINGERS & DANCERS
4 COMEDY
5 "PURE FUN"
6 "PURE FUN"
7 "PURE FUN"
8 "PURE FUN"
9 "PURE FUN"
10 "PURE FUN"
11 "PURE FUN"
12 "PURE FUN"
13 "PURE FUN"
14 "PURE FUN"
15 "PURE FUN"
16 "PURE FUN"
17 "PURE FUN"
18 "PURE FUN"
19 "PURE FUN"
20 "PURE FUN"
21 "PURE FUN"
22 "PURE FUN"
23 "PURE FUN"
24 "PURE FUN"
25 "PURE FUN"
26 "PURE FUN"
27 "PURE FUN"
28 "PURE FUN"
29 "PURE FUN"
30 "PURE FUN"
31 "PURE FUN"
32 "PURE FUN"
33 "PURE FUN"
34 "PURE FUN"
35 "PURE FUN"
36 "PURE FUN"
37 "PURE FUN"
38 "PURE FUN"
39 "PURE FUN"
40 "PURE FUN"
41 "PURE FUN"
42 "PURE FUN"
43 "PURE FUN"
44 "PURE FUN"
45 "PURE FUN"
46 "PURE FUN"
47 "PURE FUN"
48 "PURE FUN"
49 "PURE FUN"
50 "PURE FUN"
51 "PURE FUN"
52 "PURE FUN"
53 "PURE FUN"
54 "PURE FUN"
55 "PURE FUN"
56 "PURE FUN"
57 "PURE FUN"
58 "PURE FUN"
59 "PURE FUN"
60 "PURE FUN"
61 "PURE FUN"
62 "PURE FUN"
63 "PURE FUN"
64 "PURE FUN"
65 "PURE FUN"
66 "PURE FUN"
67 "PURE FUN"
68 "PURE FUN"
69 "PURE FUN"
70 "PURE FUN"
71 "PURE FUN"
72 "PURE FUN"
73 "PURE FUN"
74 "PURE FUN"
75 "PURE FUN"
76 "PURE FUN"
77 "PURE FUN"
78 "PURE FUN"
79 "PURE FUN"
80 "PURE FUN"
81 "PURE FUN"
82 "PURE FUN"
83 "PURE FUN"
84 "PURE FUN"
85 "PURE FUN"
86 "PURE FUN"
87 "PURE FUN"
88 "PURE FUN"
89 "PURE FUN"
90 "PURE FUN"
91 "PURE FUN"
92 "PURE FUN"
93 "PURE FUN"
94 "PURE FUN"
95 "PURE FUN"
96 "PURE FUN"
97 "PURE FUN"
98 "PURE FUN"
99 "PURE FUN"
100 "PURE FUN"

AMUSEMENTS.
Loews FOX
FREDRIC MARCH
SYLVIA SIDNEY
"Good Dame"
Last day
"SPICES OF 1934"
New York's newest beauty revue!
CAST OF 50 • 25 SCENES
10 GREAT STARS • Phil Lapham OVERLOOK

Loews PALACE
TOMORROW
The Original
TARZAN HIS MATE
With the Original
JOHNNY WEISSMULLER
MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN
Last day
ANNA STEN in "NANA"
TOMORROW
Loews COLUMBIA
Horme SHEARER
ROBERT MONTGOMERY
"Riptide"
Last day
SALLY EILERS in day! "SHE MADE HER BED"

AMUSEMENTS.
TODAY
Loews
Ayres
"LET'S BE RITZY" WITH FRANK McHUGH
PATRICIA ELLIS
ELLIS

NATIONAL Next Week
"JIG SAW"
A comedy by Dawn Tavel
WITH ERNEST TRUUX
SPRING BYINGTON and a notable Theatre Guild cast

SAVE more than 10%!

Special Sale of "Pittsburg" and RUUD Automatic Gas Water Heaters!

(20 GALLONS CAPACITY)

Two nationally famous heaters in a special, limited time offer that you can't afford to miss! Comfort, cleanliness, health itself depend upon a never-failing, always-ready supply of hot water in the home. Spring is the logical time to install one of these time-tested modern heaters, and if you do it now, you can save more than 10%! No running up and down stairs to light these new heaters. They work automatically, delivering a constant supply of pure, sparkling hot water at extremely low cost per gallon. All you do is turn the faucet! Investigate this offer while special low prices and terms are still in effect. Come in or telephone for more information... but act now!

Special Terms! only $2.50 down
24 MONTHLY PAYMENTS
(Averaging 13¢ a day)

Offer expires MAY 31st

WASHINGTON GAS LIGHT CO.
411 Tenth Street, N. W. District 8500

GEORGETOWN GAS LIGHT CO.
1339 Wisconsin Avenue WEst 0615

a NEW KIND of a typewriter

The Sterling Model
SMITH-CORONA

Pick it up... a portable
Type on it... a standard

Look this beautiful instrument over in our store—the finest portable typewriter in the world. Try it out. Feel that new smoothness—that "piano-key" touch! Nothing like it. A truly universal typewriter—responsive—rapid in action. No wonder that many professional typists actually prefer it to any other machine. Convenient payments if desired.

In Black, Green or Maroon, with tabulator, $60.00
(Carrying Case Included)

L. C. Smith & Corona Typewriters, Inc.
1018-20 Fifteenth St. N.W.
Washington, D. C.
Phone NAT. 0421

Three Fetes Honor Haiti's First Citizen

President Stenio Vincent Guest at Society Functions.

Haitian Envoy, Mr. Dunn and Pan-American Board Entertain.

By Evelyn Peyton Gordon.
Among the functions in honor of the President of Haiti, Mr. Stenio Vincent, who has been in Washington for several days, was a reception given yesterday afternoon by the special assistant to the Secretary of State, Mr. James Clement Dunn, at his home on Observatory Circle.

The host received with the guest of honor, and was assisted in the absence of Mrs. Dunn, who is in Europe, by his small daughter, Cynthia, a charming young miss who probably made her first appearance yesterday as hostess for her father. She wore a long frock of pink organdy dotted with white and fashioned with a high waistline, short puffed sleeves, and a wide sash. Her long blond hair fell over her shoulders and was tied with a narrow pink ribbon.

Many of the guests remained to visit in the lovely garden of Mr. Dunn's home, which overlooks the terraces and gardens of the British Embassy, and opens on a beautiful panoramic view of Washington. Early spring flowers brightened the garden and were used as decorations in the house where tea and refreshments were served in the spacious dining room.

Officials Are Guests.
The guests included several hundred members of the State Department, officials who have been in Haiti, and former diplomats and officers of the Navy and Marine Corps.

The Chief of Naval Operations and Mrs. William H. Standley were present as were the Commandant of the Marine Corps and Mrs. John H. Russell. From the Senate were Senator and Mrs. William H. King, the latter wearing a suit of navy blue trimmed with a brighter shade of blue and a small blue hat, and Senator and Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis. Mrs. Lewis was in a costume of brown and beige. Others present were Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom with their daughter, Miss Vera Bloom, who wore a costume of navy blue with a blouse of many colors; the Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr, the former Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. F. Lamont Bell, Jr., and Mrs. Richard Southgate.

Mr. Jefferson Patterson, Robert F. Kelley, the United States Minister to Haiti, Mr. Norman Armour and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cox, recently returned from London, where the former served as First Secretary of the Embassy. They are in Washington for a short time before going to Mr. Cox's new post in Buenos Aires. Mr. Cox wore a smart gown of black crepe trimmed with white, and a severely simple hat of black straw trimmed with a stiff quill.

Others glimpsed were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinton, Mr. George Merrill, Mrs. Edward Reed, Mrs. George Sloane, Mr. Lawrence Higgins and Miss Anne Randolph and Miss Mary Randolph.

Embassy Tea Honors Italian Guest Author

The Ambassador of Italy, Signor Augusto Rosso, entertained at tea yesterday afternoon in the embassy for his distinguished compatriot, Signora Margherita Sarfatti, who is in this country on a lecture tour. Signora Sarfatti has been in Washington since Saturday, and during her stay has been extensively entertained. She is a noted author and art critic, best known for her work with Mussolini on his newspapers and reviews.

The tea yesterday was most informal, the Ambassador having invited a group of newspaper men and women to meet his guest. The large drawing room of the embassy, handsome with its rose damask furniture and long French windows opening into an inclosed garden, was decorated with vases and bowls of fruit blossoms. Tea and cocktails were served from a small table before the fireplace where the guests gathered, and Signora Casardi, wife of the Naval Attache of the embassy, acted as hostess for the Ambassador, assisted by the young men of the embassy staff.

Signora Sarfatti, charming and blonde, and speaking perfect English, delighted everyone with her gaiety and the deep interest which she is taking in her trip to the West Coast. She will leave today for Havana and will proceed from there to San Francisco, returning by way of Chicago to New York in several weeks.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

RUGS

CLEANSED & STORED
Drapes, Curtains, Clothing,
Blankets, cleaned and stored for six months at one price—
SAMPLE VALUE a 9x12 Domestic cleaned stored insured $3 other prices proportionately low

Over 20 Years of Quality Service
Moth-Proof Storage
For FUR COATS
and Other Garments
Our Charges Are Less Than Usual for Moth-Proof Storage

MERCHANTS
Transfer & Storage Co.

JOHN L. NEWBOLD, JR., President
928-929 8th St. Phone NAt. 6999
Harris—Shipper
Packing—Shipper

New Attache of Japanese Embassy and Family

The Second Secretary of the Japanese Embassy and Mrs. Tokahaga Ito and their charming child, Haruko, who have come to Washington recently. The former has assumed his duties at the embassy.

Notes of Official and Resident Society

The Ambassador of Spain, Senor Don Juan de Cardenas, entertained at luncheon yesterday in the Embassy in honor of the Military Attache of the Mexican Embassy, Gen. Juan F. Azcarate, who was recently honored by the Spanish Republic.

Among the guests were the Ambassador of Mexico, Dr. Fernando Gonzalez Roa, and the newly appointed Air Attache of the Spanish Embassy, Commander Ramon Franco.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Cordell Hull entertained informally at dinner last evening in their apartment at the Carlton Hotel.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. George H. Dern are the guests in whose honor Senator and Mrs. William Henry King will hold a reception Thursday evening, April 26, at 6 o'clock at the Sulgrave Club, for which the Kings have issued invitations.

Secretary Ickes will be the guest of honor at an informal party to be given April 28 by the press sections of the Interior Department and Oil Administration, and newspapermen assigned to cover his activities. The party will be held in the Presidential suite and Cabinet room of the Willard Hotel.

Mrs. Hebert Is Hostess To D. A. R. Delegates.

Mrs. Hebert, wife of Senator Felix Hebert, will entertain at a tea and reception this afternoon in her apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel, in honor of the Rhode Island delegation to the D. A. R. Congress. About 35 members will attend.

Mrs. McNary, wife of Senator Charles L. McNary, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel in honor of Mrs. Charles V. Richardson, State regent of the D. A. R. in Oregon. Other delegates from Oregon to the D. A. R. Congress also were guests.

Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., and Senator Porter H. Dale were the guests of Mr. A. T. Williams of New York at dinner at the Willard last night.

The Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William Phillips entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of Signora Margherita Sarfatti, of Milan, Italy, who is spending the week in Washington.

Infant Son Joins Moreland Family.

The United States Vice Consul at Antwerp and Mrs. William Dawson Moreland are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son Monday, April 16, in Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Moreland are the guests of the latter's parents, Col. and Mrs. C. L. Bouvier, in their home in Chevy Chase, while Mr. Moreland is on temporary duty at the State Department. Mrs. Moreland was before her marriage Miss Margaret Bouvier. Mr. and Mrs. Moreland and their son will return to Antwerp early in June.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Mr. William E. Brock, former Senator, has arrived in Washington.

Poland's Envoy Host at Dinner And Musicales

Ambassadors Are Ranking Guests; Mr. Hellman Gives Program.

The Ambassador of Poland, Mr. Stanislaw Patek, entertained at dinner last evening in the Embassy.

His guests included the Ambassador of Italy, Signor Augusto Rosso; the Ambassador of Germany, Herr Hans Luther; the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Daniel C. Roper, the Minister of the Irish Free State and Mrs. Michael MacWhite, the Minister of Portugal and Mme. de Bianchi, the Minister of Yugoslavia, Dr. Leonide Pitagor; Senator Royal S. Copeland, the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Francis Sayre; Mrs. Vernon Kellogg, Miss Jean Kellogg, Miss Grace Roper, Mrs. Truxton Beale, Mrs. Anne Archbold; Mr. and Mrs. Burnham S. Colburn, of Asheville, N. C.; Mr. W. Cannon, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krook, Miss Josephine Patten, Mr. Hugh S. Cumming, Jr., Mr. T. Styka, of New York; Mr. Alexander Hellmann, of New York; the Counselor of the Polish Embassy and Mme. Sokolowska, the Secretary of Embassy and Mrs. Mosicka, the Secretary of Embassy, Mr. Zdzislaw Klimpel, and the Financial Counselor of Embassy, Mr. Janusz Zolowski.

A musicale followed the dinner, at which Mr. Alexander Hellmann, of New York, played the piano.

Grants Pay Visit, Plan World Trip

Itinerary Includes Tibet for Scientific Study.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Duncan Grant, of New York, are in Washington for a day or two arranging for a trip around the world. Mrs. Grant is the former Miss Florence H. Baker, whose marriage took place early this month in New York. The Grants, who are staying at the Mayflower, were luncheon guests of Senator and Mrs. Wallace H. White, Jr., and Senator Frederick Hale, of Maine, at the Capitol yesterday.

Mr. Grant, a native Celt of the Scottish Highlands, is the meteorologist of the Edward Armstrong Seadrome. He will make scientific studies in Tibet on the trip with his wife. They will be traveling throughout the summer and the early fall.

Mr. Grant was war superintendent of the Meteorological Department of the British Navy, from 1917 to 1920. British Admiralty Meteorologist during the historic naval raids on Zeppelins and Ostend, British naval delegate to the International Meteorological Conference in Paris in 1919 and 1920 and later became a member of the International Maritime Meteorological Commission and International Weather Telegraphic Commission.

Mrs. E. H. Eckelberg was hostess at a luncheon yesterday at the Carlton Hotel. Her guests numbered 17.

Miss Farwell, Visitor From Cristobal, Weds.

Mrs. Fern Farwell, of Cristobal, Canal Zone, who is visiting in Washington and attending the D. A. R. convention, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Sue Farwell, to Mr. George Young last Monday evening at the home of Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, minister of the Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Belle Farwell, and aunt, Miss Bonnie Farwell, of Terre Haute, Ind., and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. J. T. Wolfe, of Washington, attended the wedding.

Miss Farwell gave a wedding dinner at the Mayflower Hotel after the ceremony.

Over Arlington Memorial Bridge On Upper Alexandria Road

12 to 8:30

WELCOME D. A. R.

Meet at The Parrot for Luncheon, Tea or Dinner—service and food to "write home about." The rendezvous of the discriminating.

20th at R LUNCHEON 50c up TEA 25c up DINNER 85c up

THE PARROT "Speaks for Itself"

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland Gillilan,

Cherry Blossoms to Enshrine Boxes for Notables at Ball

Senator and Mrs. William King, Representative Mary T. Norton and District Commissioner and Mrs. Melvin C. Hazen will form the receiving line at the Cherry Blossom ball and reception Saturday night at 10 o'clock at the Mayflower Hotel.

Brig. Gen. William E. Horton, chairman of the ball and reception committee, will make the presentations.

Immediately after the guests have been received, the Queen of the Cherry Blossom Festival and her court will enter and take part in a dance. Their partners will be young Army, Navy, Marine and White House bachelor officers. Dancing will follow.

Hundreds of bunches of cherry blossoms will decorate boxes to be occupied by Mrs. Roosevelt and the many prominent Government officials and diplomats expected to attend. A scene depicting the cherry blossoms around the Tidal Basin is being painted to hang at one end of the ballroom.

Gen. Horton is being assisted by the following committee on arrangements: Mrs. John Allen Dougherty, vice chairman; Mrs. J. E. Davies, vice chairman; Col. Marvin H. McIntyre, Senator David I. Walsh, Senator Arthur Capper, the Solicitor General, Mr. James Crawford Biggs, the Assistant Attorney General, Mr. Frank G. Wideman, Mr. J. F. T. O'Connor, the Assistant Secretary of War, Mr. Harry H. Woodring, Mr. Stanley Reed, Mr. M. L. Sperry, Mr. Lloyd B. Wilson, Dr. William McClellan, Mr. George W. Offutt, Mr. Sidney F. Talliaferro, Mr. Thomas E. Littlepage, Mr. John Saul, Mr. W. W. Everett, Mr. Lowell Mellett, Mr. Eugene Meyer, Mr. D. J. Vallahan, Mr. Lewis T. Breuninger, Mr. Archibald C. V. Wells, Col. R. E. Foster, Mr. William Phelps Eno, Mr. W. Waverly Taylor, Mr. Herbert C. Hengstler, Mr.

West Virginians Fete D. A. R. Guests Tonight

A reception in honor of visiting members of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be given by the ladies of the West Virginia delegation in Congress this afternoon at the Congressional Club. Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. John N. Garner and Mrs. Henry T. Rainey will attend. In the receiving line will be Mrs. M. M. Neely, Mrs. H. D. Hatfield, Mrs. Joe L. Smith, Mrs. Robert L. Ramsey, Mrs. Jennings Randolph, Mrs. George W. Johnson, Mrs. John Kee and Mrs. Andrew Edmiston.

Phillip-Louise

Connecticut Avenue and L Street (1317 L N.W.)

New Arrivals in Spring Merchandise DRESSES

For all occasions $13.95 to $49.50

Last Reductions on Early Merchandise

SUITS AND COATS

Drastically Reduced All Spring Millinery

1/2 PRICE

Now $2.50 to $9.25

Were $5.00 to $18.50

HIGHLANDS CAFE

Conn. Ave. & California St.

Under Management of Mrs. B. Carson Dougherty

Breakfast 25c to 65c

Luncheon 50c to 75c

Dinner 75c to 1.25

Sunday Dinners Served From 12:30 to 8 P. M., $1

Specializing in Luncheon and Dinner Parties, Banquets and Bridge Parties.

Excellent Cuisine and Service

CLOTHES OF QUALITY FOR GENTLEMEN SINCE 1908

QUALITY good taste.value

Feminine clothes presented with typical Pasternak appreciation of good clothes, for their beauty, their quality, their interpretation of perfect taste. These are fundamental standards of dress to which Pasternak has remained constantly loyal, even thru the "lean" years. There is today a sincere surge of appreciation from our clients this optimistic renaissance season.

Pasternak

MADE TO ORDER READY TO WEAR

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

1219 Connecticut Avenue

Perrys' Daughter Engaged to Wed

Troth of Mrs. Trumble and Lieut. Benson Told.

An engagement of interest to Naval and residential society in Washington is that of Mrs. Gertrude Perry Trumble to Lieut. William Lewis Benson, U. S. N., recently announced by Mr. and Mrs. Cusis Russell Perry, parents of Mrs. Trumble. Lieut. Benson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Benson, of Kingston, N. Y.

On her father's side, Mrs. Trumble is descended from Nellie Cusis. She is also related to the Southalls and the Christians, two celebrated old Virginia families. Lieut. Benson was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1925 and now is stationed at Annapolis as an instructor.

Additional Society, Page 12, Column 5.

JULIUS GARFINKEL & Co.

F STREET AT FOURTEENTH

OUR UNUSUAL EXHIBIT OF

DIAMOND AND

PRECIOUS STONE JEWELRY

It is indeed worthy of the special attention it is attracting... not only are the values most remarkable, but the fine pieces are carried out in unusual and original designs. Prominent in the selection are in many new combinations of fancy shaped diamonds, also the attractive channel set diamonds, in platinum. At moderate prices, or at any price you wish to pay.

DIAMOND WEDDING RINGS

FUR STORAGE

F U R S

FROM THE NORTH

POLE—FURS FROM

THE WHITE HOUSE

Admiral Perry's furs, furs of Presidents, and their wives, furs of the Great, and the great majority, have been protected and preserved in the Security "Certified" cold storage vaults—for nearly 40 years——and never damaged by moths, fire, theft, nor deteriorated from heat, light, dust.

The cost is as little as $2 for a fur coat, $8 for a trunk of clothing, 4c per sq. ft. for rugs. This is more than offset by the lengthened life of the fur or fabric.

Why Take Chances?

Security Storage Company

1140 Fifteenth Street, C. A. Asplund, President

A Safe Depository for 44 Years

THE NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY CLOSING

Be sure your family is in it

A telephone will keep them in touch with friends. It will do the marketing and shopping. It may bring news of jobs. It will bring help quickly in emergencies.

Order yours today. There is still time to get your name in the NEW DIRECTORY.

If you have a telephone—and want your listing changed, or want additional listings, please call us right away.

The Classified Directory—the yellow section—is also closing. An advertisement in this section appears daily at low cost before the largest group of buyers in town.

To place your order Call

MEtropolitan 9900

THE CHESAPEAKE AND POTOMAC TELEPHONE COMPANY

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

723 13th Street N.W. (Bell System)

Ozone in New Facial Cream Stimulates Skin

Also Bleach, Antiseptic, Toning Agent—Practically Everything.

By Ruth Anne Davis.

NEW developments in the cosmetics field never fail to interest women. For who knows—somebody, some time, might discover the real waters of a fountain of youth. That is for the future. So far, though, scientists have made such remarkable discoveries we are content to bide our time.

Recently a group of them have succeeded in capturing ozone and putting it into a cream with an olive oil base. The beautifying value of such an agent is well known. It acts as bleach, antiseptic, skin toner and beauty cream, all in the same jar.

It is a stimulating cream, with active oxidizing power, not only excellent for eliminating skin troubles but for banishing all traces of superfluous hair.

Lounge a la Chinese.

Coolie coats may not be the most elaborate and dressy form of negligee, but when hot summer days are here in full blast they're mighty nice to have around to slip on at a minute's notice. They make ideal informal kimono and light bath robes. And the latest part about them is their adaptability to the washbasin. Some women like to have at least two, so that one is always clean and neatly laundered. But just one can stand a lot of wear and tear and give its owner no end of service.

Pongee coolie coats with colored trim are now selling for $1.19 at a downtown store.

Wire for Comfort.

The light, cool, inclosed sun room, or screened veranda, plays a prominent part in the housewife's summer program. Tea there in the afternoons, bridge in the evenings, luncheons and suppers—always something going on in the most comfortable "room" in the house. Naturally the way it is furnished makes a great deal of difference. Such a room or porch can be made extra attractive if a little thought is given to procuring original furniture.

A Connecticut avenue shop is advocating the newest style in summer furnishings—a complete set in white wire, attractively finished, and comfortably upholstered. A rounded bench with high white wire back, and red leather seat. A chair in the same rounded design to match. A cocktail table, with a glass top, and the sides wire arranged to resemble a music bar, notes, sharps, flats, and all.

There's a unique fire screen with small spots for ivory and a large frame for it to cover. A lamp is designed with a fern stand directly beneath the green shade—a symphony in white and green. A smoking stand of hand wrought white wire, with a glass top, and a box of face powder. A cleansing cream does a quick job of removing the dust and dirt. A skin stimulant gives your face an invigorated feeling. A nourishing cream is a soothing follow-up. An astringent closes the pores. The powder foundation gives an added protection and assures a creamy, soft finish. Then for the powder, the rouge and lipstick.

Manhattan Canapes.

Toast or fry rounds of bread, then spread with anchovy paste. Cut

Pique Petals.

The buyer of the neckwear department in a downtown store happened to be in New York when petal blouses were first displayed. They went like mad. After the first day an order for 700 more was put through. Enthusiasm over their reception, she immediately bought some to bring back to her own department, where they have just been put out on the counters—or, at least, tucked away in nearby drawers.

These blouses are made of pique in pink, blue, maize and white. The color is fashioned from two petals of the same material. Four more form a front lapel. They are plain, but at the same time not too strictly tailored.

Little pique hats to match the blouses sell for only $1. The blouses are $1.95.

They may also be bought in linen, without the hats to match.

Call Ruth Anne Davis, of The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 185, for further information. Or write, enclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.

Box Jackets Becoming To Every Type of Woman

By Amos Parrish.

NEW YORK, APRIL 19.—A good fashion which any one can wear, and yet not look like every one else who wears it, is the one-piece dress with its own matching jacket, the jacket cut on those loose, straight-hanging lines which have given it the name of "box." And it looks just as neat and trim as a brand-new hat box.

The tall woman chooses hers in three-quarter or finger-tip length. The small, slim, youthful woman selects hers in bolero length . . . just to the waist or even a bit above. The average figure puts on any length . . . waist, hip, wrist or longer . . . and looks fine in it.

That, of course, is a good reason why this costume is so very much in fashion and why so many women are choosing it.

Have Different Look.

Yet they don't all look alike because, aside from the loose, straight cut of the jacket, there are hardly any two box-jacket dresses made exactly the same way.

Most jackets are worn open, as the one in the sketch. But some fasten high at the throat with a bow or one or two buttons. And this is a very youthful effect.

Neckline Treatments.

Some jackets have revers, as sketched. (Of course, all revers aren't faced with polka dot.) Others have notched collars, necklines with the stand-up band. And some have no collars at all.

Most jackets have the newer, shorter length sleeves. The three-quarter length which is sketched is a favorite. Some are shorter, ending just below the elbow. Simple, straight, loose sleeves in mandarin effect are also liked in two-third or three-quarter length.

The dresses keep trimly in tune with their jackets, but often have soft details about the neck.

Navy is the perfect color for these trim, breezy dresses. But you're not confined to navy. Black, brown, beige, medium and pastel blues and dusty pastels can all be found if you prefer them.

And there are plenty of prints, too, mostly in neat small patterns in geometric designs, checks, polka dots, stripes and florals.

(Copyright, 1934.)

Dresses of the types described are available in Washington in all the better shops and department stores.

Capital Kitchen

Sliced, Stuffed Canapes With Cocktails Pique Appetites;

Celery Takes Its Place as One of Most Sophisticated of Hors d'Oeuvres.

By Susan Mills.

TODAY'S HOSTESS not only closes her dinner with coffee served in the drawing room, but she selects the drawing room as a setting for the beginning of the dinner as well. There is a charm in leisurely serving and sipping of cocktails, when guests can get acquainted and begin to anticipate the dinner to follow.

A word or two is in order—about the appetizers. They are the most genial expressions of hospitality. The imagination runs riot, the sky—and the ladder—are the limit.

Lots of Variety.

One can use cream cheese as a background for caviar; one can add to it a little onion juice, or chives, or olives, and spread it on dainty little crackers. Celery is always a popular appetizer. Stuff it with your favorite cheeses or blended combinations, or mix with a cream cheese a little caviar and see how well it blends with the crispness of celery.

Not only does celery become the most sophisticated of appetizers, but other conventional and familiar foods profit by a stuffing of the right sort. Take stuffed olives, for example, and slice them lengthwise.

Slice American cheese, about 1/4 inch thick, cut each slice in 1/2 inch squares, place a square between the two olive halves, press together and hold in place with a toothpick. The same treatment may be applied to slices of dill pickle with delightful results.

Manhattan Canapes.

Toast or fry rounds of bread, then spread with anchovy paste. Cut

Pique Petals.

The buyer of the neckwear department in a downtown store happened to be in New York when petal blouses were first displayed. They went like mad. After the first day an order for 700 more was put through. Enthusiasm over their reception, she immediately bought some to bring back to her own department, where they have just been put out on the counters—or, at least, tucked away in nearby drawers.

These blouses are made of pique in pink, blue, maize and white. The color is fashioned from two petals of the same material. Four more form a front lapel. They are plain, but at the same time not too strictly tailored.

Little pique hats to match the blouses sell for only $1. The blouses are $1.95.

They may also be bought in linen, without the hats to match.

Call Ruth Anne Davis, of The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 185, for further information. Or write, enclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.

What Today Means

"Aries."

If April 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a. m., from 1 to 3 p. m., and from 7 to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 6 to 8 a. m., from 12 noon to 1 p. m., and from 4 to 6 p. m.

In your social or business contacts on this date you may prove "discretion is the better part of valor" and possibly save yourself from becoming involved in a rather acrimonious discussion if you refrain from entering into any controversy regarding the merits or demerits of any of the National issues. Avoid, if possible, crowds and congested traffic areas.

If April 19 is your birth anniversary you have a great deal of originality of a very practical nature. Make use of some of the labor-saving ideas. Your fear of being possibly thought theoretical is more or less purely imaginary and shows a lack of self-confidence. It is probable if you asserted yourself more your real worth would be accorded the recognition it is due. Your ability will not be appreciated if you do not display it.

The child born on April 19 is endowed with a serene disposition, which will always take a great deal to ruffle. Avoid allowing this child to be teased, for no matter how sweet a nature one may possess it can be ruined by excessive badgering. As this child grows up it will display an unusual amount of poise. Every educational advantage possible should be given it. Periodic trips to the country will always prove most stimulating to its mental activities and beneficial for its physical development.

(Copyright, 1934, Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

D.A.R. doings

Today's Big Events.

THERE are two principal events embodied in the morning session today at the D. A. R. Congress. The earlier of these, and the one which has aroused the vibrant interest of every member and many who have merely the spectator's interest—is the voting on the candidates for the vice president general positions.

Notices have been posted and members are reminded that the polls open at 8 o'clock this morning, with all voting taking place in Memorial Continental Hall.

The second important feature of the meeting, at 9:30 a. m., is an address on "The Restoration of Colonial Williamsburg" by the Rev. Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, rector, Bruton Parish Church, of Williamsburg, Va.

Various reports to be given at this morning session include:

Report of the resolutions committee—Mrs. Robert J. Johnston, chairman.

Supplemental report of the committee on credentials—Mrs. Henry M. Robert, jr., chairman.

Insights—Mrs. Charles H. Bissell, chairman.

Publicity—Mrs. William Louis Dunne, chairman.

Radio—Mrs. Gordon Newman, chairman.

Real daughters—Mrs. Benjamin L. Purcell, chairman.

State and chapter by-laws—Mrs. Robert J. Reed, chairman.

Transportation—Mrs. Charles J. Bullock, chairman.

Worktown tablets (final)—Mrs. James T. Morris, permanent chairman.

Preservation of historic spots, including National old trails—Mrs. John C. Follett, chairman.

At 2 P. M.

AMERICANISM will sound the keynote of the afternoon session today, and the problems of both young and new Americans will be especially stressed.

Miss Mary C. Welch is chairman and sponsors a program to be given by groups from the Americanization School of the District of Columbia; Italian of the Germantown Community Center, Philadelphia; Ukrainians, from Ukrainian Institute, also from Philadelphia, and Pledge and Song by citizen groups, ending in a grand finale singing "America."

Other topics given special report by National committees will include:

"Daughters of the American Revolution Student Loan Fund," Mrs. Walter L. Tobey, chairman.

"Sons and Daughters of the U. S. A.," Mrs. Robert Bagnell, chairman, with a program by officers and members of the D. C. Maryland and Virginia Sons and Daughters of the U. S. A. clubs.

"Approved Schools," Mrs. William H. Pouch, chairman, with a program by representatives from six of seventeen approved schools.

At 3:30 P. M.

TENSION will run high until after the invocation to be asked by Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the U. S. House of Representatives, when the report of the tellers will be made.

The one address of the evening session tonight will be made by Attorney General of the U. S. Homer S. Cummings. His subject will be "Crime as a National Problem."

Music again will play a prominent part in the Congress program. The United States Navy Band will open the evening session with one-half hour of orchestral music. Alice Mock, soprano, of the Civic Opera Company of Chicago, will sing two groups of songs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Montgomery, wife of Dr. James Shera Montgomery. Miss Mock will sing old English songs by Lane Wilson, classics by Delibes and Johann Strauss, and songs by the Americans, Kathryn Manning and Seneca Pierce.

The only State delegation announcing a meeting for today is the Arkansas delegation which is to meet in the National Board Room, Hotel Mayflower, at 1 p. m.

The wives and daughters of the West Virginia delegation of the D. A. R. will hold a reception at the Congressional Club this afternoon from 4 till 6 p. m.

It has been announced that Mrs. Roosevelt will attend this reception.

The California delegation of the D. A. R. will be honored at a tea to be given at 5 o'clock at the Raleigh Hotel by Mrs. Dorothy Harper, vice president of the California State Society, and Mrs. Gertrude J. Scott, secretary.

The individual guest of honor will be Mrs. F. F. Gundrum, of Sacramento, retiring State regent and candidate for the vice presidency of the D. A. R.

How to Keep Well

Mentally Deficient.

In New York State the expression mentally deficient is used instead of feeble-minded as a designation for that very large group of people.

They find that of each 100 persons mentally deficient 20 per cent are idiots, 30 per cent imbeciles, 40 per cent morons and the remaining 10 per cent is made up of those who can not fit in because of personality disorders and mental twists that are related to the insanities.

An idiot is defined in the dictionary as a person congenitally without understanding or ordinary mental capacity. An idiot has the brain capacity of a child 3 years of age or less. He can take care of himself to about the extent that a 3-year-old child can. An imbecile is defined as one who is congenitally feeble-minded, yet not wholly incapable of education.

If an older child or a grown person is able to care for himself better than can a child 3 years old, but not so well as one 8 or 9 years old, he belongs in the imbecile rather than the idiot class. A moron is a person of a feeble-minded person of higher grade than an imbecile, one whose mental capacity does not advance beyond the mentality of a normal 12-year-old child.

Some idiots are not capable of feeding themselves or cleaning themselves. However, they may be capable of all the self-care that is normal for a 3-year-old child without being classed as imbeciles. If we will recall the physical, mental and social capacities of children 3 to 7 we get a pretty good picture of what we can expect of an imbecile.

The yardstick for measuring the mentality of morons is the mental, social and economic activities of children between 7 and 12 or 14. Such children have a fair line of abilities, but they are not able to hold their own in the contests of a competitive society.

(Copyright, 1934, by Chicago Tribune)

William P. Eno Weds Mrs. Paz; Surprise Elite

Couple on Bridal Journey After Unannounced Marriage.

The wedding of Mrs. Alberta Averill Paz to Mr. William P. Eno at noon yesterday came as a complete surprise to Capital society.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Joseph Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Hollister Sturges at Wardman Park Hotel in the presence of a few close friends.

The bride wore a gown of navy blue crepe trimmed with hand-embroidered white collar and cuffs. She had on a broad-brimmed navy blue sailor, and a corsage of white orchids.

Mr. Eno, a resident of Washington since 1902, is a prominent clubman, and the author of many books on scientific traffic regulation. He is one of the founders of the Riding and Hunt Club, and a member of the Metropolitan Cosmos, University, Chevy Chase and Montgomery Clubs and the Washington Society of Fine Arts, in addition to clubs in New York and Paris. He is a Chevalier of the French Legion of Honor.

The bride came to Washington last summer as the wife of Miguel Paz, nephew of the Minister of Honduras, whom she recently divorced in Reno. She has been in New York, where her daughter, Miss Lydia Paz, is a student at Barnard College.

After a brief wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Eno will return to make their home at 1771 N. street, and later in the spring will go to Mr. Eno's country home in Connecticut for the summer.

Mr. Farley Feted By Rep. Sirovich

Postmaster General Honor Guest at Dinner.

Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Isabella Greenway, of Arizona, were the only women present at a dinner given last evening at the Mayflower Hotel by Postmaster General A. Farley for Representative William I. Sirovich, of New York.

The 100 guests included Senator Tom Connally of Texas, Senator Edward P. Costigan of Colorado, Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma.

Speaker Henry T. Rainey and a large group from the House of Representatives attended. Other guests were the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Stephen B. Gibbons, the Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. William W. Howes, Mr. Harlee Branch, Mr. Clinton B. Eilenberger, Mr. Silliman Evans; the Assistant Secretary of Labor, Edward F. McGraw; Mr. J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency; Mr. Jesse Jones, Mr. C. B. Merriam and Mr. Stanley F. Reed, of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Mr. Eugene O. Sykes, of the Federal Reserve Commission; Mr. Charles E. Stuart, of the Export-Import Bank; Mr. Frank Walker, Mr. Forbes Morgan, Mr. E. E. Hurja, Mr. J. Bruce Kremer and Mr. Sigmond Romberg, now in session here.

Alec shook his head. "Dad's right. Musicians are queer. I won't be one. There's a fellow at college now, earns his way playing the sax at dances."

Beatrice interrupted. "Very interesting!"

She and Alec had inherited their father's wavy brown hair. She was the only member of the family who was tall, but she made up for shortness by energy.

"I'd like a boy who had that kind of spunk! I think I'd like to marry a saxophone player."

All right, said her brother cheerfully. "We'll arrange it. He makes oodles of money, his disposition at the moment is toward matrimony and you'd always know where he was evenings."

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say sad. That's the way he had been in the summer, when Alec had worried about his health, but now he was evenings.

Alec's father listened without attending to the jokes. His long, narrow face was thoughtful, not to say

Kitchens Have Accomplished Remarkable Metamorphosis in Last Century or So

Changed to Bright, Attractive Places From Drab, Uninteresting Workshops

The Historic American Buildings Survey, Showing Everything From Prehistoric Indian Houses to Colonial Homes, Demonstrates This Eloquently. Science Held Responsible for Passing of Old Order.

By Elizabeth Perrow.

THE KITCHEN is the Cinderella of the American home. Just as miraculous as the metamorphosis of a tattered scullery maid into a ballroom belle has been the magic transformation of the drab kitchen workshop of yesterday into the shining, enameled laboratory of today.

The story of this change is eloquently told in the exhibition of drawings typifying American architecture of other days now being held at the United States National Museum.

Work of Architects.

The drawings are the work of 800 unemployed architects when working for the CWA, and the project is known as the Historic American Buildings Survey. Buildings dating from prehistoric Indian dwellings to the last century are shown in the exhibit, which Mr. Thomas C. Vint, head of the branch of plans and designs of the National Park Service, has called "a cross section of the historical buildings of the United States."

The most conspicuous characteristic of the early American kitchen was its size. Whether in New England, Louisiana or California, none of the colonists stinted on that room. One house in New London, Conn., had a kitchen 23 by 12 feet. The average was 15 by 20.

There was more than one reason for this. In the first place, the preparation of meals was not the simple task it is today. Calories and vitamins had not yet been discovered, nor small families fashionable. As a result, the preparation of food was an enormous task, requiring much time and space.

Center of Family Life.

In New England, where servants were almost unknown and women did their own work, this preoccupation with food caused the kitchen to become the center of family life. Not only did the family members sit around the huge fireplace where vegetables were boiled in an iron pot and roasts cooked on a turning spit, but at night the children gathered around a center table in the kitchen and puzzled over their arithmetic while their mother worked and gave helpful hints.

The custom of neighbors "dropping in for a little chat" usually necessitated a cozy corner in the New England kitchen. Here one or two rocking chairs, made gay by calico cushions, were placed before a window—adorned with a potted plant—here the neighbors talked, and the housewife kept a watchful eye on her dinner.

Kitchens were also bathrooms in those days—without the benefits of modern plumbing of course—and kitchens saw hectic Saturday nights when a tin tub was placed in the center of the room, great kettles of water put on to boil, and the members of the large family waited their turns to be immersed in order that they might worship in cleanliness the following day.

What determined the situation of the early American kitchen? Mostly climate. In the cold New England colonies, the kitchen was in the main house, sometimes in the basement, sometimes a couple of steps down from the dining room, often tucked away at the end of a long hall. Occasionally it was concealed in the basement.

But in the South and in some parts of the Middle West the kitchen was set apart from the main building. Slaves Responsible. The presence of slaves was responsible both for the size and position of the kitchen. With 15 or 25 slaves working in a kitchen at once plenty of room was necessary. With the resulting noise and cooking odors, separation was also necessary. Then slaves were often careless with fires, and the danger of "the big house" burning was minimized by placing the kitchen well away from the main building. And so for many years the kitchen remained practically unchanged. The dimensions varied but slightly from the old standard of 15 by 20 feet. Meals continued to be cooked over open fireplaces, bread baked in brick ovens, dishes washed in tin tubs.

With the liberation of the slaves in the South the kitchen was incorporated into the main house, in many cases by the construction of a connected porch. The invention of the stove put the old fireplace out of business, and each invention in electricity and plumbing aided in the transformation of the kitchen. And finally woman stepped out of the home into the business world, the roomy houses gave way to small apartments; the kitchen became the kitchenette, compact and convenient, dedicated to the scientific preparation of perfectly balanced meals.

Cinderella has donned her ball gown. Yet there are many who are wistful about the tattered scullery maid, who, while neither beautiful nor gleaming, had a warm friendly lack in the polished maiden of today.

The Ladies Guild of Christ Church, Silver Spring, Md., will meet at noon today in the parish hall. Mrs. Willard Warthen, chairman of the luncheon committee will be assisted by Mrs. A. F. McKeever, Mrs. C. H. Rumsey, Miss Martha Zimmerman and Mrs. Joseph R. Baker.

Mrs. W. E. Ochiltree, National president of the American War Mothers, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Women's Guild of Sibley Hospital at 10:45 a. m. today in Rust Hall.

The Delta Alpha Sorority will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Willard Hotel.

The Columbia Delphi Chapter will meet at 10 a. m. today at the Hamilton Hotel.

Betta Gamma Phi Sorority will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Hamilton Hotel.

Profitable Use of Leisure Time A Challenge, Says Club Leader

HOW SHALL THE increasing amount of leisure be spent most profitably?

The answer to this question constitutes a challenge to American women, in the opinion of Miss Anne Sarachon Hooley, president of the National Council of Catholic Women, who is now in Washington to arrange for the National convention to be held in October.

"It is the obligation of every woman's organization to develop a richer use of leisure time," she said yesterday at the Mayflower.

"We have a chance to effect principles of right thinking and right living now as never before. For instance, my organization is presenting a vehement protest against the indecency of certain motion pictures. We are striving to eliminate the degrading influence of all factors that provide entertainment for younger people. These things will, eventually, be taken care of by education, but now there is a great opportunity for all women's organizations to speed up such education."

Miss Hooley further pointed out that more inspirational types of amusement are being promoted by the Council of Catholic Women by means of study clubs and recreation programs.

"We are trying to recreate the spirit of joy," she continued. "I think our Catholic women, because of their spiritual background, are particularly well prepared to take an active part in promulgating higher ideals of family life and principles of social justice."

Miss Hooley lives in Kansas City, but she is a frequent visitor to Washington, since the National headquarters of the Council of Catholic Women are located here.

The modern kitchen is a gleaming laboratory, consecrated to the effortless, hygienic, speedy preparation of meals. Its predecessor was everything from a Saturday night bathroom, to a sort of informal drawing room for receiving early morning calls.

A collection of CWA architects' drawings now on display at the United States National Museum tell a graphic story of the evolution of the early workshop—with emphasis on "work"—to the scientifically equipped culinary studio of today.

SACRED TO THE preparation of scientifically balanced meals is this compact, convenient kitchen in the modern home. Here the latest inventions in electricity make work easy, and unnecessary steps are eliminated. The average size is 7 by 10 feet.

Why Aren't More Women Biographers? Asks Writer

WOMEN WRITERS should devote more time to biographies, thinks Mrs. Clara Keck Heflebower, National president of the League of American Pen Women, who arrived in Washington recently to remain at the Willard for the celebrity breakfast on Saturday and the convention next week.

Asks Inspiration. "There are not enough outstanding women biographers in America today," she said. "Women should be as well equipped as men to write the type of life which serves as an inspiration for the reader."

Mrs. Heflebower is not in sympathy with biographers who stress their characters' worst traits. "Since all people have faults, I see no need to enlarge them for the reader," she asserted. "I think we should have less debunking biographies and more inspirational ones."

"I also admire," she continued, "Garnett Bradford's approach to a life story. His method of writing a 'psychography' rather than a chronological biography was excellent. But all of us, of course, are not capable of following Bradford's formula."

Mrs. Heflebower is also of the opinion that advertising is another great field for women writers.

Wants Ad Department. "Since women are natural-born shoppers," she explained, "they should know better than men what appeals to other women, who, after all, spend most of the money. I am interested in having an advertising department added to the League of Pen Women."

Mrs. Heflebower, a former newspaperwoman, was formerly president of the Woman's Press Club of Cincinnati and an active member of the Newspaper Woman's Association.

At the present time, in addition to her office as president of the league, she is State chairman of motion pictures of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, and chairman of the Martha Kinney Cooper Ohioana Library.

In addition to her many club activities, she is editor of The Wheel, the magazine of Delta Omicron, National music sorority.

Her literary activities include a book of epigrams, "Winged Arrows," which has received favorable comment from leading critics; a number of poems published in leading magazines; and many short stories and feature articles.

MRS. CLARA KECK HEFLEBOWER, national president of the League of American Pen Women, thinks women should write more advertising and biographies.

A SCENE IN the American kitchen when stoves were unknown and cooking was done over an open fireplace. Then kitchens were large, friendly rooms, used as living rooms and bath-rooms also. The average size was 15 by 20 feet.

A Reporter at Large Hears D. A. R. Chatter

Writes of Two of Eleven Candidates for Office of President.

By Willie Snow Ehrliche.

MANY COLORFUL figures swung into the limelight at the Forty-third Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution yesterday at mammoth Continental Hall.

Among them were the two women who have already announced their candidacies for the coveted office of president general in 1935—dainty, smiling, blue-eyed Mrs. William A. Becker of New Jersey, and handsome, Junoesque Mrs. Flora Myers Gilentine, of Tennessee.

Mrs. Becker, who has the reputation of being about the best dressed daughter there is, was a lovely study in blue when she stepped before the microphone during the afternoon session to report on National defense through patriotic education. She was wearing a two-piece Alice blue crepe de chine with a yoke of blue lace and a small blue straw hat wreathed in tiny, flat flowers of pale pink and blue. On her shoulder was a corsage of gardenias. Tall, slim and serene, she stood, speaking in a soft-toned voice.

Behind her stood her page, Miss Margie Faltoute, her arms filled with pink roses and other flowers sent to Mrs. Becker. Above the two waved the blue flag of New Jersey, curved with a crescent of gold.

Mrs. Becker's appearance was the signal for loud applause from the delegations of New Jersey and other States. She accepted it with smiles and nods.

She appeared on the program during the morning session to report in a concise, business-like way on filing and lending historical papers. She is National chairman of this committee. Her big, deep voice rolled out clearly to the farthest corners of the auditorium.

Paris Gown.

She was wearing a Paris gown of royal purple, dotted in tiny gold disks, and a big lavender hat, trimmed with violets centered with a pink rose. She wore no corsage, and the arms of her page, Miss Mae Thomas, of Arkadelphia, were empty. She requested, so I was told, that there be no flowers.

She has been working for the D. A. R. for 20 years. She has been chapter historian, chapter treasurer, chapter regent, State regent, State regent, vice president general, historical general, member of the executive committee for three years and National chairman of the committee for preservation of historical spots.

She originated the idea of featuring American history in shop windows by showing the evolution of arms, dress, light and other subjects.

Another figure that intrigued me was Miss Natalie Sumner Lincoln, editor of the D. A. R. magazine. Though one Daughter urged me not to mention it, feeling it was not exactly in keeping with Miss Lincoln's editorship, she is the author of "20 or 30 or 40 detective stories."

When she made her report yesterday she was wearing dark brown. Behind her stood her page, arms loaded with pink roses.

Another Candidate.

On the night program among many other State regents, there appeared Mrs. Julian McCurry, of Georgia, one of the 11 candidates for vice president general.

Mrs. McCurry and her Georgia delegation have been active since the moment they descended upon the city. One morning bright and early, Mrs. McCurry entertained at breakfast all the other candidates for the office of vice president general. As she confided to me with a laugh, it was a friendly, friendly sort of affair.

All the way from Georgia she brought the decorations. In the center of the table was a creation of cotton bolls and corn tassels mixed with a few out-door flowers such as forsythia and pussy willow. At each guest's place was a tiny bale of cotton with the name of the guest written on a shipping card.

Keeping Posted

The Glad Hand.

AMONG the many delightful people brought to Washington by what might be termed "the alphabetical call," are the Butler Balances from Norfolk.

Realizing they may be in the Capital for several years, they came bag and baggage, beds and banquet spreads, and rented a lovely home in the northwest.

Mrs. Balance, a delightful lady with a host of friends down Norfolk and already a few here, confessed to a slight touch of mal-de-Norfolk and fear that she might not soon become accustomed to strange surroundings, new landrymen and grocers. Most of all she feared loneliness for lack of friends.

All this the day they landed here. The next, as the Butlers were placing their furniture, a handsome car swept up to the door. An elegantly groomed lady presented her card, explaining she'd heard strangers had moved in. She was calling to welcome them.

Next, a newboy rang the bell and said, as they were strangers, his company had put their name on the list for a month's free subscription, beginning that day.

And so it went. Free samples of coffee, laundry samples—including the gift of a beautifully ironed towel—butter, bread and flour were left at the door. Mrs. Balance glowed with appreciation and by nightfall was almost a cliff-dweller in Washingtonian locality.

Memory of Courtesies.

GRACIOUS, white-haired woman was sitting by a window on a street car the other afternoon. Suddenly an automobile swerved across the tracks. The motorman had to put on his brakes with lightning speed to avoid a collision.

"Mercy," said the lady to her young companion, "Things certainly aren't what they were when I first came to Washington 40 years ago. Then we lived on a street near Fourteenth."

"I remember I had to walk over to Eleventh street to take the herdic—that was what we called the horse-cars. They went down Eleventh street into town. They were painted red with long, narrow swinging doors at the back and the seats ran lengthwise."

"The driver and conductor always were so courteous and both of them would get off the herdic to help me on if I had one of the children with me."

"But even today, in these hurried times," she added, "I find more courtesy and thoughtfulness on the part of the street car conductors and motormen than anywhere else."

Uncomfortably Decorated.

THERE IS a much decorated military gentleman in town who also is an excellent dancer.

But the other day a charming and prominent lady complained to a friend that, after having danced with him the previous evening she felt as though she had been dancing with a pin cushion.

Pierce Hall to Present Milne Play Next Week

Elizabeth Stanley Wilcox, who studied interior decoration and design at the Ecole de Beaux Arts at Fontainebleau, France, is art director for the play, "To Have the Honor," by A. A. Milne, which the Pierce Hall Players will present Wednesday and Thursday nights, April 25 and 26, in Pierce Hall.

The cast, under the direction of Ina Hawes, includes 11 persons.

I Laid Bright Flowers.

By Katherine Smith.

I laid bright flowers in my hair And wandered, barefoot, on the grass.

I stood upon the road at noon And hoped that you would pass.

I laid my flowers on a tomb And carved your name upon the stone.

My feet are dusty as I walk Upon the road, alone.

Mayor "Thrust" Into Her First Political Office

But She Cleaned Up the Iowa Town Extremely Thoroughly.

ONE of the first women mayors in the United States—Mrs. Mary H. S. Johnston, of Humboldt, Iowa—had the office virtually thrust upon her.

"I had no idea I was even being considered for the nomination in 1926 until the members of a caucus informed me I was a candidate," chuckled plump, white-haired Mrs. Johnston last evening in her room at the Willard as she recalled her haphazard entry into politics. As chairman of resolutions for the D. A. R. Congress and as president general of the United States Daughters of 1812, she is spending two weeks in Washington to attend meetings of her organization.

Her nomination for the mayoralty of Humboldt was followed with a painful campaign, according to Mrs. Johnston. She made no speeches, kissed no babies, and outlined no high-sounding platforms. But the caucus that had nominated her believed she would clean up the town and would cut expenses. Evidently most of Humboldt's voters agreed with the caucus.

"We don't have clearly defined political parties in Humboldt," explained the motherly looking woman who was mayor for three consecutive terms. "The voters cast their ballots for the man or woman and not for the party."

Nice and Neighborly.

This system worked beautifully for Mrs. Johnston. She had lived most of her life in Humboldt and was regarded as "nice and neighborly" by the town's 2,500 inhabitants. For 30 years she had been cashier in the bank. In clubs and church she had been a vigorous and fearless worker. She was the widow of an outstanding citizen. Humboldt, paying scant attention to its mayor running for reelection, cast most of its votes for Mary H. S. Johnston.

"Cleaning up Humboldt wasn't much of a job because it was a fairly well-behaved community," said the former mayor. "Bootlegging caused most of the trouble. But the town was $45,000 in debt and that worried me terribly; probably because I had been a bank cashier."

Mrs. Johnston's worrying evidently was the constructive kind. In the six years she was mayor, she wiped out that debt without raising taxes a cent.

Like Housewife.

"I just watched the corners, like any good housewife does in her marketing," is the way the Iowa woman explains her accomplishment. By the end of her first term—two years—Mrs. Johnston had saved the town so much money and had sent so many bootleggers to jail that Humboldt wanted her to run for office again. Not a single candidate came out against her. She again had the field to herself when she ran for her third term. But after she had served six years she wanted to step out of politics.

"And I don't intend ever to run for anything again," she declared. "I'm trying to drop some of my club activities. I want some time for myself to do as I please and when I please."

Mrs. Johnston has just completed a term as treasurer of the National Society of Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America. She is still National treasurer of the Daughters of the Barons of Runnemeade, chairman of the family history committee of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs, and National president of the United States Daughters of 1812. From 1917 to 1920 she was treasurer general of the D. A. R. and has been State regent of this D. A. R. in Iowa. She hasn't missed a D. A. R. Congress since 1914, but says she doesn't know how this one compares with the others because she has seen so little of it.

"I've spent all my time in committee meetings drawing up resolutions. But just what I'm going to fade gracefully into the background and watch the others work for a while."

May Dimply Skin

Help nature clear up the blotches and make your skin lovelier the safe easy way—see Resinol

Resinol

"First Ladies of the Capital"

Margaret Santry, of The Washington Post editorial staff, will interview Hon. Mary T. Norton, Representative from New Jersey, over a National Broadcasting Company network, Friday afternoon.

at 3 o'clock

WMAL

Read Margaret Santry's interview story in The Washington Post Saturday.

Party Reunited By Democrats In Somerset

Election Slate for Fall Still Lacks Support of Tull Group.

Princess Anne, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—Somerset County Democrats, split into two factions for 20 years, apparently have buried the hatchet and have declared their intention of acting together again as one party. Following a recent conference of representatives of the Quinities (Progressives) and the Miles (Regulars), the following statement was made:

"All differences have been ironed out, the hatchet buried and Somerset's strife-torn Democracy is united into one solid, cooperative body."

Those active in bringing about this harmony gathering even named a complete ticket for the fall election as follows:

State of Candidates.
State Senate—Robert H. Jones, Fairmount, backer and business man, and chairman of the Democratic State central committee. A regular.
State House—J. Millard Tawes, present incumbent; Crawford Baker, considered as a Quinn follower.
County executive—C. Mace Smith, a regular and one of Princess Anne's leading business men.
Sheriff—William Dryden, Crisfield sea-food dealer, and a regular.
County commissioner—Charles Barnes, Westover, James Simmons, Chance, and Harold Cox, Lawton.
State Legislature—Carl Hoffman, Deals Island, regular; Thomas Simkins, Mount Vernon, progressive, and former member of House.
Member State central committee—Charles R. Rounds, Dr. Thomas B. Whaley, Bay Woodland, regular; Wallace M. Quinn, present member of committee; Edward H. Dine and Ralph W. Powell, progressive.
Delegates to State convention—W. Bodman, Fred Blake, regular; James E. St. Paul, Tull, progressive.
No candidate was named for State's attorney, although it is generally conceded that Edgar A. Jones, Princess Anne, attorney, and a regular, has the inside edge.
Chief Judge First Judicial circuit—George H. Myers, Princess Anne, a regular.

Reckon Without Mr. Tull.

While the "harmony" movement has reached the ticket-naming stage, everything is not as peaceful as it appears on the surface, observers say. Harding Parker Tull, Regular Democrat leader, was not invited to the harmony meeting, and had nothing to do with the naming of the ticket.
Mr. Tull, with a dozen lieutenants, all followers of Gov. Ritchie, are said to be out of tune with the movement, and are planning to place a full slate of Regular Democrats in the field for a primary fight.

It is pointed out that this faction would be in an advantageous position, should the Governor announce for a fifth term. At present, Mr. Tull is the acknowledged head of the party in Somerset.

Lynchburg Merchants Elect.

Lynchburg, Va., April 18 (Spl.).—J. E. Wood has been elected president of the Lynchburg Retail Merchants Association for the coming year. B. C. Baldwin is the new vice president. The directors elected L. P. Mann executive secretary for another year.

Waiting

Governor Ritchie to Speak, But Not of Plans.

Baltimore, April 18 (Spl.).—Gov. Ritchie of Maryland has long been accustomed to making important political announcements at meetings of the Concord Club here. There is a meeting of the club tomorrow night and the Governor is scheduled as one of the principal speakers.

"Politicians thought the time had come for the Governor to announce whether he would run for the Senate or for a fifth term at Annapolis. Today the Governor said: 'My engagement at the Concord Club is to talk about Maryland's Tercentenary. No discussion of the Maryland of 300 years ago would be complete without touching on political conditions then, but that will be the most recent politics in my talk.'"

3 Baltimore Police Injured in Struggle

Cut, Bruised Before Holdup Suspect Is Subdued.

Baltimore, April 18 (Spl.).—Battling a suspect wanted in a Richmond, Va., holdup, two detectives and a patrolman were cut and bruised before they subdued the man today.

The prisoner is docketed as Jack Harris, 26, colored.
Detectives Leroy Myers and Charles Marz and Patrolman Paul County surprised Harris in his rooming house and ordered him to accompany them. The man attempted to draw a pistol, they said, and when the policemen disarmed him he broke away, ran into the hall and tried to dive over the banisters.

Maryland Guard Group Honored

Members of Company B Presented Awards.

Hagerstown, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—Col. D. John Markey, commander of the First Regiment, Maryland National Guard, presented awards for marksmanship and service to members of Company B, at the annual banquet.
Company B took high honors in the Mealey rifle match at Camp Ritchie last summer. Private F. L. Kriner made high score with 94, while Private Woodrow Ritz won third place. Both received medals, while the local company received the cup, which it will retain for one year.

Private A. G. Jackson received an award as the outstanding member of the company and Sgt. Victor B. Conrad received a watch as the enlisted man doing most for the company last year.

W. Va. Judge Hits Beer Sale

Urges Indictments for Importation of Liquor.

Charleston, W. Va., April 18 (P.).—Renewing a former attack on the State's 32 per cent beer law as being unconstitutional, Federal Judge George W. McClintic told a grand jury yesterday that "a crooked Legislature has seen fit to attempt to legalize" beer.

Opening the spring court term, the judge asserted provisions of the State constitution "absolutely forbid the sale of beer or other intoxicants in West Virginia," and instructed the jury to return indictments against any persons charged with bringing liquor into the State.

Attorney General Holt has ruled that importation of legally acquired liquor for personal use is not contrary to State law.
Judge McClintic asserted "all prosecuting attorneys of the State are doing all they can, it seems, to prevent enforcement of those plain provisions of our State constitution relating to sale of beer."

The jurist also attacked medicinal liquors sent into the State, saying, "Good moonshine whiskey is better than this legal liquor. It is nothing more than alcohol mixed with water, red pepper and flavoring extracts."

Roosevelt Names 11 as Postmasters

Recommendations Made for 3 Nearby States.

Eleven postmaster appointments in Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland were included in a lengthy list of nominations sent to the Senate yesterday by President Roosevelt. They were:
Virginia—Boone Mill, Lewis C. Jamison; Gloucester, Thomas W. Cooke; Rocky Mount, Walter McC. Greer.
West Virginia—Cedar Grove, Charles A. Skaggs; Mount Hope, Earl S. Miller; Owens, Harry Clarke; Saint Albans, Harry E. Riddieberger.

Maryland—Manchester, Jacob R. L. Wink; Sparks, Francis H. Blake; Union Bridge, Joseph Wilmer Baker; Williamsport, Nellie T. Reed.

Liquor Inspector Named.

Luray, Va., April 18 (Spl.).—An appointment under the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board was announced today when J. W. Morrison, of Luray, went to Richmond to begin his duties as liquor inspector.

Club Women Back Pensions for Aged After Hot Debate

Baltimore, April 18 (Spl.).—Discussion of a resolution advocating an adequate old-age pension law for Maryland led to sharp exchanges at the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs here today.

The resolution finally was passed, after it had been changed to read that the convention merely "indorsed adequate old-age pensions."

One of the speakers today was Dr. Josephine L. Pierce, second vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, who outlined educational problems in several States.
Reports of officers and committees featured the morning session. Speakers in the afternoon included Mrs. Mark W. Rowe, of Cumberland; Judge Fay L. Bentley, of the District of Columbia; Juvenile Court, Miss Amelia A. Doelisch; Mrs. Donald R. Hooker and Mrs. Duncan H. Brent.

Bridgeport Host To Mission Body

Dr. J. C. Broomfield Among Speakers.

Bridgeport, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—With 100 delegates and 200 visitors attending the annual State convention of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Protestant Church opened here today.

A featured speaker tonight was Dr. J. C. Broomfield, of Baltimore, president of the general church conference. The Rev. L. E. Bee, of Fairmont, was the chief speaker this afternoon.
A leader on tomorrow's program will be Miss Betty Brittingham, of Baltimore, National chairman of the foreign missionary work. Mrs. H. B. Marshall, of Barnesville, State president, is presiding.

Other speakers are Mrs. Bana Hinzman, of Weston; Mrs. J. H. Snyder, of Point Marion, Pa.; Mrs. A. C. Ice, of Morgantown, and Mrs. E. M. Mitchell, of Parkersburg.

Charleston Workers, Out One Day, Return

Charleston, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—Workers of the Kelley Ax & Tool Co. here, who struck yesterday, returned to their work today pending adoption of a contract now being studied by company and union officials.

The State Labor Department today received word that a strike of 500 potters at Newell, Chester and New Cumberland had been called off by the strikers. Pottery company officials said the men would have to "take their chances" on getting their old jobs back.

Textile Strike Spread Feared

Baltimore Leader Warns Forbidden Work Being Done in Counties.

Baltimore, April 18 (Spl.).—Garment workers in many small towns in western Maryland may be called out on strike unless a walkout of Baltimore workers, seeking higher wages, is adjusted, it was reported here today.

Charles Kriender, agent of the International Ladies Garment Workers and leader of the strike here, said operators of factories where the strike is already under way have begun to ship goods to smaller plants in the counties. Unless this practice is stopped, and unless the strike is quickly arbitrated, he will order the county workers out, Kriender indicated.

About 300 workers walked out in Baltimore yesterday and more quit their machines today. If a strike is called in the counties, between 3,000 and 4,000 workers will be affected, it is estimated.

The strike at present is confined to cutters, in the cotton garment industry, who are seeking higher wages and shorter hours. Picket lines have been drawn here and the factories affected. Police are on guard to prevent disorder.

Senior 4-H Council Formed for Carroll

Westminster, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—A Senior 4-H Club Council, designed to further club work in Carroll County and composed of former 4-H Club members, has been organized.

Officers are Frank Bushey, Woodbine, president; Norman Hull, Union Bridge, vice president; Naomi Shoemaker, Woodbine, secretary, and Rachael Garner, Westminster, treasurer.

Virginia Lacks Penny Of $60,000 Tag Fund

Danville, Va., April 18 (Spl.).—After taking in $60,000 in cash for State automobile licenses, Miss Edith Turner, in charge of issuing them, yesterday discovered she was only 1 cent short.

A total of 4,450 tags were sold here.

Man, 73, and Bride, 70, Wed at Capon Bridge

Capon Bridge, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—Mrs. Katie Funkhouser, whose age was given as 70, and Charles W. Wolford, who gave his age as 73, were married by the Rev. J. L. McLean, Presbyterian minister, here.

Pittsville Member Heads J. O. U. A. M.

Fred Kelly Among Officers Named at Cumberland.

Cumberland, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—Fred Kelly, of Pittsville, Md., was elected State counselor of the Junior Order United American Mechanics at the sessions here today prior to adjournment.

Other officers elected were, vice counselor, Jasper L. Huff, of Cumberland; secretary, H. L. Mennerick, Baltimore; assistant State secretary, H. A. Grimm, Baltimore; treasurer, R. T. Stevens, Baltimore; conductor, Ashley Corum, Baltimore; warden, B. H. Ford, Crisfield; inside sentinel, James M. Saylor, Frederick; outside sentinel, Rufus E. Collins, Chesterdown; chaplain, Clarence B. Baker, Mount Airy.
Crisfield was selected as the next place of meeting.

W.C. Feagans' Rites To Be Held Friday

Farmer, Miller, Dies.

Charles Town, W. Va., April 18 (Spl.).—W. C. Feagans, 77, miller and farmer of Jefferson County, died at his home near here today after a lingering illness.

Mr. Feagans had owned and operated a mill established more than a century ago by his father, Silas Feagan. He leaves his widow, Minnie Feagan, a brother, Joseph Feagan, of Ridgeway, Va., and seven children: Stary Feagan, Alexandria, Va.; Preston Feagan, Baltimore, Md.; Calvin Feagan, Chambersburg, Pa.; Greil Feagan, here; Mrs. C. E. Shewbridge, Cumberland, Md.; Mrs. Alvin Brown, Washington, and Mrs. George M. Ebert, Charles Town.

Funeral services will take place Friday at 2 p. m. from the home. Burial will be in Edge Hill Cemetery.

Students Present Musical Comedy

'Bon Voyage' Is Staged by Cumberland Group.

Cumberland, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—The combined musical organizations of Pennsylvania Avenue High School presented "Bon Voyage," a musical comedy, tonight.

The principals in the cast were Ethel Welshons, Elizabeth Murray, Virgil Eackles, Delberta Huffman, Clitus Hartsock, Ruth Weber, Nola Shobe, Edward Moore and Lester Harvey. Tom Breakall headed the singing chorus.

In the choruses were Helen Groves, Mary Jean Cox, Mary Louise Beecher, Dorothy Dowlan, Marianna Reed, Eleanor Sterner, Margaret Gault, Wanelia Ayers, Jean Arthur, Maxine Cramblitt, Vivian Deakens, Maxine Souder, Delberta Huffman, Helen Groves, Marian Daniels, Marian Witherup, Mary Jean Cox, Katherine Burger and Ruth Weber.

Hagerstown Sued By Jailed Autoist

Hagerstown, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—Hagerstown was named defendant in a suit for $5,000 filed here yesterday by Paul Mooney, Shippensburg, Pa.

Mooney alleges a motorcycle operated by a Hagerstown policeman crashed into his car, causing damages, and that Mooney was charged falsely with reckless driving and illegally detained in a cell at police station here.

Illegal parking of another car on the street caused the motorcycle to swerve and strike the Mooney car, it is charged.

Tred Avon Yacht Race Season Opens May 30

Easton, Md., April 18 (Spl.).—The board of the Tred Avon Yacht Club, at Oxford, has announced that the racing season will open May 30, with many boats expected from Oxford, Trighman, Cambridge, St. Michaels and other bay towns.
The club auxiliary recently elected Mrs. Paul Kunder, president; Mrs. Glenn Aldrich, secretary, and Mrs. W. O. Faddy, treasurer.

BECKERS
EXPANSION SALE
Reductions in every dept.
1314 F STREET N.W.
Fifteenth and Eye Streets N.W.
Introductory Sale
Friday and Saturday
Specials
Fresh Cut Roses, $1 Dozen Large Bouquet or Box of Spring Flowers, $1.00
We Specialize on Corsage Bouquets and Floral Arrangements.
WE DELIVER

RESORTS
Atlantic City, N. J.
For a True Appreciation of the Famous Spring Season
HOTEL DENNIS
ATLANTIC CITY
IDEALLY, fashionably situated on the beach, overlooking beach and sea.
OFFERING the easy comfort of home and the luxury of leisure supplemented with a famous cuisine.
SUN DECKS and solarium—Garden Terrace.
OCEAN VIEW from guest rooms.
Games and entertainment—entirely children's features.
GOLF, horseback riding, roller chairing, theaters, cards, concerts, dances.
Interesting Spring Rates
American and European Plans.
WALTER J. BUZBY, Inc.

The Hecht Co.
F STREET AT SEVENTH

Half-Size Jacket Frocks $13.95
Why do little women flock to our third floor? Because they find such a variety of flattering slimming, young jacket frocks like the one sketched here! Sizes 16½ to 24½.
Third Floor, Better Dresses

AMERICAN FURNITURE STORE
OPEN EVERY DAY FROM 9 A. M. TO 6 P. M.
PRICES SLASHED ON USED FURNITURE
Easy Credit--No Extra Costs--Pay as you earn SLIDING COUCHES, with mattresses $12.00
COIL SPRING DAY BEDS $14.95
REFRIGERATORS, good condition $4.50
3-Piece FIBRE SUITE—Consists of Settee, Chair and Rocker with upholstered spring-filled seats..... $19.50
ODD DAVENPORT — covered in velour with loose cushions..... $22.50
2-Piece LIVING ROOM SUITE—Sofa and Chair, covered in velour. Used $25.00
3-Piece LIVING ROOM SUITE—covered in jacquard velour, consists of Sofa, Club and Bunny Chair. Used $32.00
3-Piece BED-DAVENPORT SUITE—Covered in velour with wood frame $39.00
8-Piece DINING ROOM SUITE—Buffet, China, Server, Ex. Table, 4 Side Chairs. Used $45.00
2-Piece BED-DAVENPORT SUITE—Covered in Velour. Sofa and Chair $49.00
3-Piece LIVING ROOM SUITE—Floor sample suite, never been used. Covered in jacquard velour..... $59.00
3-Piece MOHAIR DAVENPORT SUITE—Consists of bed-davenport and 2 chairs..... $59.00
3-Piece LIVING ROOM SUITE—Beautiful new tapestry floor sample suite. Sofa and 2 Chairs $60.00
10-Piece DINING ROOM SUITE—Made of choice walnut veneers. Large, handsome pieces. A real value sensation $59.00
Remember the Address 512 9th St. N. W.
Inter-Ocean Bldg. Just Below "F" Street

"FULL SPEED AHEAD!" IS FACTORY SCHEDULE AS AMERICA OKAYS BIG DODGE NEW DODGE!
In Coast-to-Coast Sweep—23 Dodge Extra Features Win in Every Comparison Against Others
ALL America is stampeding to Dodge show rooms—driving Dodge sales to ever higher peaks, for just one reason—greatest value.
Greatest value PLUS a country-wide knowledge that there is absolutely no chance going wrong—if not getting the car that suits you best—when you buy on the "Show-Down" Plan!
That is why the factory order today is "Full Speed Ahead!" And that is why—faced with the enormous demand—Dodge is rushing these cars to you by trainload, shipload and gigantic truck-aways to avoid delay in filling your order.
When you compare cars on the "Show-Down" Plan, you don't have to accept anybody's word for the extra quality Dodge offers in every comparison. You see it all for yourself.
And in a simple, factual way that everyone understands.
You see why Dodge is the safest car with its all-steel body and hydraulic brakes, always equalized to avoid skidding and swerving. Gears that are noiseless at every speed. "Floating-Cushion" Wheels, Cross-steering and patented Floating Power engine mountings—the exclusive Dodge combination for completely smooth, leveled, vibrationless riding.
Go to your nearest Dodge dealer today, get the "Show-Down" score card, and have him explain about the "Show-Down" Plan. We believe it will repay you with the greatest car satisfaction and money value, in all your car-buying experience.
DODGE BROTHERS CORPORATION
Advertisement authorized by Department of Engineering, Chrysler Motors

THE OLD WAY... UNEVEN
THE NEW WAY... EVEN
NEW Bigger DODGE $690*
Time payments to fit your budget. Ask for the official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan.

Genuine Dodge and Plymouth Parts and Service	Dodge and Plymouth Dealers	Dodge Passenger Cars and Trucks Plymouth Passenger Cars
The Trow Motor Company 1526 14th St. N. W. Fred Sales & Service 3289 M St. N. W. General Auto Sales Co. 11st & Va. Ave., N. W. Kaplan & Crawford, Incorporated 2329 Champlain Street, N. W. Lee Rocco, Inc. 5-7-9-11 New York Ave., N. E. Torrey Motor Company 1623 L Street, N. W.	Richard & Davis 2236 Pennsylvania Ave. S. E. Anacostia, D. C. Washington Motor Car Company, Inc. 2035 17th St. N. W. MARYLAND Allentown Fadgett Motor & Tractor Co. Baltimore, Baltimore Motor Sales Capital Heights, Romney's Garage College Park, Sellers Sales & Service Hyttsville Queen's Chapel Service Station Gratford, Holmes & George LaPlata, Mitchell Motor Company Laurel, Laurel Motor Co. Leesville North End Filling Station Mt. Rainier, Edwards Motor Company Prince Frederick Mitchellville, Monroe Baldwin Leesville, First Motor Co. Rockville, Road Brothers Silver Spring, Jack Fry Upper Marlboro, S. Frank Devell	VIRGINIA Bluesmont, Beatty's Garage Clarendon, Kirby's Service Falls Church, Falls Church Motors Falls Church, Falls Church Motors Hume, Frank Goode Motors Co. Kilmarnock, City Motors, Inc. Leesville, First Motor Co. Manassas, Jesse Crosby Middleburg, Central Motor Sales Quantico, Monahan Motor Co. The Plains, C. K. Moffet Co. Warrenton, Lee Street Garage

COPYRIGHT, 1934, BY THE WASHINGTON POST PUBLISHING CO.

THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1934

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER, POSTOFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

District Fund Slashes Face Battle Today

Ditler Leads in House Move for Restoration of Estimates.

Clashes With Blanton on Tax Cut at Cost of Necessities.

A spirited fight over the District supply bill when it is read today under the five-minute rule was foreshadowed yesterday as three members of the House made pleas for restoration of estimates slashed by the District appropriations subcommittee.

Meanwhile, Representative Blanton (Democrat), Texas, sponsor of the proposed reduction in the tax rate from $1.50 to $1.20, threatened that if the proposal is stricken from the bill on a point of order the House will vote to reduce the Federal contribution by $3,500,000.

Blanton's threat, made to Representative Dittler (Republican), Pennsylvania, following the latter's appeal to the House to restore many of the items slashed by the Democratic majority of the subcommittee.

Offers to Bet Dittler.

The Texan offered to bet Dittler $25 that the House would cut the Federal contribution, now $5,700,000 and the lowest in District history, in order to utilize the estimated surplus of more than $3,000,000.

Chairman Norton of the House District Committee, earlier had made a plea for a more adequate appropriation for tuberculosis eradication.

Representative Smith (Democrat), of Virginia, asked that funds be provided to complete the walled group of buildings at the Lorton Reformatory and to increase the guards so "the convicts won't overrun the State of Virginia." He also asked for $10,000 to finance an engineering survey preparatory to replacing Chain Bridge.

Dittler opened his appeal for a more liberal District supply bill by stating that he did not consider the issue a party one, but that the District is a responsibility that rests on the shoulders of Congress.

Opposes Slashes.

While commending his colleagues on the subcommittee, he said:

"I'm not in accord with these slashes in estimates, and I do not accept the bill. The District appropriations bill is really a misnomer. It should be called the District tax bill, as its primary purpose is to reduce the tax rate in the District."

Although curtailment of taxes is on the whole commendable, he said, it is wrong when many needed projects suffer.

Later Blanton asked Dittler why he did not raise a point of order against the tax rate cut in committee session and stated that he would be willing to eliminate the tax rate cut if Dittler would agree to a corresponding reduction in the Federal contribution.

Charges Insincerity.

Dittler charged that a large part of the hearings conducted by the subcommittee were occupied with other questions than a sincere purpose to ascertain the real needs of the District.

"Strict economy is well enough," he said, "except when it involves the curtailment of worthwhile and necessary municipal projects."

The District, he said, should be an ideal city to which members of Congress, as well as residents, could point with pride.

Taking up the slash in the estimate for the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board by $22,000, Dittler said the subcommittee had given no reason for the cut.

The 43 per cent slash in the estimates of the Public Utility Commission, he said, would penalize the consuming public rather than the commission through severe crippling of regulation.

Plans Amendments.

Dittler said he intended to offer amendments today to restore the following amounts slashed from the Budget Bureau estimates:

Street and other lighting, $137,400; Public Utilities Commission, $36,823; Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, $22,548; fuel for schools, $25,000; Fire Department, $30,000; care of children wards by Welfare Department, $40,000.

He said he would yield to Mrs. Norton to offer amendments to restore $3,744 to the Tuberculosis Hospital and $10,000 to the Children's Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Representative De Priest (Republican), of Illinois, who spoke yesterday in behalf of the Shaw Junior High School, will be permitted to offer an amendment to restore the $15,000 for improvements deleted by the subcommittee.

Whether the District bill will be disposed of today by the House is conjectural. Should a fight develop on the numerous amendments, a final vote may not be taken before tomorrow.

Under today's procedure any member will have the right to offer an amendment and speak on it five minutes.

Shipwreck Led to Alitar.

Seattle (U.P.)—When the passenger steamer, Sea Thrush, went on the rocks and was in danger of breaking up, Capt. William Reid of the Sage Brush, rescued among other passengers, Miss Frances Whitting. Three months later they were married.

Dirt That Caused Suit for $25,000

Here is the "yellow clay" that Mrs. J. Borden Harriman says was dumped on her landscaped terrace on orders from Raymond T. Baker. Her suit against Baker for $25,000 is now being tried. This is the scene that greeted the photographer as he stood, with the jurors, on the portico of Mrs. Harriman's home.

Care of City's Tubercular Hit As Primitive

Rep. Norton Pleads for Funds to Battle White Plague.

An impassioned plea for a more adequate appropriation for tuberculosis eradication in the District supply bill and elimination of the tax rate cut proposal was made in the House yesterday by Representative Mary T. Norton, of the House District Committee.

She also urged passage of a bill authorizing the District to borrow $20,000,000 from the Federal Emergency Administration for a new tuberculosis hospital.

Declaring that she had made a personal inspection of Washington's tuberculosis institutions, she said:

"In the most primitive town nothing could be found that is worse. What I saw convinced me that the people of the District should at least have the right to elect representatives in the Congress to see that they receive a square deal."

Facts Personally Gathered.

The "bare facts" which she said she found in her inspection follow:

A tuberculosis hospital erected 30 or more years ago, which was supposed to be merely a wing of what was to be the finished hospital, is providing shelter for 220 men and women, white and black, in a space that would be crowded to provide for 100. Three wards are filled with colored people, five wards with white people. In one I found 28 people crowded into a room about 20 by 40 feet—just about sufficient space between the beds to walk—one chair upon which the patient's clothing was kept, there being no room for a closet. There were one bath, one shower, four basins and three toilets.

No Recreation Room.

Another ward, 22 by 40, contained 28 beds—all filled; still another, 22 beds; 28 packed into another. No recreation room anywhere. There are no examining rooms. The operating room is poorly lighted. They have a very old X-ray machine which could not be used for a patient reclining. There are no private rooms available for operations. Until recently there was only one resident doctor; he now has one assistant. There is one student interne, 16 nurses. Four of the 16 are on nights with 12 hour shifts.

"Too great praise can not be given Dr. Peabody and his small staff. It is humanly possible for them to live and seek under existing conditions is difficult to imagine. Those responsible for such conditions should bow their heads in shame. In the most primitive town nothing would be found that is worse."

Sheet Iron Buildings.

There are 12 tiny shacks on the hospital grounds, used by the convalescent patients. These are built of sheet iron, heated with a stove in winter and very cold. In the summer they are places of living torture.

I found but one tuberculosis clinic in the city and that had no relation to the hospital. The hospital is under the District government and the clinic under Dr. Fowler, U. S. Health Service. There is now no place to send children suffering from tuberculosis. There are about 150 children now attending the so-called health school. It is expected these will be sent to the new children's hospital, when it is completed. I understand that this is about the capacity of the new hospital, so that there will still be no place for the hundreds of tubercular cases all over Washington.

It is expected these will be sent to the new children's hospital, when it is completed. I understand that this is about the capacity of the new hospital, so that there will still be no place for the hundreds of tubercular cases all over Washington.

It is expected these will be sent to the new children's hospital, when it is completed. I understand that this is about the capacity of the new hospital, so that there will still be no place for the hundreds of tubercular cases all over Washington.

10-Cent Pay Check.

Montreal (U.P.)—Ed English, veteran Canadian railway conductor, has what he believes is the smallest pay check ever issued by a railroad company. The check is for 10 cents. It was issued February 15, 1913.

Mrs. Harriman Charges Backers Disfigured Her Estate.

The jury sitting on the $25,000 property damage suit brought by Mrs. J. Borden Harriman against Raymond T. Baker, former director of the mint, and his wife, Mrs. Delphine Dodge Baker, adjourned from the District Supreme Court Building yesterday afternoon to 1800 Ridge road northwest to view a three-year-old pile of dirt.

On the suggestion of the plaintiff and defendants, the jurors looked over the 4,500 cubic yards of yellow clay which Mrs. Harriman charges was dumped on her estate by her neighbors, the Bakers. The question of responsibility for alleged disfigurement remained moot.

The dirt, which has been left untouched where it was dumped three years ago, is alleged by Mrs. Harriman to have been deposited there while she was in Europe by landscape gardeners doing over the Baker grounds.

Yesterday, before Justice James M. Proctor, colored servants of Mrs. Harriman, "Anselm Elder" and Josephine Robinson, testified trucks dumped the dirt during their employer's absence. They said they were told "it was all right."

D. C. Labor Pay Violations Hit

Contractors Ordered to Maintain Prevailing Wage Scale.

Failure of contractors on District construction jobs to pay the prevailing wage scale for laborers was charged yesterday by John S. Locher, executive secretary of the Washington Building Trades Council, in a complaint to Engineer Commissioner John A. Gotwals.

He accused contractors of paying from 35 to 45 cents an hour instead of the union scale of 45 to 75 cents an hour.

Commissioner Gotwals issued orders that the prevailing wage scale must be paid on all District jobs. The Bacon-Davis law requires that workers on Government construction jobs shall be paid the wage scale prevailing in the community where the construction is taking place.

Locher charged that less than the prevailing scale is being paid to laborers on the Calvert Street Bridge, the Woodrow Wilson Junior High School and the addition to Gallinger Hospital.

Street Car Kills Harry A. Flood, 71

Harry A. Flood, 71, a carpenter of the 400 block of Eighth street southeast, was killed yesterday when struck by a street car near Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast.

He died en route to Providence Hospital. Witnesses said Flood stepped in front of the street car, apparently unaware of its approach.

Benton G. Tinder, of the 1400 block of Newton street northwest, Haistorm of the car, told police he attempted to avoid striking the man by applying brakes and shifting controls into reverse. He has been ordered to appear at a coroner's inquest.

Symphony Association To Elect 4 Directors

Four directors of the National Symphony Orchestra Association will be elected at a meeting to be held today in the board room of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Seventeenth and H streets northwest. The charter of the organization provides that 4 of the 12 directors be elected each year.

Review Board Speeds Sharp Attack on NRA

Darrow Group to Assail
Policy Toward Small Business Men.

A report, sharply critical to the National Recovery Administration's alleged tendency to promote monopoly and crush the small business man, was said yesterday to be in a "finishing touch" stage.

The document, drafted by Chairman Clarence Darrow and five other members of the National Recovery Review Board, was expected to be presented to the White House Saturday.

The board was set up several months ago after two Republican Senators, Borah, Idaho, and Nye, North Dakota, had charged that small business was not getting a square deal in complying with trade agreements drafted by NRA.

Meantime, long-developing friction between Mr. Darrow and John F. Sinclair, a former New York financial writer and member of the board, as to the proper functions of the group, broke into the open yesterday.

Clash Over Policy.

Sinclair has made no secret of his disagreement over policy with Darrow. They have had several clashes at open hearings. It was pointed out that in view of this friction, Sinclair may file a minority report.

Darrow said yesterday that the report had been approved by all but Sinclair, who was reported to be in New York.

When asked if the board would continue in existence after the report is presented, Darrow said:

"I don't know a thing about that."

In reply to another question as to whether the board, which examines the effect of the NRA on the small business man, has any more complaints to hear, the chairman answered:

"Plenty."

President Roosevelt asked the board to submit its findings on the eve of his departure for a short vacation to Miami, from which he returned this week. During that vacation, Roosevelt was visited by Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson and Donald Richberg, NRA counsel.

The board has investigated to determine whether the Recovery Administration has made things easier for big business by letting the latter play the major part in writing its own codes and then setting up code authorities to administer them, with consequent detriment to the small man. When the board was established, Johnson was unsuccessful in making it a part of the NRA, due to Darrow's effort to render it more independent.

It had an appropriation of $50,000 and operated with a minimum of red tape and ballyhoo. It examined the steel, bituminous coal, ice, oil, electrical and other codes, two of which, the steel and electrical codes, already have been sharply criticized by the Federal Trade Commission. Though it has received complaints about every one of the 400-odd codes drawn by the NRA, no hearings have been scheduled for later than the end of April.

There were indications yesterday that if the body discontinued its efforts with so much left to be done, a renewed outbreak would be heard on Capitol Hill.

However, Chairman Darrow does not relish going on with the work for any great length of time. There was speculation yesterday as to whether he might not be relieved soon and another chairman put in his place.

Parking Ban At Night Up To Motorists

Van Duzer Has an 'Open Mind,' Would Let Drivers Decide.

Washington motorists will be given a chance to voice sentiments on tentative plans to prohibit overnight parking on streets throughout the city.

Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer, after a lengthy study of local parking conditions, announced that plans for the overnight ban will be presented for discussion before various citizens' groups.

Van Duzer said he did not advocate the ban, but "had an open mind on the subject."

"We make the plans," he said. "It is up to the motorists to decide upon their enactment."

It was pointed out, however, that all-night parking is a source of hindrance in cases of emergency.

Washington, Van Duzer declared, is one of the few cities to permit night parking.

Following numerous complaints, Van Duzer said his Traffic Advisory Council took the matter up with several citizens' associations. Of 15 returns, four organizations were in favor of the ban, one against, and the others undecided.

Van Duzer pointed out that there are approximately 160,000 automobiles in Washington. One-third of these are parked on the streets overnight in both residential and business sections, he said.

The traffic director declared he was in favor of a parking abolition on all arterial highways, boulevards and thoroughfares on which there are street car lines. This, he declared, should come before another heavy snowfall.

For a four-day period, beginning at 8 a. m. today, special parking regulations will be in effect for the Cherry Blossom Festival. The regulations include no parking on following streets:

Fourteenth street between Constitution avenue and Water street southwest; Twelfth street between Water street and Constitution avenue northwest; and Virginia avenue between Twentieth street and Constitution avenue northwest. Twelfth street will be one-way northbound.

Two Deaths Held To Be Accidental

Steam Shovel Blow and Stairs Fall Fatal.

Two verdicts of accidental death were returned yesterday at a coroner's inquest into the deaths of Ester Butler, 34, 200 block of C street northwest, and Tony Chiblack, 45, of Baltimore, Md.

Butler was killed April 5, when he plunged down a flight of stairs at the C street address. Eugene Cuppett, 25, who was questioned at the time, was exonerated of blame. The jury held that Butler was intoxicated.

Shilback, construction foreman at the new P street bridge, was struck by a steam shovel bucket. He died Tuesday in Emergency Hospital. The foreman was struck when a cable holding the bucket slipped out of place.

Gene Archer Will Sing For D. A. R. Delegates

Gene Archer, holder of a vocal scholarship at Peabody Institute, will sing this afternoon at the reception and tea to be given at the Women's Congressional Club in honor of the D. A. R. delegates from West Virginia. He will be accompanied by Josef Privette, of Baltimore.

Doctor Denies Child's Love For Parents Causes 'Complex'

District Parent-Teacher
Session as Warned of Adolescent Fears.

Real love for parents never caused a father or mother complex, Dr. John Rathbone Oliver, psychiatrist at Johns Hopkins University and author of "Fear," "Victim and Victor" and other works on psychology, told members of the District Congress of Parents and Teachers yesterday at their annual convention.

Mrs. L. B. Castell was elected president of the District congress at conclusion of the meeting at Wardman Park Hotel. She succeeds Mrs. Joseph N. Saunders, who served two terms and was ineligible for reelection.

Other Officers Elected.

Mrs. W. B. Fry was elected first vice president; Mrs. W. C. Jones, second vice president; Edward D. Reed, third vice president; Mrs. Ralph Hoagland, fourth vice president; Mrs. L. Jordan, fifth vice president; Dr. Margaret Stroh, sixth vice president; Mrs. Laura Buell, seventh vice president; Mrs. W. F. Hamcker, secretary; Mrs. C. C. Mulady, treasurer, and Mrs. J. S. Davis, historian.

Mrs. George Corbin and H. W. Townsend were elected delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations.

"When children reach the adolescent stage they grow away from their parents," Dr. Oliver said. "A barrier often grows up between parents and their children which both are powerless to break down. Parents complain that their children don't love them any more. Children say their parents don't understand them. It is during this period that fathers and mothers must stand aside and watch their children solve their own problems. In other words they must let them go; all they can do is to stand in readiness when they are needed."

Dr. Oliver emphasized the need of understanding the problem of the normal child.

Needs of Normal Children.

"Too much attention has been paid to the abnormal and too little to the normal," he said. "Eighty-five per cent of our children are normal and have problems which demand our attention."

"The fears of childhood center around three things: First of all, clothes. The normal child wants to look like other children. It makes him unhappy, and often causes emotional complexes when he is forced to dress poorly or differently."

"Then there are the phobias that arise about different foods. Many children take dislikes to foods they have never tasted, and consequently they never have balanced diets."

"The third great fear of childhood is health. Children hear references to certain diseases, don't understand them, and imagine they have them. Often youngsters worry themselves into poor health, just worrying about such things. Parents and doctors should be careful how they discuss diseases before children."

Fears become more complex, as children grow into adolescence, Dr. Oliver believes.

Worries in Later Years.

"When boys and girls grow older they begin to worry about such things as social position, work, and about their own inferiority. The last is the most dangerous, for it results in the inferiority complex, which makes the child think he will never amount to anything and might as well not try."

"Every child knows something adults would do well to remember," Dr. Oliver concluded. "That is to live in the present. When the day is over the child does not worry about the past or the future, he goes to sleep thinking that the day is past, the future unknown. This is the greatest rule for mental health ever discovered."

Three Indicted Here For Untaxed Liquor

Because they possessed liquor on which the liquor tax had not been paid, one man and two women were indicted by the District grand jury yesterday.

They were Frank Marano, Mary Brown, and Anna Giles. Fourteen gallons of untaxed liquor were found in the home of the two women, while at Marano's home police said they discovered 32 bottles of beer.

Hens Busy in 1933.

Spokane, Wash. (U.P.)—Washington hens produced 71,000,000 dozen eggs in 1933, three per cent of the Nation's total.

Grand Jurors Indict 28 As Gamblers

Charges Returned After Previous Body Had Given No Bills.

One Woman Named in Counts; Doors, Tables,
Shown at Probe.

The grand jury yesterday reconsidered a group of gambling cases in which charges had been ignored by their predecessors and voted indictments charging violations of the gaming laws.

The grand jury evidence differed widely from that presented to the last body. In the prior case scores of unwilling witnesses were paraded before the grand jury, while the present panel was asked only to see huge doors, gambling paraphernalia and other equipment seized by police in raids.

The past grand jury ignored requests for indictments against persons said to be operating places at 1407 and 1409 G street northwest. Yesterday indictments naming men found in those places were returned.

Edward J. Goldberg, William C. Byrne, Mack N. Handracks and John Maddox were arrested because of one of the raids, and Leo E. Wallach, John Papafotis, Frank W. Hicks, John Moore, Hugh F. Gallagher and Robert J. Forbes were arrested in the other. All were indicted yesterday.

Two men who had previously won acquittal through refusal of a grand jury to indict were named in a presentment returned against persons found at 915 Ninth street northwest. They were Victor Juliano and William Baroni. Two others, Wilbur Dorsey and Thomas W. Simon, arrested in the same raid, had been indicted by the last jury.

The grand jury indicted five men who were arrested when police descended upon a place at 509 G street northwest. The persons charged as a result of that raid were Charles Everett McWhin, James R. Miller, William Garner, Harry White and Albert C. Gibson. The grand jury also indicted a woman, Margaret Zerega, 32, who with Charles Frileigh, was arrested in a raid at 940 New York avenue northwest.

Other gambling indictments named Charles W. Lee, Howard Fowler, Alfred Jones, Joseph U. Curtis, Arthur Washington, Thomas A. Bryant, Carroll P. Nuckolls, Harry C. Adams, Benjamin Livingston and Adolph Olewack.

Continuance Won By Miss Woodward

D. A. R. Member Fights
Check Charges.

Miss Sarah E. Woodward, 55, socially prominent D. A. R. member, arrested Tuesday on a warrant charging her as a fugitive from Atlantic City, N. J., fought extradition when arraigned in Police Court yesterday, and was granted a 30-day continuance pending action of New Jersey authorities.

Miss Woodward was arrested for giving an allegedly worthless check for purchases at an Atlantic City jewelry concern. Representatives of the firm claim they have been unable to cash a $500 check given them by Miss Woodward in August, 1933.

Taken into custody by Washington detectives at the request of New Jersey police, Miss Woodward was fingerprinted, photographed and detained several hours at the Women's Bureau before posting bond of $500. She threatened to "sue somebody for this humiliation," and said the check was "perfectly good."

Man Bit Cow.

West Tisbury, Mass. (U.P.)—A cow moved forward and stepped on the foot of a milker at Herbert Mayhew's dairy here. The milker had to bite the cow's leg to free himself.

DUPONT CIRCLE LIQUOR STORE

A reliable liquor store for people who want the best. We handle only the highest grades of imported and domestic liquors at honest prices. We invite you to visit our beautiful store or call North 3572 for immediate delivery.

1336 Connecticut Avenue

Try Our...
CHERRY BLOSSOM COCKTAIL

As rare a treat as the Cherry Blossoms themselves—this sparkling, piquant cocktail, a special concoction by our Master Mixologist, Mr. William J. Donnelly. This exciting taste treat was created particularly for Festival Week. Enjoy it—also try—Olmsted's Sea Foods—Always Fresh—Never Frozen... Steaks and Chops Grilled Over Live Hickory Coals.

Olmsted Grill
1336 G Street

Good morning!
Be sure to attend the Cherry Blossom Ball. It's the way to be a part of the gayer side of the life of the Capital. It's the way to feel the spirit of spring. It's the time to wear Meyers evening dress. We can have you ready for Saturday.

Meyers Mens Shop
1331 F St. N.W.

BENNY

Incorporated!

By J. Carver Pusey

"CAP" STUBBS

You Bet

By Edwina

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

ACROSS.

- Garden implement
- Hardy tree
- Musical instrument
- Upbeat
- Lift up
- Is overland of
- Poker term
- To a higher point
- Came together
- Word of sorrow
- Evergreen tree
- German river
- Malt liquors
- Grass
- Kind of fruit
- Unrefined butter
- Delay by lack of wind
- Beval
- Belonging to him
- Strikes gently
- Peacock butterfly
- Ornamental button
- Launder
- Pen
- Sphere
- Small pie
- Rich pointed hill
- Old exclamation

DOWN.

- Formerly
- Rose-breasted cockatoo
- Strive to equal
- Winged
- Scattered a liquid in fine particles
- Type of propeller for a boat
- Unhappy
- Give one's word
- Flower
- Course of eating
- Feminine ending
- Trader
- Pertaining to a bone of the arm
- Sleeps, as flax
- Gladiator's salutation to Caesar
- Mother
- Musical study
- Roman history
- Path of mankind
- Opposite of weather
- Little lie
- Long fish
- Weapons
- Discharged a debt
- Solemn affirmation
- Kind of fish
- Final
- Salt of nitric acid
- Playing thing
- Separated
- Foot bottoms
- Vagabond
- Squander
- Of the sun
- Shallow receptacle
- Soft mineral
- Old musical note
- Automotive fuel colloq.
- Chop
- Birchplace of Abraham

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER.

D	A	M	A	R	I	A	N	O	N
E	M	U	C	A	N	D	I	D	A
P	O	L	E	T	E	N	D	I	S
O	R	R	I	S	E	L	K	D	O
S	A	I	D	F	O	E	P	E	S
E	L	M	F	A	N	P	O	W	E
N	O	D	J	U	T
D	E	F	E	R	B	O	G	S	U
E	N	O	W	L	A	G	T	U	N
C	A	B	A	I	D	P	A	N	E
A	M	A	Y	A	R	A	G	V	A
Y	E	S	T	E	R	D	A	Y	G
S	L	O	E	S	O	W	S	O	N

(Copyright, 1934.)

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

JOE JINKS, Featuring Dynamite Dunn

Detective Worries

Reaching a Limit

By Harry J. Tutthill

By Llanuza

NAPOLEON AND UNCLE ELBY

By Clifford McBride

DIXIE DUGAN

Ahoy Flossie!

By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel

THE GUMPS

Squelched

Walt Mason, Himself

Forbidden Books.

Divers books have been forbidden by censors here and there, and a man is roundly chidden if he reads them in his lair; though their style may be delicious, they are evil, they are vicious, and the rotten thoughts they dish us are the moralists' despair. By decree uncompromising they are outlawed, they are banned, so they get much advertising in all corners of the land; people then are forced to read them, who would never wish or need them, had the censor not decreed them as unfit for human hand. They were published at $2, so all delegates might buy; then the censor rears and hollers, and the price goes sailing high; all the bootleggers sell it, notwithstanding what befell it, and the night hawk peddlers yell it, and the censors weep and die. When we've bought a book and read it, seated by the garden fence, we can't give the censors credit for an overload of sense; for the book is stale and dreary, it has made us sad and weary, it is blotchy, it is bleary, it is turgid, it is dense. Had the censors just kept quiet, such a book would promptly fade, but they kicked up such a riot that its great success was made; and the foolish people bought it, with their eager hands they caught it, and the gifted gent who wrote it joins the millionaire parade.

(Copyright, 1934.)

Post Classified Ads are friendly little messages that render quick service to satisfy your daily needs. Read them today.

DICK TRACY

WINNIE WINKLE, the Breadwinner

Where Ignorance Is Bliss

Law Suit, Running First Race of Year, Triumphs in Havre de Grace Sprint Feature

Martin Colt Winner by 3 Lengths

National Anthem Second Ahead of Believer in Combat Purse.

10,000 Watch Program; Dougherty Turns in Riding 'Double.'

By Walter Haight
(Post Staff Correspondent).

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, April 18.—(Sp.)—If he didn't win, sue me." Just how many pre-race conversations ended with those words probably never will be known but the fact remains that Law Suit, a 3-year-old owned by J. W. J. Martin, of Baltimore, won today's feature race, in fact, 10,000 fans, one of the largest week-day gatherings in Maryland this spring, will attest that Law Suit won with ease. Three Lengths separated the colt from Mrs. Dodge Sloan's National Anthem and there were seven lengths between Law Suit and Mrs. L. Vau's Believer.

For the first time "The Graw," as this track is popularly known, received a break from the weather man. Although the track was far from fast, conditions overhead were ideal and even the losers had to agree that it was not a bad day for racing.

In the feature, only one of the six starters had been out previously this season. White Bird, which raced at Bowie, was the exception. Virtually all are named for the Peckham and Derby. The race was run in 1:14.3-5 over the drying track.

White Bird's early foot carried him into a narrow advantage over National Anthem until the far turn, where the Brookmeade colt stuck his head in front. Alfred Robertson had Law Suit close to the pace in a bunched field and he sent him up with a rush on the outside midway of the bend. The colt disposed of National Anthem after entering the final furlong and breezed home as if much the best. Believer, always in the thick of the fight, was an easy third over Gittap.

Wise Sister, $5.00 favorite, had a hard time graduating from the maiden ranks in the curtain raiser which was for maiden 2-year-olds. The daughter of Wise Counselor lost to the lead from Golden Dream after entering the stretch, but was driving hard to beat Lady Sable a head passing the judges. Lady Sable closed resolutely and had three lengths to spare over Golden Dream for the place.

Canoria Comes From Behind.

Earl Porter failed to ride up to his usual standard astride Hacky H. in the second contest, with the result that his mount lost a nose decision to Canoria. Manierism was the word for the day. Porter sent Hacky H. into a daylight lead, but let his mount lag around the bend. Canoria caught up with Hacky H. and under handling, won in the last nod by $7.80.

St. Nick, winner of his last start at Bowie, had difficulty making two in a row in the third race. Well ridden by Hunter the speedy gelding led virtually throughout the 6 furlongs and beat Dornoch, the one to force all the pace, by a length. Sun Shadow was beaten two lengths for second honors. St. Nick was a $4.10 choice.

Chrysmute, a known mudder, was neglected by the talent in the fourth event and won by a length to pay $21.50. Sainted was a fast-closing second, 2 spaces before Cherokee Sol, another that made up a lot of ground. Erebus never could seriously threaten despite heavy support. Wise Molly cut out the early running but stopped, and Chrysmute went to the front. He was driving to hold Sainted safe at the end.

Zulu Lad was pounds the best of the sprinters in the next to closing number. He ran into the lead, ran out at the stretch turn and still was good enough to win easily. Piety was beaten a length and a half while saving the place by 2 lengths from Kepl. Piety saved a world of ground and got to the front when Zulu Lad ran out, but the latter gamely regained command and won going away. He returned $6.30.

F. Dougherty rode his second winner of the day for Frank Hayes when Syriac, $15.60, took the last purse by 8 lengths. Spanish nosed out Soeur Blanche for the place.

Strange as It Seems

For further proof address the author, enclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

ERNE TRIPLETT—FAMOUS 1934 CHAMPION—WON SECOND PLACE IN THE RACE IN WHICH HE WAS KILLED!—MARCH 4, 1934—

THE SHOCK TELEGRAPH OF 1839... THE OPERATOR SAT WITH HIS FINGERS COVERING 10 ELECTRIC TERMINALS... HE RECORDED MESSAGES ACCORDING TO THE SHOCKS HE SUFFERED IN HIS FINGERS...

The shock telegraph illustrated above was one of the many strange telegraphic devices proposed and used at least experimentally before the Morse system of electric telegraphy was fully established. It was proposed by DeHerr of Holland in 1839, two years after Morse invented the system which is now in use throughout the world in one form or another.

The DeHerr telegraph required 10 wires to operate, and it also required an operator on the receiving end who was willing to suffer electric shocks in his fingers and who, further, could translate these shocks into letters and words. Each of the 10 wires was coupled to a separate terminal on the receiving end.

On these 10 terminals the operator held his 10 fingers. When he suffered a shock on, say, his right thumb it meant one letter, while a shock to the left index finger meant another letter. The code system was extended to include shocks on more than one finger at the same time in order to take care of all the letters of the alphabet.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

At the Post...

with Bill Bennings.

Dear Al:—

Havre de Grace, April 18.—

Freddy Hopkins, who once trained for the C. V. Whitney Stable, is going to try to defeat the Light Blue and Brown ace, Equipse, in the Philadelphia Handicap here Saturday. It was Hopkins who handled Equipse's campaign for the millionaire owner, and much of the credit for the high winnings of the veteran has been aimed his way. Whether or not he holds a grudge against the stable that put him among the unemployed is not known, but the fact remains that Hopkins, now in charge of the Anall Stable, is grooming Laranga for a crack at the Whitney star. His charge is nearing top shape and in many quarters a victory for Laranga and Trainer Hopkings would be popular.

First race—Lough Port appears to have found a spot in this sprint that suits him. He has been running in fast company and drops down. I see no reason for excuses. Suspicious and Perden for the other awards.

Second race—Back Fence turned in a fair race in Florida and seems to have the edge on this field. Synod has done well since coming North and should be a factor. Tudor Queen will have some backers.

Third race—Our Miss meets a little more opposition than usual in this test, but is a keen filly now. She proved her ability at Bowie. No Saint and Surveyor should be her outstanding rivals.

Fourth race—The Trueman-Parr entry of Star Porter and Helester should take this purse. Both are in while saving the place by 2 lengths from Kepl. Piety saved a world of ground and got to the front when Zulu Lad ran out, but the latter gamely regained command and won going away. He returned $6.30.

F. Dougherty rode his second winner of the day for Frank Hayes when Syriac, $15.60, took the last purse by 8 lengths. Spanish nosed out Soeur Blanche for the place.

Rockville Plans Week Long Sports Card

Sports followers of Rockville, Md., are eagerly looking forward to a large-scale athletic carnival to be staged in the community soon. In addition to competition in baseball, tennis, boxing, wrestling and track and field, a marathon racing event is being planned between Rockville and Alexandria. The events will extend over a week's period. Preparations are being pushed by a committee headed by F. Bernard Welsh, Rockville attorney.

Tanforan Entries.

(Associated Press.)

FIRST RACE—Four and one-half furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Easter Doll...107 1/2 All Devil...110 1/2
2. Rebel Max...113 1/2 Bill the Kid...108 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Sandy Hills...113 1/2 Monksun...100 1/2
2. Anselma...108 1/2 Swift Squire...108 1/2
3. Knight's Cap...113 1/2 Mon Oberlin...103 1/2
4. Chief Squire...108 1/2 Swift Squire...108 1/2

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SEVENTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

EIGHTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

NINTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

TENTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

Arlington Downs Entries.

(Associated Press.)

FIRST RACE—Four and one-half furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Easter Doll...107 1/2 All Devil...110 1/2
2. Rebel Max...113 1/2 Bill the Kid...108 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Sandy Hills...113 1/2 Monksun...100 1/2
2. Anselma...108 1/2 Swift Squire...108 1/2
3. Knight's Cap...113 1/2 Mon Oberlin...103 1/2
4. Chief Squire...108 1/2 Swift Squire...108 1/2

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SEVENTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

EIGHTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

NINTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

TENTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

Havre de Grace Entries.

(Associated Press.)

FIRST RACE—Four and one-half furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Easter Doll...107 1/2 All Devil...110 1/2
2. Rebel Max...113 1/2 Bill the Kid...108 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Sandy Hills...113 1/2 Monksun...100 1/2
2. Anselma...108 1/2 Swift Squire...108 1/2
3. Knight's Cap...113 1/2 Mon Oberlin...103 1/2
4. Chief Squire...108 1/2 Swift Squire...108 1/2

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SEVENTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

EIGHTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

NINTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

TENTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

Chart of Havre de Grace Races

(Special to Washington Post.)
Wednesday, April 18, 1934.

WEATHER: CLEAR; TRACK: HEAVY.

FIRST RACE—Four and one-half furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Easter Doll...107 1/2 All Devil...110 1/2
2. Rebel Max...113 1/2 Bill the Kid...108 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Sandy Hills...113 1/2 Monksun...100 1/2
2. Anselma...108 1/2 Swift Squire...108 1/2
3. Knight's Cap...113 1/2 Mon Oberlin...103 1/2
4. Chief Squire...108 1/2 Swift Squire...108 1/2

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

SEVENTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

EIGHTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

NINTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

TENTH RACE—Six furlongs: purse, $400; claiming for 3-year-olds and upward.

1. Monte...118 1/2 From Girl...110 1/2
2. Quick...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
3. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2
4. Manora...108 1/2 Vorage...113 1/2

District-Owned Dogs Win at Richmond

KLONDIKE OF NOME, DUKE OF HAPSBURG AMONG BLUE RIBBON WINNERS.

RICHMOND, April 18 (Sp.).—Several prizes were captured today by residents of Washington and the vicinity as judging got under way in the first annual dog show of the Virginia Kennel Club. A total of 200 entries was listed for the two-day exhibition.

Klonkide of Nome, owned by Miss Jean Dempster, of Washington, took the blue in the Eskimo class, while Mrs. William Glassman, also of Washington, captured the events for German shepherd puppy dogs and novice dogs won today by residents of Washington and the vicinity as judging got under way in the first annual dog show of the Virginia Kennel Club. A total of 200 entries was listed for the two-day exhibition.

Klonkide of Nome, owned by Miss Jean Dempster, of Washington, took the blue in the Eskimo class, while Mrs. William Glassman, also of Washington, captured the events for German shepherd puppy dogs and novice dogs won today by residents of Washington and the vicinity as judging got under way in the first annual dog show of the Virginia Kennel Club. A total of 200 entries was listed for the two-day exhibition.

Two Ribbons for Councilman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Councilman, of Falmouth, Md., took two prizes for winners dogs, among the collies with their Flormay's Bobbie Burns. They also took a blue with Mount Vista Cerulean.

The best of breed among Russian wolfhounds went to Coats Russian Lady, owned by Mrs. Monroe Irwin, of Washington, D. C. and Mrs. Louis A. Carnet, of Washington, scored with Luisa V. Boris among the smooth dachshunds, while Mrs. Richard H. Johnson, of Silver Spring, Md., took a blue with Jondette Pretigi of Ruffalo in the same breed.

One of the outstanding victors in the early judging was Monera Monarch, owned by Mrs. George W. Farroth, of New Market, Va., who was adjudged best of breed among the collies.

Christner, Coleman In Clarksburg Fight

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 18 (Sp.).—Sponsored by Company B. of the West Virginia National Guard, a fight card will be carried out the night of April 20 at the Carnation Auditorium here with Bernard Kelly, lately of Falmouth and now of Clarksburg, and Charles Miller, of Clarksburg, as the matchmakers.

The main ten-round go will feature K. O. Christner, heavyweight, of Akron, Ohio, and Lloyd Coleman, of Pittsburgh. Two six-round finals are carded. Sunny Jim McVey, Negro boxer, of Pittsburgh, will meet Chuck Carter, of Falmouth, in one, and Mike Mitchell, of Wheeling, will meet Billy Flanagan, of Johnstown, Pa., in the other. Another preliminary will also be on the bill.

Racing Selections

Arlington Downs.
(For heavy track.)

1—Mica. 2—Pine Loundup. 3—Don Champ.

Councilman, Preferred. Last Stand.

3—Councilman. American Red. Al-ta.

Washburner, More Ann, Captain Red.

4—Morning Glory, Pilver, Range Boss.

5—Hansen, Philine, Miss Carme.

6—Hawley, Seymour, Portocaine.

7—Falcon, Euro, Street Singer.

Best bet—Washburner.

Tanforan.
(For fast track.)

1—All Devil. 2—Bill the Kid. 3—Rebel Max.

4—Katie's Oad. Chief Pontiac. Bet-falac.

5—Montello, Queen Ann, From Girl.

6—Prize, Maudie, Prince Heather.

7—Gulliver, Mrs. L. Star, Starlet.

8—Sun Strip, Sun Budget, Just Or-mont.

Best bet—Prize Mastron.

Louisville Times (A.P.).

RACES TODAY

Havre de Grace
SEVEN RACES DAILY
Special Penna. R. E. train leaves Station at 11:05 P. M. direct to track. Eastern Standard Time.
Railroad fare, round trip, $3.40.
FIRST RACE AT 2:30 P. M.

HAVRE DE GRACE
RACES
Buses Leave 1416 F St.
11:15 A. M.
$2.50 Round Trip
Phone Nat. 1075
CAPITAL TRANSIT CO.

The Post's Consensus at Havre de Grace

The following consensus has been compiled by The Post from the selections of the leading handicappers of the turf. The figures show how the selections were rated.

First race	Second race	Third race	Fourth race	Fifth race	Sixth race	Seventh race
Lough Port (31) Suspicious (23) Porten (12)	Back Fence (26) Synod (21) Tudor Queen (12)	No Saint (29) Our Love (23) Survivor (15)	The Pelican (27) Star Porter (23) Hickster (14)	War Tide (33) Synod (30) Galle (18)	Spartan Lady (23) Three Dagers (21) Happy Lad (9)	Chips (24) Fredrick (21) Barkantine (14)
Lough Port Suspicious Porten	Back Fence Synod Tudor Queen	No Saint Our Love Survivor	The Pelican Star Porter Hickster	War Tide Synod Galle	Spartan Lady Three Dagers Happy Lad	Chips Fredrick Barkantine
Best bet—War Tide.

Consensus of Leading Handicappers

Bennings, Washington Post

Louisville Times, Associated Press

Our Love (23)
No Saint (29)
Survivor (15)

The Pelican (27)
Star Porter (23)
Hickster (14)

War Tide (33)
Synod (30)
Galle (18)

Spartan Lady (23)
Three Dagers (21)
Happy Lad (9)

Chips (24)
Fredrick (21)
Barkantine (14)

The Staller

By Ham Fisher

LOOK KID—I'M ALL FOR ANN—BUT TELL ME ONE MARRY 'ER YET.

FER HEVENS SAKE—WHY NOT? I JUST TELL ME ONE RIZZON.

YA ALREADY TOLD 'ER ABOUT BEIN' BROKE. THAT ANGLES ALL STRAIGHTENED OUT. NOW EXPLAIN TO 'ER ABOUT WINNIN' BACK 'Y CHAMPIONSHIP AN' A MILLION GEES.

GOLLY—THAT'S RIGHT—I PERGOT. WELL, WE KIN BE STRAIGHTENED AN' QUT MARRIED WHEN I KIN SUPPORT 'ER LIKE SHE'S USED TO. CAN'T WE?

THAT'S 'Y DOPE. AN' WITH MY BLESSIN, WHICH DON'T EXACTLY RATE NOTHIN' LIT'ALLY.

I'LL GO AN' EXPLAIN 'EVERYTHIN' RIGHT AWAY.

I WISH I COULD BE AS HAPPY AS 'EAT KID. HE'S ACHILLY WALKIN' ON AIR.

WATER POLO
AMBASSADORS vs. THE COLONIALS
Thursday, 8:00 P. M.
AMBASSADOR SWIMMING POOL

Joe Palooka

LOOK KID—I'M ALL FOR ANN—BUT TELL ME ONE MARRY 'ER YET.

FER HEVENS SAKE—WHY NOT? I JUST TELL ME ONE RIZZON.

YA ALREADY TOLD 'ER ABOUT BEIN' BROKE. THAT ANGLES ALL STRAIGHTENED OUT. NOW EXPLAIN TO 'ER ABOUT WINNIN' BACK 'Y CHAMPIONSHIP AN' A MILLION GEES.

GOLLY—THAT'S RIGHT—I PERGOT. WELL, WE KIN BE STRAIGHTENED AN' QUT MARRIED WHEN I KIN SUPPORT 'ER LIKE SHE'S USED TO. CAN'T WE?

THAT'S 'Y DOPE. AN' WITH MY BLESSIN, WHICH DON'T EXACTLY RATE NOTHIN' LIT'ALLY.

I'LL GO AN' EXPLAIN 'EVERYTHIN' RIGHT AWAY.

I WISH I COULD BE AS HAPPY AS 'EAT KID. HE'S ACHILLY WALKIN' ON AIR.

Joe Palooka

LOOK KID—I'M ALL FOR ANN—BUT TELL ME ONE MARRY 'ER YET.

FER HEVENS SAKE—WHY NOT? I JUST TELL ME ONE RIZZON.

YA ALREADY TOLD 'ER ABOUT BEIN' BROKE. THAT ANGLES ALL STRAIGHTENED OUT. NOW EXPLAIN TO 'ER ABOUT WINNIN' BACK 'Y CHAMPIONSHIP AN' A MILLION GEES.

GOLLY—THAT'S RIGHT—I PERGOT. WELL, WE KIN BE STRAIGHTENED AN' QUT MARRIED WHEN I KIN SUPPORT 'ER LIKE SHE'S USED TO. CAN'T WE?

THAT'S 'Y DOPE. AN' WITH MY BLESSIN, WHICH DON'T EXACTLY RATE NOTHIN' LIT'ALLY.

I'LL GO AN' EXPLAIN 'EVERYTHIN' RIGHT AWAY.

I WISH I COULD BE AS HAPPY AS 'EAT KID. HE'S ACHILLY WALKIN' ON AIR.

Joe Palooka

LOOK KID—I'M ALL FOR ANN—BUT TELL ME ONE MARRY 'ER YET.

FER HEVENS SAKE—WHY NOT? I JUST TELL ME ONE RIZZON.

YA ALREADY TOLD 'ER ABOUT BEIN' BROKE. THAT ANGLES ALL STRAIGHTENED OUT. NOW EXPLAIN TO 'ER ABOUT WINNIN' BACK 'Y CHAMPIONSHIP AN' A MILLION GEES.

GOLLY—THAT'S RIGHT—I PERGOT. WELL, WE KIN BE STRAIGHTENED AN' QUT MARRIED WHEN I KIN SUPPORT 'ER LIKE SHE'S USED TO. CAN'T WE?

THAT'S 'Y DOPE. AN' WITH MY BLESSIN, WHICH DON'T EXACTLY RATE NOTHIN' LIT'ALLY.

I'LL GO AN' EXPLAIN 'EVERYTHIN' RIGHT AWAY.

I WISH I COULD BE AS HAPPY AS 'EAT KID. HE'S ACHILLY WALKIN' ON AIR.

WASHINGTON'S Finest!

Heurich's Famous Brews...

MAERZEN (Dark) and LAGER (Light)

Washington's Finest Beers

... brewed to the modern taste ... but keep the faith with the old-time methods of making old-time beer.

ALWAYS THE FINEST QUALITY ... PRE-WAR STRENGTH NEVER LESS THAN SIX MONTHS OLD

Ask for Heurich's by Name AT ALL LEADING DEALERS

CHR. HEURICH BREWING CO.
WASHINGTON, D. C.
FAMOUS FOR QUALITY SINCE 1873

Stocks Drive Higher Along Broad Front

Hopeful Trade News Aids as Sales Jump to 1,553,020 Shares.

New York, April 18 (AP).—Security markets recorded further gains today as reports of business betterment were received from several sources.

Stocks were more active and made a broad rather than a buoyant advance, closing with an average net gain of a shade over a point. There was further evidence in the investment market interest in the demand for preferred stocks, although some of this buying was probably for speculative account. Stock sales totaled 1,553,020 shares.

Commodities continued unsettled, but Wall Street again refused to be visibly perturbed by their action and securities were consistently firm.

Popular Stock Groups

In stocks, popular groups included tobacco, utility preferreds, rail equipments, rubbers and specialties of various descriptions. Gains generally ranged from a point to more than two points on the day.

Radio Corporation listings, American Telephone, U. S. Rubber, Austin Nichols, Budd Manufacturing preferred, Pathe Exchange A, Mohawk Mills, Mullins preferred, International Paper preferred, Liggett & Myers B and American Tobacco B were prominent gainers. National Lead jumped 13.

In utility preferreds, Commonwealth & Southern, American Power & Light, Standard Gas and Electric Power, and Light & Heat strengthened. United States Steel, General Electric, Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, General Motors, Loew's, Consolidated Gas and North American added fractions.

Background of Market

The market's background embraced such items as a gain in steel production, a larger than seasonal increase for electric power output, better car loadings, renewed efforts to settle the railway wage dispute and approval by the House Subcommittee of the revised Fletcher-Rayburn bill with its 45 per cent margin clause.

Also, investment circles no doubt took note of Presidential objections to the McLeod bill, paying off depositors in closed banks.

From the Crucible Steel meeting came word that, given a maintenance of present business volume, the management would recommend the directors consider paying preferred dividends through the stock met brisk demand and closed up 7 1/2 points. Steel mill activity, according to Iron Age, has reached 52 per cent of capacity compared with 49 1/2 a week ago, and the review calls the outlook "most favorable" however the outburst of buying may well mean that consumers are stocking up for the third quarter, so that business received now will be somewhat at the expense of volume later in the year.

Bank Stocks

New York, April 18 (AP).—Over-the-counter market:

Bank	Bid.	Ask.
Chase Nat'l (40)	33	35
Commercial (40)	147	152
Fifth Ave (34)	1050	1060
First Nat'l (100)	1050	1060
Nat'l City (100)	1050	1060
Public (10)	30	32

Foreign Exchange

New York, April 18 (AP).—Foreign exchange:

Great Britain—Demand, 6.13 1/2; cables, 6.13 1/2.

France—Demand, 6.80; cables, 6.80.

Italy—Demand, 8.52; cables, 8.52.

Germany—Demand, 1.01; cables, 1.01.

Sweden—Demand, 3.74; cables, 3.74.

Switzerland—Demand, 2.28; cables, 2.28.

Spain—Demand, 1.37; cables, 1.37.

Yugoslavia—Demand, 2.28; cables, 2.28.

Call money steady; 1 per cent all day.

Time loans steady; 60 days to 6 months, 4 1/2 per cent; Prime commercial paper, 1 1/2 per cent.

Bankers' acceptances unchanged; 60-day, 4 1/2 per cent; 90-day, 4 1/2 per cent.

Bar silver steady, 1/2 higher, at 45 1/2.

London.

Bar gold steady, 135 to 135 1/4, U. S. equivalent 134 1/4 on basis of sterling, 4 1/2 per cent.

Money, 1/2 per cent. Discount rates, 3 1/2 per cent; three-month, 1 1/2 per cent.

Bar silver firm, 1/2 higher, at 45 1/2.

Three per cent rent, 72 francs 10 centimes, 4 1/2 per cent.

The dollar was quoted at 15 1/2.

Goods Markets

New York, April 18 (AP).—Printed goods:

Markets continued quiet at 6 1/2 per cent, with no sales reported.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Traded goods: 100 per cent, 100 per cent, 100 per cent.

Bond Market Nat'l Biscuit's Renewals Climb Net Income Is To New High $3,066,620

Finance Economics

New York, April 18 (AP).—Secondary issues led the bond market into new high ground for the past two years or more today, although extreme gains in many instances were shaded by late profit taking.

The average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced three-tenths of a point to 87.5, another peak since 1931. Trading was a little more active than yesterday, transfers totaling $15,069,000. While dealings were concentrated principally on those bonds having possibilities of further substantial price appreciation, prime investment loans were fairly steady.

Extent of Demand

The demand for the higher types was not pronounced, however, owing to the fact that most of the low-edge are already at levels where the yields are rather low.

Better trade and industrial news, as well as a somewhat brighter Washington scene, were aids to renewed buying.

Steel and electric power production registered substantial gains, although the former owed some of its improvement to efforts of consumers to get "under the wire" before higher prices take effect.

Freight car loadings again pointed upward.

Outstanding performers included Walworth first 6s, up 5; International Paper 5s and 6s, up 4 1/2 and 4, respectively; Laclede Gas 5s, up 2 1/2; American & Foreign Power 5s, up 1 1/2; Studebaker 6s, up 2 1/2; Allegheny Corporation 5s, up 1 1/2.

More Active Gainers

The more active gainers of smaller amounts included some issues of American Rolling Mill, American Telephone, Denver & Rio Grande, Dodge Bros., Hudson & Manhattan, International Great Northern, International Hydro Electric, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate, New Haven, Iron Mountain, Oils Steel, Postal Telegraph, Standard Oil of New York, and Jersey City.

U. S. Governments were rather quiet, with the minor gains and losses about even. The Treasury announced a deficit of more than $3,000,000 for the first nine months of the fiscal year. This was due largely to refunding operations.

Included, also, was the purchase during the period of more than $300,000,000 of Government obligations for the various sinking funds.

A sharp rally for German Government 5 1/2s and 7s was the feature of the foreign division. The former held a gain of 2 and the latter 3 1/2 points. The Argentines also moved up 1 1/2 to 2 or more. Nord Railway 6 1/2s jumped 4 1/2 points.

Dried Fruits Steady

New York, April 18 (AP).—DRIED FRUITS—Market, steady and unchanged.

Securities Averages

(Associated Press.)

50 Ind. 20 RR. 20 U. S. 90 T. Yesterday, 99.3 51.0 75.5 87.6

Prev. day, 98.1 50.5 74.4 87.5

Month ago, 99.4 51.6 74.4 87.5

Year ago, 95.1 48.2 68.8 82.9

7 yrs. ago, 112.7 114.0 109.2 112.4

High, 1934, 105.4 54.3 90.3 93.8

Low, 1934, 89.1 48.1 64.3 77.5

High, 1933, 102.1 58.0 113.7 96.9

Low, 1933, 82.3 45.1 61.3 83.9

High, 1932, 72.3 39.8 111.0 73.9

Low, 1932, 50.0 32.2 51.8 35.0

(1926 average equals 100.)

Bonds

50 Ind. 20 RR. 20 U. S. 90 T. Yesterday, 83.3 88.4 89.9 87.5

Prev. day, 82.2 87.5 87.5 87.5

Month ago, 82.8 87.7 89.4 87.0

Year ago, 81.1 87.0 88.5 85.5

2 yrs. ago, 60.7 57.8 74.2 64.2

3 yrs. ago, 65.7 98.8 107.0 95.4

High, 1934, 63.2 89.3 89.7 87.4

Low, 1934, 72.6 71.2 74.8 74.8

High, 1933, 77.1 84.9 88.5 83.4

Low, 1933, 58.3 57.1 64.1 63.6

High, 1932, 71.3 78.0 86.2 78.1

Low, 1932, 53.2 47.4 70.9 57.5

(1926 average equals 100.)

"New highs," Standard Statistics Co.

U. S. Treasury Receipts

(Associated Press.)

The position of Treasury April 16 receipts, compared with the previous fiscal year:

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Bond Market Nat'l Biscuit's Renewals Climb Net Income Is To New High $3,066,620

Finance Economics

New York, April 18 (AP).—Secondary issues led the bond market into new high ground for the past two years or more today, although extreme gains in many instances were shaded by late profit taking.

The average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced three-tenths of a point to 87.5, another peak since 1931. Trading was a little more active than yesterday, transfers totaling $15,069,000. While dealings were concentrated principally on those bonds having possibilities of further substantial price appreciation, prime investment loans were fairly steady.

Extent of Demand

The demand for the higher types was not pronounced, however, owing to the fact that most of the low-edge are already at levels where the yields are rather low.

Better trade and industrial news, as well as a somewhat brighter Washington scene, were aids to renewed buying.

Steel and electric power production registered substantial gains, although the former owed some of its improvement to efforts of consumers to get "under the wire" before higher prices take effect.

Freight car loadings again pointed upward.

Outstanding performers included Walworth first 6s, up 5; International Paper 5s and 6s, up 4 1/2 and 4, respectively; Laclede Gas 5s, up 2 1/2; American & Foreign Power 5s, up 1 1/2; Studebaker 6s, up 2 1/2; Allegheny Corporation 5s, up 1 1/2.

More Active Gainers

The more active gainers of smaller amounts included some issues of American Rolling Mill, American Telephone, Denver & Rio Grande, Dodge Bros., Hudson & Manhattan, International Great Northern, International Hydro Electric, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate, New Haven, Iron Mountain, Oils Steel, Postal Telegraph, Standard Oil of New York, and Jersey City.

U. S. Governments were rather quiet, with the minor gains and losses about even. The Treasury announced a deficit of more than $3,000,000 for the first nine months of the fiscal year. This was due largely to refunding operations.

Included, also, was the purchase during the period of more than $300,000,000 of Government obligations for the various sinking funds.

A sharp rally for German Government 5 1/2s and 7s was the feature of the foreign division. The former held a gain of 2 and the latter 3 1/2 points. The Argentines also moved up 1 1/2 to 2 or more. Nord Railway 6 1/2s jumped 4 1/2 points.

Dried Fruits Steady

New York, April 18 (AP).—DRIED FRUITS—Market, steady and unchanged.

Securities Averages

(Associated Press.)

50 Ind. 20 RR. 20 U. S. 90 T. Yesterday, 99.3 51.0 75.5 87.6

Prev. day, 98.1 50.5 74.4 87.5

Month ago, 99.4 51.6 74.4 87.5

Year ago, 95.1 48.2 68.8 82.9

7 yrs. ago, 112.7 114.0 109.2 112.4

High, 1934, 105.4 54.3 90.3 93.8

Low, 1934, 89.1 48.1 64.3 77.5

High, 1933, 102.1 58.0 113.7 96.9

Low, 1933, 82.3 45.1 61.3 83.9

High, 1932, 72.3 39.8 111.0 73.9

Low, 1932, 50.0 32.2 51.8 35.0

(1926 average equals 100.)

Bonds

50 Ind. 20 RR. 20 U. S. 90 T. Yesterday, 83.3 88.4 89.9 87.5

Prev. day, 82.2 87.5 87.5 87.5

Month ago, 82.8 87.7 89.4 87.0

Year ago, 81.1 87.0 88.5 85.5

2 yrs. ago, 60.7 57.8 74.2 64.2

3 yrs. ago, 65.7 98.8 107.0 95.4

High, 1934, 63.2 89.3 89.7 87.4

Low, 1934, 72.6 71.2 74.8 74.8

High, 1933, 77.1 84.9 88.5 83.4

Low, 1933, 58.3 57.1 64.1 63.6

High, 1932, 71.3 78.0 86.2 78.1

Low, 1932, 53.2 47.4 70.9 57.5

(1926 average equals 100.)

"New highs," Standard Statistics Co.

U. S. Treasury Receipts

(Associated Press.)

The position of Treasury April 16 receipts, compared with the previous fiscal year:

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1, 1933):

1934, $4,000,000,000; 1933, $3,999,999,999.

Receipts for the fiscal

Cotton Gains Trimmed by Final Losses

May Closes at 11.65 as General Market Rises 2 to 3 Points.

New York, April 18 (AP).—Early advances were followed by reactions in cotton today. July contracts which had sold up to 11.85 or 12 points net higher and 28 points above the low levels of yesterday broke to 11.75 in the late trading, and closed at that figure, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 2 to 3 points.

The opening was 6 to 9 points higher on buying promoted by relatively firm Liverpool cables and the passage of the Bankhead bill by the House after the close of yesterday's market.

The advance met considerable liquidation or realizing and some scattered selling, but buying was encouraged by early firmness of the grain market and reports of a steady tone in stocks.

Market Works Upward.

This absorbed offerings on moderate setbacks and the market worked up to net advances of 10 to 13 points during the middle of the day with May selling at 11.75 and October at 12.00.

At these prices, representing a recovery of about 27 to 31 points from the low levels of yesterday, the buying tapered off and prices eased under realizing and liquidation, which became more active following reports from Washington that an early court test of the validity of the Bankhead cotton control measure, is held likely by Administration officials.

May broke to 11.65 and July to 12.01, or about 8 to 10 points from the best and closed at the lowest prices of the day, on active positions.

Exports today, 15,210, making 6,374,868 so far this season. Port receipts, 9,885. U. S. port stocks, 3,064,566.

Future Price Range.

	High	Low
May	11.75	11.65
July	12.00	11.90
October	12.00	11.90
December	12.10	12.01
January	12.10	12.01
March	12.23	12.14

Spot, steady; middling, 11.80.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleached cottonseed oil was more active today and prices were firmer on increased demand and buying of September and October by Western interests, promoted by the steadiness of cotton and advances in tallow and grades.

Final prices were 8 to 8 points net higher. Sales were 112 contracts, including 72 in the way of contracts. Bleachable spot, nominal; May closed, 5.25; July, 5.46; September, 5.67; October, 5.75.

Wall Street Briefs.

New York, April 18 (AP).—A report by the Chicago Stock and Pacific Railroad for 1933 shows net loss of $11,055,214 after taxes and charges, against loss of $9,956,600 in 1932.

Net income of Louisville & Nashville Railroad for the first two months of this year was $1,142,362, equal to 97 cents a share, compared with $202,036 or 17 cents a share in the corresponding period of 1933.

The short position on the New York Curb Exchange as of March 29, totaled 30,332 shares, a decrease of 1,078 since February 28.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago & North Western Railway, says preliminary estimates after charges at slightly more than $2,500,000. This would be about $2,000,000 less than the loss in the same 1933 period.

American Rolling Mill Co. plans to terminate on May 1 the right of holders of its three-year 4 1/2 per cent gold notes due November 1 last, to participate in the deposit agreement effective September 29, or to receive 5 per cent convertible notes in exchange for their holdings.

Polished plate glass production by members of Plate Glass Manufacturers of America was 9,926,889 square feet in March against 7,441,278 in February and 4,881,322 in March of last year.

The Great Western Sugar Co. has reduced the price of beet sugar 20 points to 4.10 cents a pound in territory west of Chicago.

Complete Transactions Yesterday on New York Stock Exchange

Associated Press. Total sales yesterday, 1,553,020 shares; previous day, 1,221,511 shares; January 1 to date, 100,450,462 shares; year ago, 1,566,430 shares; year ago, 5,070 shares; year ago, 71,645,351 shares; year ago, 5,070 shares.

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

High	Low	Dividend	Rate	High	Low	Dividend	Rate
104	104	104	104	104	104	104	104

Daily Stock Trends

MAR. APR. MAY. 12 10 7 14 21 28 5 12

HOUSES—Rent—Unfurnished 76

Post Classified Ads.—National 4286.
(Continued.)
CHEVY CHASE, D. C.
10 rms., 2 b., large grounds; oil heat.
BRODIE & COLBERT, INC. Nat. 8875.

SUBURBAN for RENT 78
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206.
BUNGALOW—Modern, nearby Va. and Md.; 3 rms. and bath to 8 rms. and bath, $35 to $50. Auto service free.
LESLIE D. MEASELL, Cleveland 4733.
MODERN BUNGALOW—14-ft. rooms, 9-ft.

7 ROOMS: large corner lot; h.-w. h.; bath; bus at door; 20 minutes to city; $40. C. B. Munson, Clarendon 2194.

WANTED—TO RENT $2
 Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

LAW OFFICE SPACE—Lawyer with 15 years experience seeks office space of reputable attorney or of firm 800 W. Washington Post.
LET US show your vacant house or apartment for rent.
 Personal Attention. A. M. COOPER, 2501 14th St. N.W.
LISTEN to your vacant property with us. We have more tenants than houses. K. M. Livingston, 923 13th St. N.W. DC 6790.
 We are looking for a few more tenants in all good North West sections. Your listing is solicited. Prompt, personal attention.
DIXIE REALTY CO.
 1417 L St. N.W. Phone NA. 8895.
ATTENTION, LANDLORDS!
 Office is having repeated calls for houses and apartments for rent.
 4703 Wisconsin Ave. Cl. 13-5646.
LET US P. UNFOR APTS. & HOUSES
ACME RENTAL SERVICE
 900 12th St. N.W. DISTRICT 6285.

APARTMENTS FOR SALE $3
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206.
4 ROOMS and bath in beautiful Hamshire Gardens: monthly payments less the rent; owner will sacrifice 40% of equity! Apt. 207, 322 Farragut st. n.w.

HOUSES FOR SALE $1
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206.
BEAUTIFUL BUNGALOW HOME on large lot on Livingston Heights, close to bath at half price. Call owner, Walnut 2367.
6 ROOMS and BATH corner house; small down payment. Henry J. Roubicek, 1024 Vermont ave. Dist. #141.
$11,500 REDUCED TO $8,500

New, roomy, detached brick house, new 2 baths, slate roof, attic. Owner anxious to sell. AD. 2594.

FOR DESIRABLE HOUSES—REASONABLY PRICED. CALL THE MUNSEY TRUST CO., NAT. 8090.

SOME EXTRAORDINARY VALUES.
SEE—MUST BE SOLD—SEE.

6 rms., 1 bath, garage.....	$6,250
6 rms., 1 1/2 baths, garage.....	4,900

See This Beautiful Home First
CHEVY CHASE, D. C.
Six large rooms; hardwood finish; complete basement; h.-w. h.: 2 beautiful Hollywood baths; near bus service; overlooking the National Park; $10,750; open terms. Line 3957-W.

WAPLE & JAMES, INC.
1226 14th st. n.w. Dist. 3345.

rms. 1 bath
 building lot: 70-ft. frontage
 444-1/2-1/2 Adams Apt. 1000
 115 Fairmont ave. Bethesda, Md.
 See This Beautiful Home First Home
 CHERV CHASE, D. C.
 Six large bedrooms, 3 baths, 2
 complete basement: h.-w. b. 2 beautiful
 Hollywood baths; near bus service; over 1000 sq. ft. of finished space. Call on terms. Line 3957-W
 1229 14th at. n.w. DIST. 3348-B

MODERN AT HOME BRICK
 Most convenient location in Anacostia like new big yard; garage; 3 porches; u-1000 sq. ft. of finished space.
 UNION FINANCE CO.
 709 B St. S.E. and Bldg. 1000

$7500 - SIX ROOM AND BATH BUNGALOW
 low on lot 50x200 in Takoma Park. M.
 In nice condition; hot-water heat. Call 1000-1000

$4,950—SIX-ROOM AND BATH BRICK home in Northwest section. Colonial front porch, double rear porches, hot-water heating plant. 2-CAR BRICK GARAGE on 20-foot alley, deep rear yard. Will finance for reliable buyer.

fully screened, $500 cash and a $45 a month
2 14 SIX-ROOM AND BATH BRICK home in Northwest section. Colonial front porch, double rear porch, hot-water heating plant, 2-CAR BRICK GARAGE on 20-foot alley, deep rear yard. Will finance for reliable buyer. SHANNON & LUCHE CO. 1505 H ST. N.W. NA 2345

LESS THAN HALF PRICE
BEAUTIFUL DETACHED BRICK RESIDENCE.
CORNER 75x150; BEST N.W. LOCATION

[illegible]

fully screened, $3500 cash and a $6500 cash down.
$4,500—STX-ROOM AND BATH BRICK with a large front porch, a large front porch, double rear porches.
Water heater, built-in oven, CASH
GARAGE on 20-foot alley, deep rear yard. Will finance for reliable investor.
J. H. KENNON & LUCHE CO.
1505 H ST. SW. A-2345

LESS THAN HALF PRICE
BEAUTIFUL DETACHED BRICK
CORNER 75x150. BEST NW. LOCATION
Smartest entrance-style home has all the modern conveniences. No criminating! 2 spacious living rooms.
Large dining room with built-in first floor; 4 bedrooms, dressing room and bath. Large kitchen with on third floor; entirely modern throughout. Large front porch, rear porch, large large yard with fine old shade trees.
Call for details. No other offers.
fine condition throughout; VACANT, rare value. Don't wait—see it at once. Price $10,000.

McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
No. 4780, Shoreham Bldg. No. 22

COLORADO
Bel. rd. east of Ga. ave. 6 rooms & bath. 1200 sq. ft. in garage. Will finance for all-modern. Call No. 2024.

WATER

[illegible]

fully screened, $300 cash and a $45 m.
$145—STX-ROOM AND BATH BRICK front porch; double rear porch; 2 bathrooms; heating plant; GARAGE 20-foot alley, deep red wood. Will finance for reliable cash sale.

SHANNON & LUCHE CO.
1505 N. W. 2nd St., Phone 2345

LESS THAN HALF PRICE
BEAUTIFUL DETACHED BRICK
CORNER RESIDENCE
Corner 73rd and N.W. LOCATION smart center entrance style home of attractive design, the most de-criminating; 2 spacious living rooms, brary, dining room, pantry and kitchen;
large front floor; central hall; 2 bedrooms, bath and large storage room; back floor; central hall; 2 oils heat; screened and open porch with flower boxes; shrubbery; tiled roof. In flowers and shrubbery; tiled roof. In for immediate occupancy; a remarkable value. Don't wait—see it at once, phonow.

MCKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
No. 4780, Shoreham Bldg., No. 22

COLORADO
Col. tr. east of Ga. ave. 6 rooms + bath built-in kitchen, gas range, allmodern home. Tr. #204.

LOTS FOR SALE
Port Classified Ad.—National 4205

BEAUTIFUL LOT—Price $75; 85 doz months; no interest; just across District
Highway from the new 1000 ft. Zantlinger Co. Capitol Heights, 190-N
Hwy. 402. Call Mr. H. J. Schaefer, 190-N
Hwy. 402. Must be sold 1245 A.M. or later.

SMALL ACRES—Tract of 1 1/2 acres to acres; located north end of Belvidere,
Va.; well watered; good pasture as well as ground for gardening.
Call Mr. H. J. Schaefer, 190-N
Hwy. 402. Must be sold 1245 A.M. or later.

COLORADO—Beautiful building lots to acres; some as low as $750
20x100 ft. by Mr. Brown. Room possession. See Mr. Brown. Room

[illegible]

fully screened, $3500 cash and a $4500
$4500—SIX-ROOM AND BATH BRICK front porch, double rear porch, large
GARAGE on 20-foot alley, deep rear
WILL. Finance for reliable
SHANNON & LUCHE CO.
1505 S. 2nd St. Phone 2345

LESS THAN HALF PRICE
BEAUTIFUL DETACHED BRICK
CORNET 7531-10. BEST W. LOC. HOME dinner center—entrance style home all modern built—large living room exterior—2 spacious living rooms
first floor: 4 bedrooms, dressing room
on third floor; entirely modern through out; all modern built—large rear large yard with fine old shade trees in excellent condition throughout; VACANT; perfect condition throughout; a remarkable value for the money—call at once.
McKEEVER-HARDING CO.
No. 4780. Shoreham Bldg. No. 52

COLORED
Col. rd. east of G. ave. 6 rooms & bath, built-in garage. Your chance for all-modern home. Tel. 4000

LOTS FOR SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4298
REAR OF LOT 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773

[illegible][illegible]

fully screened, $3500 cash and a $4500
$4500—STX-ROOM and BATH BRICK
front porch, double rear porches.
and Northridge built—GARAGE on 20-foot alley, deep rear porch. American—reliable
1355 H. SHANNON LUCHS CO.
1505 H. ST. NW. NA. 2345

LESS THAN HALF PRICE
BEAUTIFUL DETACHED BRICK
CORNER 72nd/150: BEST NW. LOCATING corner, 150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' sited and built to please the most de sirable. Features: 4 bedrooms, 2 bath bath, dining room, pantry and kitchen first floor; 4 bedrooms, dressing room
2nd floor; 150' frontage, 150' deep on third floor; entirely modern through out; 2 bedrooms, 2 bath, 150' front large rear yard with fine old shade tree and shrubbery; 150' frontage, 150' feet condition throughout; vacant, re sults in a bargain. Call for details and value. Don't wait—see it at once. PH
McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
NA. 4780. Shoreham Bldg. NA. 22

COLORADO
Water front east of Ga. ave. 6 rooms a bath, 150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' all-modern home. Call 4204.

LOTS FOR SALE
Post Classified Ad—National 4205

BEAUTIFUL LOT—Price $75: 85 down
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front line; possession: 150' frontage, 150'
Sutcliffe Co. Capital Reliance, 150'
CONTRACT: 150' frontage, 150' deep, for 2 lots 75x100; prices $127, lots
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front
ADVERTISE TO SELL. DIST. 4205

SMALL ACREAGE—Tract of 1-3 acre to
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front
Georgetown road; beautiful home
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front
MUNGER-HOLLINGSWORTH CO.
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front
COLORADO: Beautiful, built-in, 150'
2nd floor; 150' frontage, 150' deep,
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front
possession. See Mr. Brown, Brown
1503 K. at W.

SUBURBAN FOR SALE
Post Classified Ad—National 4206

LARGE LISTING farms, suburban
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front
Carroll at Takoma, D. C. OE 3500

2 TAKOMA PARK BARGAINS—5
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front
Citizens Bank, Takoma, Md. Bhep. 34

MODERN HOME—CAPTIVE HEIGHTS
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front possession; large porches, garage, includ ing 150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front

Charming Bungalow
$7,350: Liberal Terms
SPLENDIDLY LOCATED—CLOSE IN SUBURBAN
There are 6 rooms, bath, modern co
veniences, 6 room bath, newly par
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front with an exceptional appeal. See it at
McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
NA. 4750. Shoreham Bldg. NA. 22

ACREAGE FOR SALE
Post Classified Ad—National 4205

SUBDIVIDED 2 farms: 1 mi. out
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front road; nice current; bus. car. Owl
A. Sherman, R-1, McLean, Va.

SMALL ACREAGES
MONTGOMERY CO., MD.
Only 12 miles from the White
House, on State road, a beautiful
150' frontage, 150' deep, 150' front tract, one 5-acre tract, one 8-acre tract, one 10-acre tract, one 15-acre tract on County Road. Will accept any cash payment. Call for details.

McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
NA. 4750. Shoreham Bldg. NA. 22

FARMS—LAND for SALE

fully screened, $3500 cash and a $4500
$4500—STX-Room and Bath. Bright front porch, double rear porch. Colored
GARAGE on 20-foot alley, deep rear yard. Will finance for reliable
CHAS. H. HANNON & LUCHE CO.
1505 N. Broadway, Phone 2345

LESS THAN HALF PRICE
BEAUTIFUL DETACHED BRICK
CORNER 7341-30. BEST N.W. LOCATING small front-entrance style home with a slight porch. Large living room, fire-criminating. 2 spacious living rooms. A large dining room. Kitchen with first floor: 4 bedrooms, dressing room, a bath, and a large closet. The house is on third floor; entirely modern throughout. The house is on a large lot with a large yard with fine old shade trees.
The house is on a large lot with a fine condition throughout. The house is for immediate occupancy. A remarkable value. Don't wait—see it at once. Price new.

McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
No. 4750. Shoreham Bldg. No. 22

COLORADO
Col. rd. east of Ga. ave. 6 rooms & bath, built-in garage. Your chance for all-modern living. Call 4204

LOTS FOR SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

REAL ESTATE—Lot 1781, 85 days month. Possession with $1 down.
1000 ft. lot. Call 4204

CONGRESS HEIGHTS—Wahler's ad. $1 for 3 lots 7341-30. Source 8127, lots 24, 25, 26. Call 4204

ADELPHI—W. Lee, Dist. 4600

SMALL ACREAGE—Tract of 3-3 acre 400
ft. frontage on 100 ft. wide road. Call Georgetown road, beautiful home with 4 bedrooms, bath, and a large
MUNGER-HOLLINGSWORTH CO.
Wash. D.C. 20001

COLORED—Beautiful building lots in every part. Some as low as $1500
2000 ft. lot. Call 4204

VALLEY—Don't wait—see it at once. Price
new. See Mr. Brown, Room 8
400 E. C. St.

SUBURBAN FOR SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

LARGE LISTING terms. Suburban
1000 ft. lot. Call 4204

3 TAKOMA PARK BARGAINS—$1
1000 ft. lot. Call 4204

MODERN HOME—CAPTIVO HEIGHTS
1000 ft. lot. Call 4204

SPREADS ARE SELLING—GLOUCESTER
1000 ft. lot. Call 4204

Charming Bungalow
$7,350. Liberal Terms.
See Mr. Brown, Room 8
400 E. C. St.

McKeever-Hartung Co.
No. 4750. Shoreham Bldg. No. 22

ACREAGE FOR SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

SUBDIVIDING 9 farms; 11 mi. out; cut to suit; $125 acre up; terms;
see Mr. Brown, Room 8
W. A. Sherman, R-1, McLean, Va.

SMALL ACREAGES
MONTGOMERY CO., MD.
Only 12 miles from the White
House. 1000 ft. lot. Call 4204

McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
No. 4750. Shoreham Bldg. No. 22

LANDS—LAND FOR SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

ESTATES farms, country homes with an acreage. See Mr. Brown, Room 8, 400 E. C. St.

LOUDBON CO. Va.—336 acres; at farm, new 8-room residence, bath, and a large garage. Call 4204

[illegible]

fully screened, $3500 cash and a $4500
$650—STX-Room and Bath brick
front porch, double rear porch.
on 20-foot alley, deep rear
GARAGE on 20-foot alley, deep rear
7450—Financing for reliable business.
McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
1505 H. St. SW. Phone A-2345

LESS THAN HALF PRICE
BEAUTIFUL DETACHED BRICK
Corner 75th-1500 BERT NW. LOCATED
Smart center-entrance style home on a slight rise. 2 1/2 stories. Living room criminating; 2 spacious living rooms.
first floor: 4 bedrooms, dressings room on third floor; entirely modern throughout. Large front porch. 20' x 10' rear large yard with fine old shade trees.
finest condition throughout; vacant.
Don't miss this opportunity to own value. Don't wait—see it at once.

McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
No. 4780, Shoreham Bldg. No. 22

COLORADO
Col. rd east of G. ave. 6 rooms & bath, tile floors, garage. Very chance for all-modern home. Tel. 204

LOTS for SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

BEAUTIFUL LOT—Price $75; 85 down down, no interest; just across Delta from 10th St. 20' x 100'. Call Zantlinger Co. Capitol Heights, 190-N

CONGRESS HEIGHTS—Wahler st. 64-7000 ft. 100' x 100'. 2 1/2 stories. 6
rooms; must be sold. 1245 H. St. S.W.
34 ADAMS

SMALL ACRES—Tract of 1-3 acre to acres; located north of Bethesda.
Call 1000 N. 10th St. S.W. 1000 N.
Wisc. 4602. Bank Bldg., Bethesda, Md.

COLORADO—Beautiful building lots to be sold. 100' x 100'. 2 1/2 stories. 6
rooms; must be sold. 1245 H. St. S.W.
1003 K. St. N.W.

SUBURBAN FOR SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

LARGE LISTING farms, suburban waterfront property. Call D. Little 7400 N. 10th St. S.W.

2 TAKOMA PARK BARGAINS—A
$8,000 MORRISON AGENCY, 24 1/2
10th St. S.W.

MODERN HOME—CAPITOL HEIGHTS
85,000; 8 large rooms; bath; new paper walls; new kitchen; new floor; new 6 lots. Call F. Carroll, North 1803-J

Charming Bungalow
$7,350; Liberal Terms.
SPLENDIDLY LOCATED, CLOSE-IN Home.
There are 6 rooms, bath, modern kitchen, hot-water heat, new paper and painted; very attractive. Call with an exceptional appeal. See it at once.
McKeever-Hartung Co.
No. 4780, Shoreham Bldg. No. 22

ACREAGE for SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

Small 2-acre farm; 1 1/2 mi. out to suit; 120' x 100'. 2 1/2 stories. 6
rooms; must be sold. 1245 H. St. S.W.
1003 K. St. N.W.

SMALL ACREAGES
MONTGOMERY CO., MD.
Only 12 miles from the White
House, on State road, a beautiful tract of 100 acres. 100' x 100'. 2 1/2 rooms; must be sold. 1245 H. St. S.W.
1003 K. St. N.W.

McKEEVER-HARTUNG CO.
No. 4780, Shoreham Bldg. No. 22

FARMS—LAND for SALE
Post Classified Ads.—National 4206

SEAFARMS, farms, country homes in Md. conveniences. Call 1000 N. 10th what you want. Buell Farm Agency, 800
Marlboro, 1100 E. St. S.W.

LOUDBON CO. Va.—334 acres
farm, new 6-room residence, bath, new kitchen, new floor, new jacks of clover and blue grass; 2 miles from Washington, D.C.
PLENT JAMES Purcellville, Va. Tel. 5

33,300 (near Laurel, Md.)—6-room house on 100 acres. Call 1000 N. 10th St. chicken farm; house needs repairs.
Marlboro, 1100 E. St. S.W.

60 ACRES of farm, house, bath, electric dairy barn, tenant house on Western Md. All-fruit highway. Call 1000 N.
Call 1000 N. 10th St. S.W.

ACRES—Gravel rd. 32 mi. D. C. 3-
100' x 100'. 2 1/2 stories. 6 rooms;
3 acres on pike; school bus school
rd. station; 25 mi. D. C. road 7-house water, bath, etc.; double barn and chicken house. Call 1000 cash, $400 month.

100 ACRES of farm, 40 miles D. C.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

Parking for Our Customers—10c for the First 2 Hours